UNFAIR CRITICISM HITS TARIFF BILL

Maximum and Minimum System, Assailed by Many, Provides Best Possible Reciprocity.

TREATY PLAN A FAILURE

United States Long Has Been Given Worst of It by Heavy Duties While Rivals Pay Smaller.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—There has been a good deal of criticism leveled against the new tariff bill because of the maximum and minimum duty, and yet a good deal of this criticism is based upon complete misinformation as to the actual working out of the new system.

In the first place, it ought to be understood by every one that while the maximum and minimum system is new to America, it has been in successful operation in almost every country in Europe which has a protective system. The fact of the matter is, the United States has been behind the times in this regard, and it has suffered a good deal because of its inability to meet discriminating tariffs of European and other foreign nations.

A number of years ago there was a general consensus of opinion among the oldest and wisest heads in congress that whenever the Dingley tariff was revised it would be necessary to include a maximum and minimum system as the most practical form of reciprocity possible in a country which depends entirely on legislative action for its tariff scale.

System Pledged by Party.

The Republican members of the ways and means committee of the house and the finance committee of the senate, including such tariff experts as the late Senator Allison of Iowa, were united in favor of this reform some time ago. The result was that the Republican national convention at Chicago last June pledged the party practically without opposition not only to tariff reform and revision but to the enactment of a maximum and minimum system. The bill as reported by the ways and means committee is therefore only a redemption of the party pledge, and it is in harmony with the advice and suggestions of the most expert men in congress and in the government so far as the tariff is concerned.

Many persons are afraid that the operation of the maximum tariff, as opposed to the minimum rate, will be to provoke retaliatory action by foreign countries. The fact of the matter is that the maximum and minimum tariff system was framed for the express purpose of preventing retaliation, and, if one can judge by the results in other countries, it will at least do that thing if it does nothing more.

The chances are, within a short time after the enactment of our tariff bill every country with which we do business, or at least every country which sends us any considerable amount of goods, will be enjoying our minimum rate, because to do otherwise would mean the cutting off of the American market.

No Invitation for Tariff War.

These minimum rates are not to be granted in return for any extraordinary concession by any foreign country. On the contrary, minimum rates will go into effect automatically and without further action by congress or any one else, unless the president becomes satisfied that some country fails to give us the benefit of its minimum tariff rate. There is no invitation for a tariff war, no threat, and no demand for any concession of any kind.

The establishment of our maximum and minimum rates will be exactly the same as in France and Germany, and the operation in either direction will be automatic here, as it is there, except that in this country the whole scheme is legislative while in Germany, and to a slight degree in France, the executive has some discretion in the way of applying the maximum and minimum rate.

Reciprocity, as it was understood by Blaine and by McKinley, is best carried out in the maximum and minimum tariff system. Reciprocity by treaty has proved a complete failure and in point of fact invites discrimination every time a treaty is made. Furthermore, it unsettles prices, because if our tariff duties are subject to instant change through the negotiations of the state department no importer would be certain what price to put on his goods except from day to day, and the making of contracts for a long future delivery would practically be impossible.

Reciprocity by Treaty Fails.

There was a provision for treaty reciprocity in the Dingley bill. There never was a single treaty ratified under that provision, and for an obvious reason. Following out the instructions of the law, the state department undertook in good faith to make treaties with foreign nations involving the reciprocity idea. It became evident at once that the ordinary machinery of the department was wholly inadequate. A special commissioner, John H. Kasson of Iowa, was appointed to look after all reciprocity negotiations. He did his work as well as any man could do it under such conditions.

The difficulty was that the treaties were individual—that is to say, one nation was dealt with at a time. It happened, therefore, that certain articles were given one rate of duty when they came from one place and another rate when imported from a second country, and so on.

The producers in the United States began to protest, and it was soon discovered that if this system of treaty reciprocity was put into effect by means of agreements certain articles of commerce would have different prices, based on the country of their origin and not upon their relative value.

Europe Has Unfair Advantage.

In spite of the faithful efforts of the McKinley administration the treaty reciprocity under the Dingley law was a complete and startling failure and not a single one of these conventions even was ratified by the senate. It became evident that the failure was due entirely to the mistaken idea that the executive department of the government could fix the tariff rates. It was the delegation of legislative authority which was absolutely wrong in principle.

In the meanwhile the United States was made the victim of its own inability to meet the propositions of real reciprocity. Our tariff rates, with insignificant exceptions, were iron bound. They could not be varied. The foreign nations understood this fact perfectly. They wisely adopted the maxi-

ROOSEVELT SAILS FOR AFRICA TODAY

Ex-President Spends Final Hours in America Quietly with Family After Strenuous Time in Gotham.

NEIGHBORS SAY GOOD-BY.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., March 22.—Closing a strenuous day, that was taken up chiefly with the final arrangements for his African expedition, ex-President Roosevelt tonight spent the hours on the eve of his departure with his family and in bidding good-by to Sagamore Hill.

All is in readiness for the long journey upon which he is to set out tomorrow; the baggage today was put aboard the steamship, and, after inspecting the quarters set aside for him aboard the vessel, Mr. Roosevelt returned to Oyster Bay with his wife and children.

With his family Mr. Roosevelt will take an early train tomorrow for New York and proceed to the Hoboken pier, where he will board the Hamburg. The party will be taken from the New York terminal of the Long Island railroad to the entrance of the pier at Hoboken in the automobile of Douglas Robinson, Mr. Roosevelt's brother-in-law.

Will Not Make a Speech.

While Mr. Roosevelt is grateful for the demonstration that has been planned for his departure by hundreds of people who are desirous of cheering him as the Hamburg slips out into the stream and heads seaward down the bay, he again expressed the hope that his leave taking might be regarded as that of a strictly private citizen and that it be considered as no unusual occasion. Mr. Roosevelt said no matter how many came to the pier he would not make a speech.

A delegation of the local town board, headed by Chester Painter, presented to Mr. Roosevelt this evening an engrossed resolution, commending him as a citizen and fellow townsman. This occasion at Sagamore Hill lasted only a few minutes. When the delegation moved down the hill in the twilight, the figure of Mr. Roosevelt was seen standing on a knoll near the house, silhouetted against the darkening sky and watching the ribbon band of dark water of Long Island sound, that glanced here and there in the departing light.

The former head of the nation then turned his steps to the house and sat down to supper with his family. The evening meal time passed quickly in the good cheer of family communion and none was more happy than Mr. Roosevelt. After the meal Mr. Roosevelt spent the evening quietly with his family, retiring to rest at an early hour, to be ready for the start tomorrow morning.

Finds Darwin Book "Bully."

Though most of Mr. Roosevelt's time has been taken in the preparation of his trip, he devotes all his spare moments to reading Darwin's book, "The Voyage of H. M. S. Beagle," which he carries constantly in his pocket. On the train, riding between New York and Oyster Bay today, Mr. Roosevelt plunged with great zest into the volume and paid no attention to his fellow passengers. He described the book as "bully" and advised all the correspondents to read it.

A pretty incident showing Mr. Roosevelt's love for children and his readiness, even when otherwise engaged, to amuse them was shown on the return trip home today on the railroad. The former chief magistrate had taken his seat in the ordinary passenger coach and was busily engaged with his book, when Mrs. Warren Bowman, wife of the Methodist minister at Oyster Bay, with her 4 year old daughter Ruth, walked through the train in search of a seat.

"This is Mr. Roosevelt," said Mrs. Bowman, stopping in front of the former president, and then she introduced herself. In the meantime little Ruth had clambered up on the vacant seat beside Mr. Roosevelt and was staring at him with great, open eyes. Mr. Roosevelt was delighted and patted the little girl on both cheeks, and asked her to spell his name, which she did to Mr. Roosevelt's great amusement.

Boy Wants to Go with Him.

"Ruth has a little brother named Willis," said Mrs. Bowman, "and he is always talking about wanting to go to Africa with you and shoot lions."

"I wish I could take him along," said the former chief executive, and then, turning to the little 4 year old girl, drew from his pocket two shining half dollars and said to Ruth:

"Here is something for you and here is something for Willis."

Mr. Roosevelt then vacated his seat that Mrs. Bowman might sit with her child, and went and took a seat just in front beside an old negro, who was unaware who the distinguished fellow passenger was who sat beside him.

One of the last visitors to call at Oyster

TO THE WOMEN OF CHICAGO.

Dear Madam: You know that in this country gloves are as much a necessary article of wearing apparel as coats or hats, yet glove manufacturers have apparently convinced the ways and means committee that they are luxuries and should be taxed accordingly.

The cheapest grade, costing about $4 a dozen in Europe and now taxed at $1.75 a dozen under the Payne bill, is marked up to $4 a dozen tax, or from an equivalent of 45 per cent to 100 per cent ad valorem. The next grade, the lambskin glove, costing in Europe about $5 a dozen and now taxed at $2.50, will be taxed $4 a dozen, or from an equivalent of 50 per cent to 80 per cent ad valorem. The better grade, the real kid, costing in Europe $6.50 a dozen and now taxed at $3 a dozen, will be taxed $4 a dozen, or from an equivalent of 45 per cent to 60 per cent ad valorem.

The severity of the burden imposed is more apparent when one stops to consider that this means the levying of a tax of not less than 33 cents a pair upon every wearer. Further, the increased duties are doubly oppressive in that they bear most heavily on the cheaper goods and accordingly tax most highly the poorer classes. This imposition is for the benefit of a limited number of prosperous manufacturers already amply protected, who, under the guise of protecting American labor (which means their own factories), have asked these enormous increases upon their products. At the same time they have succeeded in obtaining a reduction in the duty on skins (their raw material) from 20 per cent to 15 per cent, thus reducing the protection accorded to the producers of dressed skins.

Revenue amounting to $1,500,000 is now collected by the government on the cheaper grades of women's gloves, and this revenue, much needed as it is, will be greatly jeopardized in the interests of the glove manufacturers. Women's gloves have been made in this country for many years and the output of the factories has been increasing. Those now in operation have enlarged their plants and new factories are being built.

All this has been done under the present duty, demonstrating conclusively that the existing duty fully protects the manufacturer against foreign competition.

The increases granted are, therefore, simply taxes on the consumer, and you, madam, are the consumer.

Women can make themselves felt in this fight if they desire to do so. You can have influence. Write to your congressman and also your senator. Do it today, and get your friends, associates, and clubmembers to join in the movement.

BALLOON PARTY STILL MISSING

Mountain Gorges Searched All Day in Vain for Aeronauts.

MAY BE LOST IN BIG STORM.

All Pasadena Fears Tragedy in Voyage of "America."

Pasadena, Cal., March 22.—For more than fifty hours friends of the six men who ascended from Tournament park in Pasadena at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon in the big balloon "America" have been without word of them or their fate.

No human being has caught sight of the huge gas bag since, carried by a forty mile wind, it sailed majestically into the low hanging clouds that lay far down on the mountain sides and disappeared from view.

The belief that a tragic fate has befallen the men who formed the party has led to the formation of many relief expeditions into various parts of the Sierra Madre mountains, directly over which the strong current carried the balloon when it had reached an altitude of a few thousand feet.

Face a Weary Tramp.

There are three distinct mountain ranges, before the Mojave desert is reached, fifty miles north of Pasadena. If the balloon is able to sail over this fifty mile stretch of mountain chain and come to earth on the Mojave desert, there is hope that the occupants of the basket, after tramping many weary miles, may be able to reach shelter.

If the balloon was not able to cross the Sierra Madres and was brought down among the mountains only a miracle can save the men from death.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon two parties, made up of men knowing all of the mountain trails, left Pasadena and will search all night for the missing.

One party will go to Mount Lowe and from there attempt to pass down the snow blocked trail leading north and east and finally into the west fork of the San Gabriel river, near its head. This party is in charge of Phil Begue, a well known hunter and mountaineer. The other party of six will go direct to Switzer's Camp, on the side of Mount Wilson, and thence will proceed into the west fork and, if possible, meet the other party.

Knabenshue in Relief Party.

Earlier today a party in which was Roy Knabenshue, the well known aeronaut, went to Alpine Tavern, near the summit of Mount Lowe, and search is now being made from there into all of the adjacent cañons. A report from this party this afternoon stated that no trace of the missing balloon had been found.

Through S. L. Carlton, chief of the government forestry rangers on the San Gabrieli reserve, word has been sent to all rangers to take the trails at once and cover all the mountain district posts during the night. The Elks lodge of Pasadena, two members of which are among the missing party, will send out an expedition tonight.

A searching party is also scheduled to leave tonight in automobiles. Deep snow covers the trails in places, and it is not thought the automobiles can go far, but they will carry warm clothing and provisions, which can be conveyed farther into the mountain fastnesses by men on foot.

Capt. Mueller is the only experienced aeronaut in the party, which includes Lane C. Gilliam, a prominent mining man, formerly of Walla Walla, Wash., now of Pasadena; Sydney Gray, Harold Parker, and F. C. Dodshutz, all of Pasadena. The latter is said to be the son of a retired capitalist of Belleville, Ill.

JUST ESCAPED DEATH HERE.

Capt. Mueller, pilot of the lost balloon, was one of the contestants in the great international balloon race which was sailed from Chicago July 6 last. He was in charge of the French balloon, Ville de Dieppe, which dropped into the lake about three miles out from the mouth of the Chicago river. The huge bag tossed upon the waves of the lake like a large rubber ball and its two occupants, Capt. Mueller and George Schoench, a Chicago youth, escaped by climbing into the network of the balloon and fastening life preservers about their bodies.

Capt. Mueller's experience in aerial sailing saved them from their perilous plight. He threw out the sand ballast, food, clothing, and everything the basket contained in an effort to get the balloon to rise from the surface of the lake. The weight of the water in the basket still held the balloon down and Capt. Mueller cut the ropes on one side of the basket. The effect was immediate. The balloon rose and the basket emptied itself of the water.

In seven minutes the balloon had shot up to an altitude of 7,000 feet. The boy had thrown off his coat, expecting to have to swim to save his life, and the bitter cold chilled him through. Capt. Mueller put his own coat around him and held him in the basket, which was only hanging by cords on one side and was tilted at a frightful angle. They finally made a landing near Benton Harbor, Mich., returning to Chicago the next morning.

RETIRED POLICEMAN KILLED BY TRAIN ON WAY TO DAUGHTER

William Lohmeyer Tries to Cross Tracks at Desplaines—Street Cars Crush Two in City.

Shortly after drawing his last pension William Lohmeyer, a retired policeman, was killed by a through Chicago and Northwestern train while trying to cross the tracks at Desplaines yesterday. He was on his way to visit Mrs. Frank Seipp, a daughter, who is ill at Lake Zurich, Ill. He lived at the home of Mrs. Frank Romanus, 1302 North Francisco street.

Coroner Peter M. Hoffman, who witnessed the accident, helped carry the body to Scott's undertaking rooms, where he impanneled a jury and continued the case indefinitely.

A Lake street car operated by a "student" motorman, John Hastings of 539 Park avenue, killed James Bates of 188 Emerson between Artesian and Campbell avenues. Bates, who was employed in the city sewer department, left a widow and five children.

Mrs. Bessie Stern, 686 West Thirteenth street, was killed by a car at West Twelfth and Throop streets. She was deaf and wore a shawl over her head, and did not hear the warning shouts of the motorman.

CHICAGOAN NAMED WICKERSHAM AID.

Lloyd W. Bowers, General Counsel of Northwestern Railroad, to Become Solicitor General.

FOURTH FROM THIS CITY.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—It was announced formally at the White house today that Lloyd Wheaton Bowers, general counsel for the Chicago and Northwestern railroad at Chicago, would become solicitor general of the department of justice April 1. He will work immediately under the direction of Attorney General Wickersham.

This position has been held for several years by Henry M. Hoyt, a Pennsylvanian and a classmate of President Taft. Although Mr. Hoyt expects to return to his practice of law in Philadelphia, it is not at all unlikely that he will be given another appointment under the government.

Judgeship to Reward Hoyt.

No announcement has been made, but it is understood among Mr. Hoyt's friends that he is to receive a federal judgeship as a reward for his work in preparing and prosecuting a number of important cases during his term of office.

During his term as solicitor general and while he was an assistant attorney general Mr. Hoyt played an important part in many cases which determined the legal construction of important legislative points.

Since becoming solicitor general he has been the legal leader for the United States government in the Philippine tariff and various other cases affecting the question of government in our insular possessions, and for the oleomargarine, the coal land law, and the commodity clause cases.

As an assistant attorney general, Mr. Hoyt had to do with the prize cases resulting from the Spanish-American war, customs, and immigration cases.

THIRD CHOSEN IN ONE WARD.

The selection of Mr. Bowers to be solicitor general of the United States is the fourth important appointment under the Taft administration from Chicago and the third from the Twenty-first ward. Mr. Bowers is a near neighbor of Secretary of the Treasury Franklin MacVeagh, his home at 20 Ritchie place being within a stone's throw of the MacVeagh home, and not many blocks from the Erie street residence of Jacob M. Dickinson, the new secretary of war.

Mr. Bowers has been general counsel of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad for sixteen years, having succeeded W. D. Goudy in 1893. He is at present in New York, having gone there on business connected with the railroad last week and without giving any intimation to his friends in Chicago that his name was being considered for the position of solicitor general. Consequently when the news of his appointment was received in Chicago yesterday friends and business associates were greatly surprised.

Yale Man and Friend of Taft.

Mr. Bowers is a graduate of Yale, '79, and although not a classmate of President Taft, they have been close personal friends for many years. He was born at Springfield, Mass., in 1859, and after leaving Yale he studied law at the Columbia Law school of New York, taking his LL. B. degree in 1882. He practiced law about two years in New York City and then moved to Winona, Minn., where he engaged in the general practice of law. He remained there until called to Chicago in 1893 to become general counsel of the Northwestern road.

Like President Taft Mr. Bowers is an expert golfer and is a member of two local golf clubs—Onwentsia and Skokie. It is not at all improbable that when President Taft forms his golf cabinet, to succeed the Rooseveltian tennis cabinet, Mr. Bowers will be one of the star members. Mr. Bowers also is a member of the University club and of the Chicago Athletic association.

Surprise to Chief Assistant.

"We have not had an intimation in this office that Mr. Bowers was being considered, nor that he contemplated leaving the service of the road," said S. A. Lynde, general attorney for the railroad company and Mr. Bowers' chief assistant. "He has been in the east for ten days, and I presume that the matter has been arranged while he has been there, although I did not know he had been in Washington.

"We will all be sorry to see him leave the road. He has become endeared to those who have been closely associated with him and has won the admiration of the officials in other departments who have sought his counsel. I feel sure he will make as good a public officer as he has been a railroad attorney.

"I presume that his close friendship with President Taft, which has existed ever since their college days, has been the means of winning him from this position into public life, which he has shunned hitherto."

KIDNAPERS SEND BOY BACK HOME.

Willie Whitla of Sharon Walks Into Cleveland Hotel Where Father Is Waiting.

$10,000 RANSOM IS PAID

Police Redouble Efforts to Capture Abductors, Suspect Being Arrested at Youngstown.

WOMAN AGENT OF CHILD STEALERS.

Cleveland, O., March 22.—[Special.]—Willie Whitla tonight is safe with his father, and the hunt in which hundreds of detectives and police have searched scores of cities since the little boy was kidnaped from his school in Sharon, Pa., on Thursday, is ended.

The father today turned over to a woman, the agent of the kidnapers, the $10,000 ransom they demanded. He then returned to the Hollenden hotel and awaited the arrival of the boy, according to instructions delivered by the woman.

Willie, several hours later, walked in. He had been sent in from the edge of town on a car.

Mr. Whitla not only had given the woman the ransom, but he had placed in her hands all the letters he had received from the gang and promised he would give no clew that could lead to her identification.

Police Will Push Case.

The police, however, are determined not to let the case drop with the recovery of the boy. They have redoubled their efforts to capture the kidnapers, and the first step was taken tonight in the arrest at Youngstown of Joseph Weiss, proprietor of an amusement park.

Weiss has been identified, it is said, by the janitor of the Sharon school as the man who called little Willie from his classes.

The Cleveland police also are making every effort to trail the kidnapers, their first move being to get the woman who received the money from Mr. Whitla. She is described as an Italian.

The news of the boy being found was announced from the stage in all the Cleveland theaters tonight, creating so much excitement that the plays had to be temporarily stopped.

Mother Hears the Joyous News.

The boy's mother, anxiously waiting in Sharon, has been notified of the child's return. Her neighbors also have learned the news, and the whole town will greet Mr. Whitla and the boy when they arrive home tomorrow.

They were forced to remain here tonight because there was no train to Sharon. Father and son now are sleeping in the Hollenden hotel.

Willie is in perfect health. He says that he has been well treated and ever since his capture has been constantly indoors.

He believes he was taken from Sharon to Warren and thence to Newcastle, Pa. It is his opinion, expressed in a happy schoolboy way, that he was in Ashtabula on Saturday night at the time his father was to leave his $10,000 in Flatiron park.

The boy says he was in a place which resembled a hospital and that his captors appeared to be doctors.

Kidnapers Keep Identity Hidden.

In the delivery of the boy the kidnapers kept their identity hidden. In compliance with the agreement entered into between the kidnaped boy's father and the agent of the kidnapers, the boy was placed on a street car on the outskirts of the city and started to the hotel shortly after 8 o'clock.

Two boys, G. W. Ramsey and Edward Mahoney, recognized the lad on the car and taking him in charge, conducted him to the hotel, where his father was waiting, according to a prearranged plan which he had followed at the dictation of the kidnapers.

The boy wandered about the hotel lobby unannounced for several minutes, asking bellboys for his father before the latter knew his son was in the big foyer. The moment the anxious parent heard that a strange boy was in the hotel sauntering in aimless fashion, he rushed across the lobby, grasped him in his arms, and smothered his face with kisses.

An attempt had been made to disguise the lad. He wore a pair of smoked glasses and a large tan cap which was pulled down over his ears.

Father Obeys Letter Offer.

The recovery of the boy came through a letter the father of the boy received today from the kidnapers at his home in Sharon saying that if he called at a certain drug store in the east end of Cleveland he would be told how to secure his boy unharmed and "well fed."

Shortly after noon he left Sharon for Cleveland. He was unaccompanied. His immediate family and the private detectives he had in his employ he apprised of the proposed secret meeting, but insisted that he make the trip alone.

Every one of them was warned that he must be allowed to go unheeded and no attempt at the capture of the kidnapers be made. Whitla was certain that if he spoiled the plans of his son's captors tonight he would never see the lad again. His experience at Ashtabula served as a warning.

Following the explicit instructions in the letter, Mr. Whitla, on his arrival in Cleveland, went to the drug store in St. Clair avenue, east of Fifty-fifth street, where he received a letter which directed him to go to a confectionery store in East Fifty-third street, where he would meet a woman who could tell him further details.

$10,000 Given to Woman.

The woman was waiting at the latter place. She said to Mr. Whitla, "Have you the money and letters." He produced the money ($10,000) in $5 and $10 bills, which the woman proceeded to count. She was then given the four letters which Mr. Whitla had received from the kidnapers, thus removing any direct evidence that the Whitla family might have.

The woman then said to Mr. Whitla, "Your

Kidnaped Pennsylvania Boy, Recovered Last Night, and His Father Who Received Him in Cleveland.

James P. Whitla
Father of Kidnaped Boy

Willie Whitla, Kidnaped Boy

boy is safe near his home in Sharon; you have carried out your part of the agreement and can trust us for the rest. Go to the Hollenden hotel and the boy will be returned to you before 9 'clock."

The woman grasped Mr. Whitla's hand, but he withdrew it and made his way to the hotel. The money was delivered about 2 o'clock, and fifteen minutes later Mr. Whitla was at the Hollenden.

His entrance to the hotel was shrouded in secrecy. By a previous arrangement made with the hotel management he did not register. Detective G. B. Perkins, who has superintended the search for the boy in behalf of the father, was in the lobby of the hotel, calmly smoking and pretending to be unconcerned. But the hearts of both parent and detectives were beating anxiously.

Father Near a Breakdown.

The agent of the kidnapers promised the boy would be started toward the hotel shortly after nightfall. As the hour for the appearance of the child approached, Mr. Whitla became nervous. He disregarded the advice of the detectives, who told him to keep out of sight of the newspaper men and the crowds of curious people who had learned that he was in the city. Emerging from his room, he walked up and down the hall on the second floor with his hands clasped across his breast. Then, unable to stand the suspense longer, he went into the lobby and seated himself in a chair.

A few newspaper men walked over to talk to him, but he refused to converse.

"In heaven's name, men, do not say anything to me; I am on the verge of nervous prostration," he said. "I expect the boy will be back tonight, but I cannot state positively whether he will be returned safe and sound. Do not ask me to reveal the alleged settlement. That might ruin all of the plans."

Long Vigil Is Begun.

For more than an hour Whitla waited in the lobby smoking black cigars and muttering to himself. Detective Perkins sat near him and pleaded with him to have patience. A friend approached and Whitla walked into a secluded corner of the hotel and talked to him in monosyllables. His eyelids twitched nervously. He rubbed his hands and silently prayed for the quick return of his boy.

In the meantime little Willie feeling safe in the hands of the kidnapers, for he was being treated kindly, and even at this time does not realize what terrible danger he wes in, was being prepared for his return to his father.

The woman at the candy store had done her duty. She communicated with the captors of the boy and told them that the father had made no attempt to trap them. The kidnapers were satisfied, but Mr. Whitla declines to name the woman in charge of the confectionery store, and almost dares the police to locate her.

So the boy was brought from his hiding place—where it was no one knows—to a car line in the east end of the city which would bring him into town quickly.

Kidnaper Jests with Boy.

The kidnaper, according to Willie, was cheerful enough. The mysterious man and the youngster skipped in schoolboy fashion toward the trolley line, jesting in the meantime.

A few rods from the car line the man stopped. Pulling a pair of smoked glasses from his pocket, he adjusted them to the lad's head, with the remark:

"You'll look better in these."

The sides of the black yarn cap were pulled carefully over the boy's ears. A slip, which Willie was to hand to the conductor, was put in the boy's pocket. It read:

"Send this boy to the Hollenden hotel, double quick."

With all arrangements made and his tracks apparently well covered, the kidnaper took the boy's right hand in his brawny left and they continued briskly along toward the car line. The lad skipped gayly enough with his companion, the promise of seeing his "dad" and "ma" urging him forward. They chatted with each other.

Child Placed Upon Car.

Willie says the man told him that if anybody asked him who took him to the car line to tell him it was "Mr. Jones."

"Just tell them your name is Jones, too, if you want to," said the kidnaper.

"All right, Mr. Jones," answered Willie.

Presently a car came into view and the mysterious Mr. Jones drew the boy closer to him.

"Well, Willie, you are going downtown now and you will see your papa pretty soon," he said.

This delighted Willie. He swung on to the car quickly, according to the conductor. "Mr. Jones" paid the boy's fare and then got off the car and disappeared after waving a friendly adieu. This farewell salute to his little captive was continued until the latter on the car had disappeared in the inky darkness of the night.

Makes Friends with Passengers.

The boy gazed about the car for a familiar face. He saw no one he knew. Presently, Edward Mahoney, who is a 17 year old boy of jolly visage, came into the car. He sat down in the seat with the boy. Mahoney, like almost every other person in Cleveland, was looking for little Willie Whitla, the kidnaped boy. So when his eyes lighted on Willie he started a conversation.

"What's your name?" he queried.

"Jones," answered Willie, true to his kipnaper friend.

But Mahoney was not to be fooled. He called his friend Ramsey over from another part of the car and showed him Willie. He suggested that it might be the missing child. Then Willie showed them his transfer slip, saying that he should be put off at the Hollenden hotel, and they were convinced that they had accomplished more than had all the sleuths in the country.

Great Crowd Welcomes Him.

The boys, now willing companions, took Willie to the hotel. He skipped through the doors ahead of them and into the lobby. The boys partly lost track of him in the crowd, so anxious was the youngster to catch a glimpse of a face he loved. And then, again, Mahoney and Ramsey were not so sure of their abilities as sleuths when they got in view of an audience.

Willie didn't see his father, mother, or sister in the lobby.

Walking over to the clerk he asked: "Have you seen my papa?"

"Who is he, boy?" he was asked.

"O, I'm Mr. Whitla's Willie," he replied.

The crowd nearest the boy, who heard the words, rushed in around him. The lad was shoved up against the hotel counter and the scene closely resembled a panic.

Across the lobby the father, his eyes red from weeping, heard the piping voice of his son. Frantic with joy at the sound, he rushed through the office corridor and in a moment was fighting his way through the spectators.

Parent Rushes Through Crowd.

Plunging and squirming, knocking bystanders right and left, the frenzied parent made his way to the bewildered boy in knickerbockers standing solemnly with automobile goggles in front of the clerk's desk.

The kidnaped boy saw his parent coming. He opened his lips to speak. The words were never spoken. Grasping Willie in his arms, the happy father planted a score of kisses on his lips.

"It's my boy, my darling Willie," he cried.

Tears gushed from his eyes. He pressed the child to his breast and hugged him tightly.

Willie smiled a little. He was glad to see his papa, but he did not realize what all the fuss was about.

When the crowd realized that the kidnaped child had been returned to its parent a cheer was given. For three minutes the handclapping and shouting continued. There were cheers for the boy and then cheers for the father.

Phones Tidings to Mother.

Stripping off the boy's cap and the smoked glasses, Mr. Whitla revealed his boy's bare head for the first time. He lifted the lad high above his head so that every one might get a good view of the now famous youngster who came near to rivaling the "lost Charlie Ross" of kidnaped fame.

As soon as he could push his way through the crowd Mr. Whitla went to his room on the second floor. He carried the boy in his arms. For several minutes he was alone in the room with his schoolboy son. Then through the door came these words, spoken by the father to the boy's mother on the long distance telephone:

"O, mother, have Willie here in my arms. He is safe. Glory to God, mamma! It is the happiest night of my life."

There was a pause. The mother was pleading for her husband to return the boy to his home at once.

"I am sorry, mother," Whitla said. "I can't get a train out of here until 8 o'clock in the morning. But I will come home as soon as possible. You can trust me with him, little mother, can't you?"

Crowds Call to See Boy.

Detective Reed next answered the phone. Whitla praised him for his work and told him of the recovery of the child. Five minutes after the father had entered his room fully 2,000 persons were gathered in the hallways and lobbies of the hotel. Those who were unable to get into the hotel stood on the sidewalk and shouted for a glimpse of the boy. Again and again they called his name and implored his father to bring him out and let them look at him.

Mr. Whitla acquiesced to the request of the crowd and carrying the boy on his shoulder walked down into the lobby. Mounting a raised platform in the center of the lobby, Mr. Whitla gave every one a chance to see both father and recovered son.

Cries of "speech, speech" caused Whitla to say a few words. His quavering voice was too full of joy for him to make connected speech, but he poured out the happiness of his heart in the few words that he uttered.

Father Gives Thanks to All.

With his right arm around the boy's neck and little Willie's head nestled into the folds of his father's coat the father said:

"This is my son. He was lost and is found again. If I live a thousand years I can never do enough to repay the press, the police, and the people who have all done noble work in helping me find my boy and in extending their sympathy to me and to my family and relatives."

When Whitla ceased speaking there were demands for a few words from the boy. The lad for the first time showed signs of fright. Upon being restored to his feet he wrapped his arms around his "daddy's" legs and hid his face under the coat. Whitla gently drew the lad's head from out of the folds of the coat and told him to say something to the cheering hundreds.

The boy turned his face upward. But he could not speak. The tears, bigger than raindrops, coursed down his cheeks. Again the crowd cheered and the boy was lifted down from the platform by his father and returned to his room.

Whitla refused to see any one in his room until after he had personally thanked the Mahoney and Ramsey boys, who brought Willie to the hotel. He made each of them a substantial gift.

Whitla received the newspaper men later. Willie told his story as best he could. It was not a lucid story in every way, but it was romantic from his childish lips. He could not remember every place he had been, but he gave an idea of his travels, so that it will be possible for the police to cover a part of the trail made by the kidnapers.

"Papa," said the boy in a tone of childish prattle, "I have been buggy riding, been on cars, and in a nice big white house that looked like a hospital. I have been treated nice and had lots of good things to eat.

Tells of Leaving School.

"One man, tall and with a black mustache, came to the schoolhouse Thursday and told my teacher, Mrs. Anna Lewis, that you wanted me at your office. I went out to a buggy with him. I got in and then he got in. Then we rode away. On the way downtown he asked me to address a letter to you. I did this and then dropepd it into a mail box. He was awfully kind.

"We went from Sharon to Warren. We had the nicest trip. The man, who was the same one who brought me to the car line tonight, was nice to me. He tucked the robe about my legs and made me comfortable. It was a nice ride and I enjoyed it. Gee, he was good.

"When we got to a place the man said was Warren the man left the buggy in the road. Then we got on what I think was an electric car. I don't just remember what it was, but it was something like a street car. I don't know what became of the horse and buggy. I was sleepy when we got on the car and I slept much of the way to the place where we were going.

Thinks He Was in Hospital.

"When we got to a town that the man called New Castle, they took me to a big building and turned me over to a woman. She was good to me. The hospital, or whatever the building was, was a clean place. There was a man there who I think was a doctor. He looked like a doctor, because he had whiskers—short gray whiskers.

"The people in the hospital told me that I must do just what they told me to do. If I did not obey them they said they would take me to a place called the pesthouse, where folks that have smallpox have to go. It was not a clean or pretty place to go they told me. I would have been good, anyhow, but when I thought there was any chance of having to go to the pesthouse I did not do a thing that I shouldn't have done.

"I walked the chalk just like a good boy, papa; like you've told me to do.

"On Saturday night I was taken away from the hospital and I think we went to a town called Ashtabula. We traveled in a buggy and on foot. Early in the morning we went back to the hospital. I heard one of the men say: 'There will be nothing doing tonight, I guess.'

"I might have been right here in Cleveland, though, papa, for some of the town that I saw tonight on the car looked like the place we went to Saturday night.

"They told me all along that I was just taking a little vacation. I was not going to be hurt, they told me. So I just acted nice and had a good time playing around the hospital. I knew I would get back home all right and just supposed 'Mr. Jones' was one of my friends who was treating me nice because you wanted him to treat me that way, papa, dear."

"Happiest Night of His Life."

The boy told the story slowly. At times he stopped and kissed and hugged the father. His father sat as if in a trance. The music of his boy's voice seemed to charm him as no music ever had before. A minute after the lad finished his narrative and the detectives were standing around admiring him, the father sad: "Willie, I am happier tonight than I have ever been before in my whole life."

Little Willie slipped his arms around his father's neck and imprinted a kiss on his father's lips. The tears rolled from Whitla's eyes. He gazed at the child for a moment and then, stroking the blonde locks of Willie, he said, slowly:

"God bless you, my darling boy."

Child Is Put to Bed.

Whitla handed the boy to Detective Perkins and reaching into a grip produced a little nightgown for the boy. The gown has been in the grip constantly since the boy was kidnaped. The father has always been determined that his child should have a good night's rest after his being found. So in the sight of the detectives, Whitla stripped the little sweater, pants, stockings, shoes, and underclothes—the same ones that the boy wore away when he was kidnaped—from off the child's form, and robing him in the nightgown, prepared him for bed.

The father and son knelt down and prayed and then the little fellow was tucked into his bed by his father. He was asleep in a few minutes.

Thinks Boy Was Drugged.

At a conference with Capt. Shattuck of the Cleveland police Whitla said that he believed his boy had been drugged after being taken from school by the kidnaper. He came to the conclusion, he said, because of the fact that the boy was able to tell a fairly consecutive story of his capture and trip to the lair of the kidnapers as far as Warren. The fact that Willie fell asleep on the car between Warren and the place the lad believes was Newcastle is considered further evidence of drugging.

Whitla is also of opinion that his son has been in Cleveland during a part of the time he has been in the hands of the kidnapers. He says the fact that one of the letters he received from his boy's captors was mailed from Cleveland, and that he held a conference with an agent of the kidnapers here leads him to this conclusion.

Woman Not in Plot.

Although Cleveland police believe the agent who met Whitla today in the East End candy store is a party to the kidnaping plot, Whitla refuses to agree with them. He says he thinks the woman merely acted as an intermediary in order to aid in the safe return of the boy. He asked the police not to arrest the woman, although he has a fair idea of her identity.

Whitla gave little encouragement to the police when they wanted to start their search immediately after the return of the boy.

"Why, men, while I appreciate the great courtesy you are showing me in offering to trace down the kidnapers, I cannot help you much at this time," he said. "I am so happy over the return of my boy that I have given little consideration to the arrest of his captors.

"After the lad is safe at home with his mother, after I have seen her grasp him in her arms, after I have seen the boy playing with his little schoolmates again, then will I be able to talk about the capture of the kidnapers. But now I cannot give you a definite plan to work on."

Detective Perkins, who has been in charge of the secret service men on the case, said regarding the capture:

"Mr. Whitla has been determined to find his son and, of course, we have worked to that end. We successfully arranged the settlement of the case and Mr. Whitla is satisfied. Later we may search for the kidnapers.

"This is the happiest day of my life. My heart and soul has been set on seeing this boy in the arms of his father safe and unharmed."

Then the large detective—who weighs over 225 pounds—turned and said without a trace of embarrassment: "Is it any wonder that there were tears in my eyes when I saw the father and son clasped in each other's breast. I have a youngster of my own."

Man Arrested at Youngstown.

Youngstown, O., March 22.—Joseph Weiss of this city, former manager of the Idora Amusement park, was taken into custody here tonight. While the police are reticent concerning the arrest, it is understood his detention is in connection with the Whitla kidnaping case, and that he has been under surveillance for some time.

Capt. McNicholas of the Youngstown police said:

"We have made no formal charge against this man, but we are giving him a chance to clear up certain suspicious circumstances if he can."

W. C. Sloss, the Sharon schoolhouse janitor, is here and declares there is little doubt the man is the one who kidnaped Willie Whitla.

Sharon Waits to Welcome.

Sharon, Pa., March 22.—The first act of J. P. Whitla upon the recovery of his kidnaped son in Cleveland was to call his wife over the long distance telephone and tell her that Willie was safe in his arms again. Mrs. Whitla, evidently expecting the news, did not collapse, but manifested the most perfect self-control. Not only was the family overjoyed at the receipt of the news, but the entire community seems to be sharing their happiness with them and a great demonstration is being arranged for the return home of father and son.

The news of the finding of the boy spread fast over the entire country, and within two hours after his recovery more than fifty telegrams of congratulation had been delivered to Mrs. Whitla.

Content with the recovery of his son, Mr. Whitla has sent no further word as to the manner in which he was found, but Detective Ward gave out a statement tonight detailing the acts leading up to the recovery.

Detective Ward also stated tonight that the search for the abductor and his confederates would now be taken up in earnest. He said they had been handicapped before by the desire to get the boy, but that now they proposed to capture the kidnaper.

Ask Death for Kidnapers.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 22.—A bill making kidnaping a felony punishable only by death by hanging was introduced in the senate tonight by Mr. James of Luzerne county. This measure is a result of the Willie Whitla kidnaping and will replace the present statute for such an offense, which provides that a kidnaper be imprisoned for life or for such term of years as the court may direct. The James bill allows no judicial discretion as to punishment of a kidnaper, providing for the death penalty only.

Before word reached here tonight that the Whitla boy had been recovered both the senate and house adopted a concurrent resolution offered by Senator Tustin of Philadelphia, empowering Gov. Stuart to offer a reward of $15,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the kidnapers of the boy.

SWINDLER'S GREED PROVES UNDOING.

New York Clerk Loots Hoboken Banker with Aid of Latter's Employes.

FINED FOR USING CAMERA

Man Takes Pictures of Women as Wind Blows Skirts and Lands in Prison.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE,
New York, March 22.

Wanted More; Got Himself Into Trouble.

Fritz F. Marx, a shrewd looking chap 22 years old, who lives with his wife and baby in Riverside drive, came to grief in Hoboken this afternoon because he tried to get $10,000 from Henry C. Steneck, a banker and steamship agent after swindling Steneck's concern out of $944,250 by means of his nerve, fake letters of credit, and the services of Leopold Martin, Mr. Steneck's confidential clerk and stenographer. Marx and Martin voluntarily made confessions, explaining how easily they had worked the game. Marx had in his possession $6,000.30 and two Cunard line tickets for steamship sailing on May 6 when arrested.

Uses Camera on Women in Gale; Fined.

Because he insisted on taking pictures of women about the Flatiron building as their skirts flew about in the wind a man who said he was Thomas Nelson of Brooklyn was arrested today and subsequently arraigned in the Jefferson market court, where he was fined $10. According to Policeman Mayer, who was stationed at the tall building to keep crowds of men who gathered moving on, Nelson pulled a camera from his pocket and started to take pictures. A complaint of disorderly conduct was lodged against him and after hearing the evidence Magistrate Barlow said:

"It is outrageous to take pictures of women in an embarrassing position. Ten dollars' fine!"

Nelson did not have the money and he was taken to prison.

Receivers Named for Iron Company.

The J. B. & J. M. Cornell company, manufacturers of structural iron and castings, was put into bankruptcy today, with its own consent, on petition of the Bethlehem Steel company, Froment & Co., and T. P. Kelly & Co., with claims for goods sold amounting to $46,375. The total liabilities are about $1,000,000. On suggestion of the petitioners the court appointed as one of the receivers Michael Blake of 149 Broadway, a practical iron and steel man, of the firm of John Leonard & Co., and the court selected as the other receiver A. Gordon Murray, a lawyer, of 60 Wall street. The receivers gave bonds of $100,000 each, and were instructed to continue the business for sixty days, by which time it is hoped to put the company on its feet.

The company has unsecured liabilities amounting to $500,000 and outstanding bonds amounting to $600,000, secured by a mortgage on its plant at Cold Spring. In accounts receivable and material the firm has, it is said, about $500,000 in assets, besides uncompleted contracts of more than $1,000,000. There is $1,000,000 of common stock outstanding and $1,000,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock.

Mrs. Hetty Green Moves; Flat Is to Let.

The flat which Mrs. Hetty Green and her daughter occupied before her marriage in Hoboken is to let. Mrs. Green moved away on Saturday. She did not leave word where she was going. The moving men who carted her belongings from the house only knew that they were to meet her at a point in Manhattan. Mrs. Green has been lonely since her daughter married. When news that Mrs. Green had moved was carried to the board of assessors of Hoboken today one of them said:

"Now see what we've done. Gone and driven another resident out!"

It appears the board recently has been trying to assess Mrs. Green on the ground that her personal property was liable to taxation in Hoboken.

Schwab Pessimistic on Outlook for Steel Trade.

Charles M. Schwab, who came to New York today from Cleveland, has been investigating steel conditions in the middle west. He was pessimistic today as to the immediate outlook. He said: "I am naturally an optimist, but I believe it is unjust to the public and to the trade to attempt to make things appear in a favorable light when the contrary situation exists. There is no denying the fact that the steel industry is much depressed and the immediate future is not particularly hopeful. I think that steel prices are more likely to recede than to advance. There must be a general readjustment all around before the steel companies can make any profit at prevailing schedules."

Paderewski Improving from Rheumatic Attack

Ignace Jan Paderewski, the pianist, who returned to New York Sunday afternoon after canceling three concerts because of a recurrence of his old rheumatic troubles, was so much improved today that no physician was called in. Paderewski's secretary, L. G. Sharp, said tonight the pianist believed a rest of a few days alone would be sufficient to cure the trouble.

DISCOVERS TWO NEW PLANETS.

French Astronomer Announces Location of Astral Bodies Beyond Neptune in Solar System.

PARIS, March 22.—The astronomer, Gaillot, announced before the Academy of Sciences tonight that he had discovered two new planets situated beyond Neptune, which is the outermost known planet of the solar system. M. Gaillot stated that he had used the methods which had enabled Leverrier, by mathematical calculations, to assign to Neptune a position within the boundaries of a certain region, which permitted of its discovery in 1846.

MME. EAMES IN CIRCEAN ROLE

Prima Donna Charged With Wrecking De Gogorza Home.

WAS PLATONIC AFFAIR ONLY

Baritone's Wife Files Papers Asking Alimony and Fees.

New York, March 22.—[Special.]—In a new affidavit filed today in her suit for separation from her husband, the famous baritone, Mme. Elsa de Gogorza, declares Emilio de Gorgorza is infatuated with Mme. Emma Eames, the famous prima donna, and to that infatuation is due the wreck of her marital happiness.

Mme. de Gogorza does not impute to beautiful and stately Mme. Eames any moral delinquencies, but holds her responsible for De Gogorza parting from his wife in that the singer permitted his devotion to herself to continue.

Visited Singer in Italy.

Interesting details telling of a visit of De Gogorza to the Italian villa of Mme. Eames in the summer of 1906, their violent quarrel after an eleven day sojourn there, and his return to New York, are also given in an affidavit by Mrs. Rebecca Neumoegen, mother of Mme. de Gogorza. These affidavits are a part of Mme. de Gogorza's moving papers for alimony and counsel fees preliminary to her forthcoming suit for limited divorce and now published for the first time.

Mme. de Gogorza in her affidavit says: "I deny the statement that for some years prior to July, 1907, I had not lived harmoniously with the plaintiff. We lived happily for ten years, and until his concert tour with Emma Eames there were no differences between us and nothing to indicate we were not temperamentally suited to each other."

Mrs. Rebecca Neumoegen, in her affidavit, avers: "When my son-in-law returned from his first trip with Emma Eames in December, 1905, he was a changed man. He began to stay away from home at nights. He finally went to Europe in the summer of 1906. When he returned he saw me and said: 'You were angry with me when I left, and you had every cause to be, but I will assure you that I was crazy last year, but this year I am sane, I have had my eyes opened.'

Tells Mother of Quarrel.

"So I said that I was glad to hear him say that. Then he told me that he had had a quarrel with Emma Eames and that everything was over between them, and I said:

"'As soon as this woman comes back, she will have you in her grip again,' and he said: 'You just wait and see. I left Europe and she did not even know the steamer on which I sailed.'

"He told me he had spent about eleven days with Mme. Eames at her villa at Valombrosa, that they had quarreled there and that he had left her. Everything went well until the return of Mme. Eames to America in November, 1906. Before she arrived there had been no troubles and no dissensions, and De Gogorza and my daughter again appeared happy. As soon as Mme. Eames arrived, however, De Gogorza resumed his objectionable conduct. He remained away from home and neglected his wife. He finally told me he was going to Newport, and when I asked him why he didn't take his wife with him he said that it would interfere with his business. I finally went to Seabright in the summer of 1907 and my daughter soon followed."

SELF-DEFENSE PLEA OF MAN WHO SHOOTS HIS EMPLOYER.

Wealthy Arkansan Is Killed by a Mill Mechanic Who Had Been Asked to Resign His Position.

Pine Bluff, Ark., March 22.—D. Henry Duncan, vice president of the Bluff City Lumber company and one of the wealthiest men of this state, was shot and killed today at Clio by John Day, master mechanic of the Clio mill. Day, who surrendered immediately after the shooting, asserts that he acted in self-defense.

Day had been asked by the president of the lumber company, John F. Rutherford, to tender his resignation. This request, Mr. Rutherford stated, was because of Day's failure to respond to a letter written him some weeks ago.

Duncan went to Clio, which is a few miles from Pine Bluff, early today to inspect the plant. When he arrived at Clio, it is stated, he was greeted cordially by Day and the two went to the latter's apartments at a local boarding house, presumably to discuss matters in connection with the mill. A few moments later occupants of the house were attracted by pistol shots and when they reached the porch Day was emerging from the room with a drawn revolver and Duncan had fallen, dying within a few moments from the effects of five bullet wounds.

Too Strong to Work—Sentenced.

Giusseppi Alliotta, formerly on exhibition as the "strong woman" at a north side theater, was sentenced to two months in the house of correction for vagrancy yesterday by Municipal Judge Beitler. Alliotta is a man. The police say he has not worked for more than a month, and had been loitering about a Milton avenue saloon.

TELEGRAPH RIVAL GETS CITY RIGHTS

People's Mutual Company Is Granted Use of Edison Conduits and 'L' Structure.

PLEDGED TO CUT RATES.

Chicago to Regulate Charges, 40 Per Cent Below Western Union and Postal.

Without opposition—except that Ald. B. W. Snow asked to be recorded as voting "no"—the city council legalized the existence of a competitor of the old established telegraph companies last night.

An ordinance approved by the committee on gas, oil, and electric light, granting the People's Mutual Telegraph company to use the conduits of the Commonwealth Edison company and the structure of the Metropolitan Elevated to carry its wires from Franklin street, near Van Buren street, to the city limits, was passed without roll call.

The entrance of a competitor of the Western Union and the Postal companies was significant, because it gained the right to do business by a provision that its rates to St. Louis and to Kansas City shall be 40 per cent below the rates of those companies, and the rates to other terminals built later shall be in proportion, according to distance.

Expects Rivals to Cut Rates.

W. S. Jackson, a former alderman, who obtained the approval of the committee that considered the ordinance, was present at the council meeting and declared the old companies probably would be compelled to meet the cut in rates.

"We pay 35 cents for ten words and two cents for each additional word to St. Louis, and 40 cents for ten words and 3 cents for each additional word to Kansas City," said Ald. W. J. Pringle, explaining the ordinance to his associates. "This company gives us a rate of 25 and 2 for the former and 30 and 2 for the latter.

"The city has the right to regulate the price of service at the end of three years, and at the end of each three years thereafter. It has the right to examine the books and records of the company at all reasonable times, and the company will make an annual report to the city. There is only sixteen feet of excavation to be done and the compensation is that usually given for the use of conduits and for crossing streets."

Regulates Taxi Charges.

A second rate cutting ordinance was introduced by Ald. Fred A. Britten of the Twenty-third ward in response to innumerable complaints about taxicab charges.

His ordinance provided that the meter must be connected with the front wheel of the cab, so that all the slipping of the power driven rear wheels on slippery pavements would not have to be paid for. It also provided for the semi-annual inspection of all meters by the city sealer.

In addition, it revised the present tariff system of "a mile or fraction thereof." Instead of a two passenger rate of 50 cents for the first mile and 40 cents for any additional fraction, it provided that the charge shall be 50 cents for the first mile and 10 cents for each additional quarter of a mile.

Similarly Ald. Britten asked the reduction of the fare for three or four passengers from "70 and 60" to "70 and 10 for each additional quarter mile." The hourly rate, instead of being a constant $4, he placed at $4 for the first hour and $3 for each succeeding hour for two passengers and $5 for the first hour and $4 for each additional hour for more than two passengers.

Would Restrict Billposters.

A woman's protest against the "billposter pest" brought a recommendation from Mayor Busse for the consideration of an ordinance against the posting of signs or bills on vacant buildings.

Emilie J. Smith, 323 Oakwoods boulevard, wrote him that she had three stores opposite the Hofbrau hotel, which were kept in an unsightly condition by the placing of signs and advertisements on them. She said she was compelled to employ carpenters and painters to remove them at frequent intervals and protested that the city did not protect her property. The mayor's communication, containing hers, was referred to the judiciary committee.

An ordinance, misunderstood by a majority, defeated, reconsidered, and then made a special order of business at the next meeting, referred to the burial of dogs and other household pets by the owners. Under the present system a dead dog or cat cannot be disposed of save by a company which has a contract to care for them. The proposed ordinance permitted the owners to bury them.

Traction Matters Considered.

Several orders referring to traction matters were considered, among them being a protest from Ald. Michael McInerny against the employment of aliens in the rehabilitation work, a demand from Ald. Herman F. Kruger that the local transportation committee study the problem of abolishing the "death traps" between cars, and a request of Ald. Winfield P. Dunn that the law department investigate the receivership proceedings of the Consolidated Traction company with a view to forcing the laying of grooved rails in Evanston avenue and Clark street in parts of the Twenty-fifth ward.

The council authorized the spreading of the tax levy—amounting to $33,044,589—and approved a second ordinance authorizing the mayor to draw tax warrants of 75 per cent of that amount.

Mayor Busse sent to the council with his approval an ordinance creating the position of city forester and prescribing the duties of that office. It will be considered at the next meeting.

Judge Abbott Issues Attachment to Bring Into Court Henry C. Schwab, President of Rothschild & Co.

Henry C. Schwab, president of Rothschild & Co., has an attachment for his arrest hanging over his head because of his failure to appear for jury service yesterday in the Superior court.

Mr. Schwab has been excused from jury service on five different occasions, which may have had something to do with his ignoring the sixth summons.

Judge Abbott, in issuing the attachment, said Mr. Schwab would be treated just as any one else who ignores a summons to appear and serve the state for two weeks as juror. Mr. Schwab lives at 3347 Michigan avenue.

PIONEER GIVES FAMILY DINNER.

Mrs. William Clingman, Here for Seventy-four Years, Celebrates Birthday Anniversary.

An old fashioned family dinner, at which were present all of her children and their families, was given by Mrs. William Clingman, 6117 Monroe avenue, who has been a resident of Chicago for seventy-four years. The event was in honor of her eightieth birthday anniversary. Her husband is the oldest living tailor in Chicago, having started in business here in 1843.

One of the largest family reunions on record in Chicago will be held at Netherwood hall, Marshfield avenue and Taylor street, next Sunday afternoon, when the Schmidts assemble. There will be eighty present and they will all be descendants or collateral relatives of Mrs. Louisa Schmidt, 520 South Winchester avenue.

Mrs. Schmidt, who is 73 years old, came to Chicago from Germany fifty-four years ago.

PLANS TO DROP INSPECTORS

Hanberg Urges Efficiency Board to Give Work to Police.

BRIDGE HOURS UNCHANGED.

Metropolitan Gets Three Years More to Extend Branch.

Two-thirds of the inspection performed by city bureaus will be done by the police department, if the plan proposed by Commissioner of Public Works Hanberg is adopted. He has been considering the idea for more than a year, but yesterday he presented it in a concrete form at the first meeting of the efficiency commission, which recently was appointed by Mayor Busse to revise the grades of service in the city departments.

The commission found that it would be difficult to get the twelve men together, and subcommittees will be appointed to consider various branches of the work. City Architect Craig was appointed secretary.

Commissioner Hanberg said it would take months to regrade all the inspectors and that he thought the work would be done better by the police because it would save duplication.

Police Have More Incentive.

"The police have more incentive to work well," he said, "because they are sure of pensions so long as they perform their duties acceptably, while inspectors feel their positions are temporary.

"My idea is that examinations be held, open to policemen who have served two or three years. I would keep the inspectors on the force, and have their reports go to the bureau interested."

The commission mapped out the first work to be done by the subcommittee which will consider this plan. Each department will be asked to report on the number of its employés and their maximum and minimum salaries. It is proposed that the civil service commission have eligible lists, from which assignments will be made to departments.

Bridges to Open as Before.

There will be no change in the hours during which bridges across the river can be swung. Shipping interests asked the committee on harbors, wharves, and bridges in the afternoon to remove the restrictions, so that boats could move at all times. After the committee heard the protest of the Northwestern Elevated railroad company, voiced by President Starring, that such action would add to the loop congestion, they decided against it.

An ordinance recommended by the committee of the water department provides that meters be installed where the water bill amounts to $100 or more a year instead of $40, as at present. The superintendent also is empowered to send bills as often as he deems it right.

Metropolitan Gets Time.

An ordinance granting three years more time to the Metropolitan West Side Elevated railroad to extend its Humboldt park branch west from Lawndale avenue to Fifty-second avenue was recommended by the local transportation committee. It provides that the company must spend $500,000 in the next two years. The company may extend to Seventy-second avenue and must build whenever there are 150 buildings in any lineal mile, within a quarter of a mile on either side. Elevation of the tracks is provided for whenever the council so orders.

D. J. Christopher, who has no job and who has been drawing no pay, was formally discharged from the city's service by the civil service commission. He formerly was city brick tester, but the position was not appropriated for.

ARRESTED ASLEEP AS SLAYER.

Negro Caught in Rooming House on Charge of Killing Night Clerk in New York Hotel.

Detectives arrested James Vango, colored, suspected of the murder of Isadore E. De Vallant in the East End hotel, New York City, while he was asleep in a rooming house at 2354 Wabash avenue yesterday. He will be taken to New York at once. De Vallant, who was night clerk, was murdered on March 15 by a robber who attempted to steal $2,000 from the hotel safe. A watch said to have belonged to De Vallant was found on a dresser. The prisoner could not explain his possession of it.

Chicago Detective Starts for Mexico to Get William Neal Smith, Who Is Under Indictment Here.

Detective Sergeant Lawrence Howe of Chicago Central station will leave for San Luis Obispo, Mexico, tonight to bring back William Neal Smith, former president of the San Luis Land and Cattle company, who is under indictment in that city. Smith is under indictment here on a charge of embezzlement of $5,000 from the company.

In order to reach San Luis Obispo Detective Sergeant Howe will have to ride horseback for twenty-five miles across the country.

HORAN HITS AT PLATOON ACT

Fire Chief Says City Has Not Enough Money for Two Shifts

DOUBTS BILL WILL PASS.

If It Becomes Law Favors "Ten Hours' Pay for Ten Hours' Work."

"Ten hours' pay for ten hours work."

That is the answer Chief Horan has to make to the bill which the Chicago Federation of Labor and the members of the Firemen's association who are backing the two platoon system, are trying to put over on the city. Unless the city officials have a change of heart, they will do nothing to forestall the passage of the bill in the state legislature, but will bide their time, and wait until it goes upon the statute books before taking any action.

The inaction of the city officials may cause a considerable delay in framing a revision of the measure regulating the firemen's pension fund, which the association has been so solicitous about recently, but then the chief cannot be expected to spend his time framing up a measure whereby dependent children and dependent parents of firemen shall receive a pension when his mind is filled with plans for a double platoon. At least that is the attitude Chief Horan takes, and it has been left for him and the corporation counsel to frame the measure.

Chief Horan Explains Opinion.

"I'm not bothering my head about that bill," said Chief Horan last night. "If the firemen and the labor unions want to force such a measure through the legislature I can't help it, and, as a matter of fact it is entirely immaterial to me whether they make it a ten and fourteen hour day or an eight hour day, because if they are going to divide up the time into hours the city will have to divide up the pay into hours, so it is just as broad as it is long.

"The situation in a nutshell is this. The city is short of funds. We haven't enough money to buy feed for the horses, and how on earth do the labor unions suppose we are going to double the fire fighting force? The only way we can do it is to make the same money do the work for twice as many men, and so I say it don't make any difference to me or to the city of Chicago whether the bill provides for eight hour shifts or for ten and fourteen hour shifts.

"And, by the way, I can't see the logic of an organization like the Chicago Federation of Labor, which for years has been raising the cry "eight hours constitutes a day's work," indorsing a bill that provides for ten and fourteen hours.

Does Not Believe Act Will Pass.

"I don't believe the legislature will make such a law. Certainly it don't fit in with the scheme of self-government for cities. I think when it gets down to Springfield the members from Chicago will vote against it, knowing what the financial situation is here. But if it does go through, we'll meet it in the only way we can, but putting the firemen's pay at so much an hour and paying them for the number of hours they work.

"I notice that the firemen's association was careful not to let me know anything about their bill. Usually I see their measures before they are made public, but the first intimation I had that any such a proposition as the two platoon system was on the carpet was when I picked up the morning papers."

QUESTIONS NAMES ON PETITION.

Evanston Mayor Recognizes Only a Dozen Who Seek Annexation Vote and Will Check List.

Mayor Paden of Evanston declared yesterday that he had had copies made of the petition for a vote April 6 on annexation for the purpose of certifying the 776 signatures because he had not recognized more than a dozen names. He said he had no fear of such a vote, believing the proposition would be defeated 4 to 1. A. McKinley, attorney for the petitioners, said the list would be found correct. He asserted there was a strong desire for annexation south of Calvary.

BOILER BURSTS; MAN SCALDED.

John Witjewski, a Fireman, Is Perhaps Fatally Injured by Explosion in South Chicago Power House.

Explosion of a boiler at the power house of the Calumet and South Chicago railway last night fatally injured John Witjewski, a fireman, and blew a hole in the side of the building.

The boiler house is separate from the engine room, otherwise more damage would have been done.

Witjewski was the only man in the place at the time of the explosion. He was scalded by steam and hot water. He was taken to the South Chicago hospital, where it was said his chances of recovery were slight.

BUILDERS FACE WAGE CLASH

Employers and Men Said to Have Held Hot Conference.

NEUTRAL RELATIONS ENDED

Contractors Reported to Be Planning to Import Labor.

More trouble is expected in the building trades before April 1, according to union officials and contractors, and it is probable that much of the construction work in Chicago will be tied up if some agreement is not reached between the employers and the workmen.

Efforts have been made by the unions to arbitrate wage agreements, but it is said that every meeting results only in useless debate and argument. It was declared yesterday that no further conferences between employers and the labor chiefs would be held. This is said to mean that all neutral relations have ceased, and that henceforth real strike conditions will prevail.

Movement to Import Labor.

Although the employers have made no serious attempts to fill the places of the striking glaziers and the tile layers, plumbers, gas fitters, electricians, and other allied crafts which demand increased wage scales, it is said a movement is on foot to import nonunion men from other cities in the event that an agreement is not reached by April 1.

At the headquarters of the Associated Building Trades it was announced that the workmen would adhere to their demands until the employers signified their intention to sign the proposed agreements.

Declares Employers Firm.

A member of the building contractors' council, however, declared the employers were just as firm in their intentions not to grant an increase.

"We have done everything possible to bring about peace," he said, "and there will be no meetings with the men."

Members of the Horseshoer's union, about 400 strong, have joined the other unions in demands for increased wages. The firemen are getting $4 a day and the floormen $3.50. They ask for a flat scale of $4 a day.

FIRE CHECKED AFTER BATTLE.

Flames in Building at 167 Plymouth Court Require Supplemented Force Before Controlled.

A fire which started from an unknown cause in the office of the Chicago Cork company, on the fourth floor of the five story brick building at 167 Plymouth court, late last night, threatened to develop into a serious blaze. A second alarm call was sent in and the fire fighting force which first responded was supplemented. The flames were confined on the three upper floors with a loss of $5,000.

Prairie fire threatened Gary, Ind., yesterday morning, and the efforts of nearly 200 residents of the outlying districts were necessary to check the flames.

In fighting to quench a blazing fence surrounding his residence, Policeman Joseph Junic was overcome by smoke. On account of the lack of hydrants for the water supply of the fire department the fighting had to be done by hand.

SURGEON SUES FOR $6,500 FEE.

Dr. Alexander Hugh Ferguson Alleges Operation Saved Life of John B. Mallers Sr.

John B. Mallers Sr., retired capitalist, residing at 4358 Drexel boulevard, was sued yesterday by Dr. Alexander Hugh Ferguson for $6,500, alleged to be due for an operation performed on Mr. Mallers some six months ago.

The sum is large, but according to Attorney Francis S. Wilson, who filed the præcipe, the operation was the means of saving Mr. Maller's life and enabling him to go south for the winter.

"We have asked for the money many times," said Mr. Wilson. "Hence the suit."

BROKER DYING FROM POISON

Samuel E. Schutte Takes Acid Following Wheat Losses.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN ROOM

Desperate Situation Kept from Associates in Market.

Samuel E. Schutte, broker and former director on the open board of trade, probably will die from the effects of carbolic acid which the police say he swallowed with suicidal intent last night in his room at 344 Michigan avenue while despondent over losses in wheat.

Miss Nina Peters, who conducts the rooming house, said Schutte took a six ounce bottle of the acid to his room, telling her he wanted to treat a bruised finger. She heard groans while passing his room an hour later and opened the door. Schutte was unconscious.

The police of the Harrison street station took him to St. Luke's hospital, where he is in a critical condition.

Schutte, who was a bachelor, came to Chicago from Hammond, Ind., twenty-five years ago, and has since been an active broker. While his associates knew nothing of his alleged desperate situation, the police say he lost in the rise in wheat several weeks ago and that these losses were increased when he became a "bull."

Philip Sistrhenn, for twenty years clerk in the main postoffice, hanged himself with a clothes line under the rear porch of his home at 5309 Princeton avenue. His wife found his body. He was melancholy and had not slept well for two weeks.

CHICAGOANS WED IN LAPORTE.

Salesman Recently Divorced Married to Stenographer by Justice of the Peace in Indiana.

Laporte, Ind., March 22.—[Special.]—"Does the squire kiss the bride?" was the query of Robert A. E. Campbell, aged 30, of Chicago, after County Clerk George Link had issued a license to him to marry Miss Blanche May Barnett, aged 26, a Chicago stenographer.

"I think not," was Mr. Link's reply, whereupon the two Chicagoans repaired to the office of Justice S. E. Grover, where they were married. Mr. Grover did not kiss the bride, but he bestowed his blessing on them.

The bridegroom said he was a salesman, son of A. J. Campbell of Hammond, and that he was divorced from his first wife in Chicago on Jan. 11, 1909. The bride said her father was Salem C. Barnett of Kansas and her mother was Mrs. Juliette Hortense Meyers of Danville, Ill.

CLEANERS AND DYERS ORGANIZE

New Association Is Formed to Keep Irresponsible Firms Out of the Business.

Not to be outdone by their brethren, the laundrymen, the cleaners and dyers have joined the "uplift" movement and will throw a protecting arm about the public. The Chicago Association of Cleaners and Dyers was organized last evening at the Sherman house. The new organization proposes to give a "clean bill of health" to only such concerns as are able to make good on goods that may be ruined and those possessing ability to do good work as well. There are 3,000 cleaning establishments in Chicago, and it was declared by members of the association that at least 500 of them were totally irresponsible.

Hold Boys in Window Theft.

James Biggans and William Clancy, each 18 years old, who were arrested at Wabash avenue and Adams street yesterday morning on a charge of having broken open a window of the Boston store and stealing eight pairs of shoes, will be arraigned today before Municipal Judge Hume. The police say a private watchman identified the boys as persons he saw near the broken window at the time of the robbery.

SEE UNIFICATION AID FOR SUBWAY.

Men Interested in Traction Consolidation Lay Stress on Experts' Findings.

REPORT PLEASES BUSSE.

Compliments Engineers on the Exactness and Thoroughness of Their Work.

Men interested in the unification of all local transportation companies—both elevated and surface lines—declared yesterday that the need of such a consolidation was given great emphasis by the subway report of the city's experts.

This view was agreed in by representatives of the city, who, while not interested in the promotion of such a scheme, held that adequate service, either under the present arrangements or by subways, can be supplied only by unification.

Although, as previously had been pointed out, no physical or financial obstacles need cause the delay of building beyond the time necessary for drafting working plans, it was the general opinion that the negotiations between the two surface and the four elevated lines, and between the city and each of these six companies, might delay building for years and even block the entire scheme.

Point Raised on Traction Funds.

Outside of these considerations, the chief reason advanced against the theory that subway construction might be begun by 1910, was the question whether the traction funds—the city's 55 per cent of the profits of the Chicago City railway and the Chicago Railways companies—could be used for such a purpose.

It was pointed out that Judge Windes recently refused to issue a mandamus compelling the payment of $50,000 appropriated by the city council against this fund to pay the expenses of the subway bureau. In his decision he held that the traction ordinances plainly ordered that the fund be held for the purchase of the street railways by the city.

On the other hand, it was urged by the advocates of the use of the fund for subway purposes that the court also based its opinion on another point of law—that the petition did not show a right to the relief prayed for—and that the action now in the courts is brought in different form and probably will result in the payment of the $50,000 from the traction fund.

Plan of Operation Presents Problem.

The difficulty in the way of operating the subways was said to be principally the great changes in the present system to be installed if the suggestions of the subway report are carried out. These include the establishment of through routes used jointly by different companies, and it was declared that agreements establishing such through routes could not be reached without an entirely new understanding between all the companies and the city.

For example, it was shown that the City railway and the Railways companies would have to operate through routes from Twenty-second street to Chicago avenue in the same tunnels. This was declared easy of adjustment, but it was said under a plan of compelling the Northwestern elevated road to run through cars from its own outer terminals to the outer terminal of the south side elevated road, and vice versa, trouble would arise immediately.

Similarly, when the Metropolitan and Oak Park elevated companies were asked to loop their cars back and forth in the west side tunnel, an agreement as to operation would prove a difficult matter.

It was these considerations that led Ira M. Cobe, Samuel Insull, and E. K. Boisot, the committee of three promoting the elevated merger scheme, to declare the subway plan a strong argument in their favor.

Report Pleases Foreman and Busse.

Ald. Milton J. Foreman, chairman of the local transportation committee, expressed pleasure that the report had lent assistance to the merger advocates.

Mayor Busse, who for the first time since the issuance of the report had an opportunity to examine it in his office, complimented Ald. Foreman, the local transportation committee, and the engineers, who had charge of it, upon the thoroughness and the exactness of their work.

"I believe it is one of the best bits of research ever completed by a municipality," he said, "and its value in years to come will prove far beyond the $75,000 expended on it. I have not studied the problem of putting its recommendations into effect, but I can see plainly that consolidation of the traction lines would go far toward that end."

Question of Liability Discussed.

The question of the liability of the companies beyond the $5,000,000 to be used for downtown terminals was a subject of much discussion in financial and traction circles. It was raised by Controller Walter H. Wilson in an interview printed in THE TRIBUNE.

Mr. Wilson said that further study of the situation had convinced him that his views were right—that the actual construction of the two initial subways could be completed by the use of the city's share of the traction receipts and the exaction of the full provisions of the ordinances for subway construction by the companies.

PLANS NOW LAID TO LOCK UP DEADLOCK

Leaders in Efforts to Head Off Raids of Ambitious Persons on the Prize.

PEACE IS GREAT DESIRE.

Chicagoans Tell of Offices More Important to Them than Any Senatorship.

BY C. S. R.

Springfield, Ill., March 22.—[Special.]—An effort is to be made this week to padlock the deadlock. It has been announced before as the opinion of Gov. Deneen that the purposes of legislation would be served best—in case A. J. Hopkins were not reëlected—if the present conditions of affairs were maintained until legislation has been considered and acted on.

Roger C. Sullivan, whose appearance in Springfield always is an indication of certain unrest in Democratic circles, came in on the midnight train. Mr. Sullivan can prevent united action by the minority side and he is here to use what influence he can exert with his fellow countrymen to keep them from voting for Albert J. Hopkins or any other Republican statesman.

Congressman William Lorimer, preceding Mr. Sullivan by several hours, spent some time with Gov. Deneen and Roy O. West tonight, the subject of discussion being the proposed alliance in Cook county politics.

Believe Time Here to Padlock.

Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Lorimer work in harmony, to a certain extent in opposition to Mr. Hopkins. If Democratic interference can be avoided Gov. Deneen can control the situation, and his best interests will be furthered by the continuance of the deadlock.

It is believed now that the proper time has come to padlock it, preserving Mr. Hopkins' interests so that he will be nothing the loser when the assembly finds it convenient again to attempt to elect a senator, and giving bills the right of way.

Of course, the joint ballots will have to be taken every legislative day, but the proposition is to head off the raids of ambitious persons who are about ready to take a try at that which Mr. Hopkins has been unsuccessful thus far in getting.

No Material Change in Prospect.

The ex-senator is expected to gain three or four votes this week, but no material change in the situation is in prospect. The Lowden and the McKinley movements, if brought out in the open, will not be able to get anywhere if the state administration and the Hopkins following padlocks the deadlock, and probably the konwledge that no substantial progress could be made will be sufficient to prevent either candidate from coming forward.

With several of the party leaders, including Gov. Deneen and Congressman Lorimer, the senatorship is not the most important thing just now. Mr. Deneen and Lorimer, as has been known for several months, are endeavoring to reach an understanding which will eliminate partisan contentions from the party affairs. This understanding demands as a preliminary that the administration legislation be put through in the assembly.

It is not necessary that Mr. Lorimer aid the administration legislative program, but it is necessary that Mr. Deneen secure the enactment of some laws before he will be at liberty to enter a complete agreement with the congressman affecting Cook county and state politics.

Peace May Be Up to Busse.

When the administration program is disposed of in the legislature the formulation of a treaty between Deneen Republicans and Lorimer Republicans may be expected. It will not be hostile to Mayor Busse unless the city administration itself attacks the coalition between Deneen and Lorimer.

Neither the governor nor the congressman is on particularly friendly terms with the mayor, but that doesn't interfere. It has caused both to see an additional reason for joining their own forces, both seeing that with them fighting each other the mayor has been able to swing a larger balance of power than they think should be placed at his disposal.

If Deneen and Lorimer succeed in carrying through the arrangements which they have been considering, it will remain for Busse to determine whether there shall be a reunited party in Cook county and generally throughout the state, or whether the Deneen-Lorimer and city administration forces shall keep up a factional contest.

Think Mayor Will Come In.

It is the belief of both Mr. Lorimer and Gov. Deneen that the latter will not be the case. They believe that the mayor will come in with the rest of his party and that Chicago and Cook county will have mostly peace and harmony.

Arrangements are being made to take care of either condition—either one of peace or of continued fighting, and just now this situation is of more interest to the men concerned than is the senatorship.

"The sheriff's office and the county treasurer's office," said one of the Chicago leaders looking forward to the next general Cook county primaries, "are of more importance to the party in the county than half a dozen senatorships."

Hopkins Keeps His Confidence.

The disposal of the legislative program being necessary before the Deneen-Lorimer agreement can be perfected, it is easy to see why the leaders are willing to padlock the deadlock for the time being and dispose of the program.

Mr. Hopkins retains his confidence that he will be elected, and the men who know him best say that his confidence is entirely sincere. He is told, however, that it will do no harm if he protects himself so that no other candidate can run away with anything and so that no one need to worry about senatorial results for awhile—a thing which can be done by pledging up some administration and Hopkins legislators—and then allows the senatorial issue to sink into the background for awhile.

Mr. Hopkins and State Chairman West tonight went over the situation with the governor at the statehouse. It is admitted that Mr. Hopkins may gain a few votes this week, but not enough to make any material difference in his totals.

POLITICIANS OFF TO CAPITAL.

Republican Leaders All Leave Early with the Exception of Mayor Busse.

The Chicago delegation to Springfield departed on the evening and night trains without a clear vision of what is likely to transpire senatorially during the week.

Albert J. Hopkins, accompanied by his campaign staff, went on one train, while on another traveled Roger C. Sullivan and the bulk of the Cook county Democratic membership of the legislature. It seemed evident that the Demecrats expect important developments before the end of the week, but what direction they might take was not vouchsafed by Mr. Sullivan or by any of his aids.

Practically all of the Cook county Republican leaders had started for the state capital before midnight. The chief exception was Mayor Busse, who said that he is kept in Chicago by important business. Mr. Hopkins and the leaders of the Hopkins forces understand thoroughly that the Mayor is for Hopkins at all turns of the road and that his absence from Springfield this morning cannot rightfully be construed as a blow to the Hopkins candidacy.

Congressman Frank O. Lowden was mysteriously absent from Chicago during the day. Some reports had him en route to Washington. Others held that he was out at Sinissippi. A third rumor was to the effect that he was down state in the midst of an important conference.

DEWEY COMING; HAS PLACE

Leaves Washington for Home Soon, with Appointment Sure.

IS TO GET HOY'S POST.

"Tipped" as Being Slated for Chicago Marshalship Plum.

Postmaster Campbell has made his peace with the Taft administration in general, and with Postmaster General Hitchcock in particular, and Chauncey Dewey will not become postmaster of Chicago.

Col. Dewey, however, starts from Washington for Chicago today with a federal commission to one of the best plums in Chicago safely annexed, and with the assurance that President Taft will make the official and proper announcement by transmitting the Dewey nomination to the senate Thursday.

The report in Washington is that Dewey is to receive the appointment of United States marshal in place of Luman T. Hoy, who is to resign.

Col. Dewey refused to confirm this.

"There is nothing definite," said he after some little show of vexation that the information concerning negotiations pertaining to his coming connection with the government was abroad. "I am leaving tomorrow afternoon for Chicago, and that is all I care to say."

Effort to Keep Place Secret.

An effort is made to keep secret the place to which Col. Dewey is to succeed for the good reason, from the Dewey standpoint, that the same tremendous pressure will be brought to bear by the Chicago organization leaders to protect the present occupant of this place that switched Postmaster General Hitchcock from his determination to supplant Postmaster Campbell with Col. Dewey.

There may be as much smoke, but not so much fire over the displacing of Hoy in Dewey's favor, if such occurs, as was remarked when the news broke out that Postmaster General Hitchcock had gone to the front against Campbell and asked the president for the Chicago postoffice for Col. Dewey.

Since that time the most powerful pressure probably ever exerted in behalf of an Illinois federal appointee was brought to bear upon the president to keep Postmaster Campbell, as against the direct wish and request of the president's postmaster general and the late chairman of the Republican National committee. Such a wave of protest from the main cogs in Illinois state political machinery reached the White house that it is evident that the president could not override it, and made the agreement which starts Col. Dewey homeward satisfied if not content.

The seal of secrecy has been placed upon the lips of men who know what Dewey is to get in the way of a fat Chicago federal place.

Was Mentioned for Collectorship.

There have been reports that Dewey was to get the collectorship to succeed John C. Ames but the best "hunch" is that he will become the successor of Hoy.

The other office in the federal building which has attractive features to a practical politician is that of subtreasurer, now held by William Boldenweck, whose hold on the place is almost as slender as is Henry Hertz's on the office of collector of internal revenue, according to the political gossipers.

Mr. Dewey has been in Washington for over a week. He has made good use of his time and of his acquaintance with Frank H. Hitchcock, postmaster general. To the latter he furnished almost the first Taft delegates in the recent campaign who came from "doubtful" states.

SUCCESSOR TO KEALING NAMED.

Campaign to Get Col. Fred Smith of Peoria Foreign Diplomatic Post Begun.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—The president today sent to the senate the nomination of Charles W. Miller to be United States district attorney for Indiana, to succeed Joseph B. Kealing, resigned, and also that of Edward E. Wagner to be United States attorney for the district of South Dakota.

An active campaign, having as its desired end the appointment of Col. Fred Smith of Peoria, Ill., to a diplomatic position abroad, has been commenced by the Illinois congressional delegation. Col. Smith is in the city for the purpose of urging on the efforts of Senator Cullom and the congressmen.

There was a pilgrimage to the office of the secretary of state today in which Senator Cullom, Congressmen Lowden and Graff, and Col. Smith participated. Secretary Knox was formally invited to give an appointment to the Peoria man. What post is sought has not been divulged.

GEN. PALMER'S WILL PROBATED

Only Relatives and Associates Are Remembered in Distribution of a $5,000,000 Estate.

Colorado Springs, Colo., March 22.—[Special.]—The will of the late Gen. William J. Palmer, filed for probate today, leaves his $5,000,000 estate to three daughters to be shared alike. Only relatives, intimate friends, and associates are remembered. The executors of the will are all New York men, and each will receive securities valued at $50,000 in lieu of fees. The largest individual legacy is to Miss Gladys Young, daughter of the late Harvey Young. She receives $100,000 and her sister, Mrs. Gwendolyn Livermore of Telluride, Colo., $20,000. Cecile Jacobeit, Gen. Palmer's confidential secretary, receives $50,000; T. J. Fisher, private secretary, $25,000; Clark Mellen and Nat Mellen of New York, brothers-in-law, $50,000 each. Four sisters of his dead wife are remembered as follows: Maud S. Van Oostveen, London, $75,000; Helen S. Flower, England, Charlotte S. Sclatter, and Daisy S. Scharman, Colorado Springs, each $50,000.

RANCH HOME FOR HARRIMAN.

Magnate Will Select Site on Beautiful Hope Tract Near Santa Barbara, Cal.

Santa Barbara, Cal., March 22.—E. H. Harriman arrives here tomorrow to choose a location for a winter home at Hope Ranch tract, four miles west of this city. Hope ranch, formerly an old Spanish grant, is perhaps the most beautiful spot on the coast and has just been opened for villa sites by the Pacific Improvement company.

There are no buildings on the ranch at present except the Potter country clubhouse, opened to the public last week, together with a polo field and golf links. The purpose of Hope ranch is that of a rich residential colony.

LORD MAY WED NEW YORK GIRL.

Rumor That Morley, English Nobleman, Is Smitten with Daughter of Prominent Family.

Winnipeg, Man., March 22.—Lord Morley, the English nobleman who has been visiting coast states and the far west, is in the city. Lord Morley is one of the richest noblemen in the united kingdom and is 32 years of age. Rumor has it that he has been much struck by a type of American girl he has met in his present tour and that it will not be surprising if he takes a daughter of a prominent New York family back to England with him as Countess of Morley.

SAYS MODJESKA IS BETTER.

Husband Hopeful of Actress' Recovery—Physicians Are Not Optimistic.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 22.—[Special.]—Count Charles Bozenta, husband of Mme. Modjeska, says she is much improved and he is hopeful of her complete recovery. Physicians, however, doubt the possibility of the recovery of the actress, though they admit she is better today.

WORLD TO CONFER ON IMMIGRATION.

Italy Asks United States to Join in Checking Flight of Criminals.

WOULD STOP MUCH EVIL.

Russia Also Seeks to Prevent Its Murderers from Escaping Justice.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—International regulation of immigration has been proposed by Italy as a panacea for the evils suffered by the United States and other nations from the migration of population. President Taft, Secretary Knox, and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel have been giving consideration to the proposal for a conference with the result that this government unquestionably will accept it.

Such a conference will enable control over emigration and immigration which will be of the utmost importance, especially to the United States. It will mean that fewer objectionable immigrants will pass through our ports. It will enable closer supervision over anarchists. It will permit surveillance of men known to be leaders in the "Black Hand" and other societies of that character. It will insure a better, finer class of aliens, as a whole, acquiring American citizenship.

It is this view of the proposal which has caused the high officials to look upon it with favor.

Law Authorizes the Meeting.

There is ample authority for accepting it. The immigration law of 1907 specially authorizes the president to call at his discretion an international conference to meet at an agreed upon point and to send special commissioners to any foreign country for the following purposes:

"To regulate by international agreement, subject to the advice and consent of the senate, the immigration of aliens; to provide for mental, moral, and physical examination of such aliens by American consuls or other officers; to secure the assistance of the foreign governments in their own territories to prevent evasion of the laws of the United States governing immigration; to enter into international agreements to prevent the immigration of aliens, who, under laws, may be excluded from entering the United States."

Advantage of this authority was not taken by President Roosevelt because of his desire that the government first should be informed of all details in connection with immigration. A joint committee of congress has been making an investigation of the conditions, both at home and abroad, for the last two years. The chairman of this committee is Senator Dillingham of Vermont. When in Europe last summer he talked with the authorities of Italy, France, England, and Germany in regard to an international conference, and it is presumed that the invitation of the Italian government is the result.

Aid of Congress Sought.

The immigration commission proposes to make some recommendations to congress at the beginning of the next session, both with respect to a more rigid enforcement of the laws for the exclusion of undesirables and also to inform the country as to races which have made the best citizens. This work has necessitated a great deal of time, but the results are understood to be highly satisfactory.

It is not the intention of the commission to suggest that only a fixed number be admitted. The time has not yet come, in its judgment, for determining arbitrarily any limit which should be prescribed. But it is possible by establishing a higher standard to raise the quality of aliens allowed entrance, and by this means improving the material from which American citizens can be made.

The administration is in hearty sympathy with this purpose. At the same time, it is recognized that many undesirables enter in spite of the most careful enforcement of the law. It is to the interests of the United States, therefore, to coöperate with the foreign governments, and such coöperation can most effectively be obtained through an international agreement.

Italy Sees Name Injured.

Italy's interest in the matter grows out of the fact that so many hundreds of thousands of its subjects come to the United States. A large percentage remains. Italy does not want its own good name injured by the men who are members of the secret societies. In a word, it wants to end, once and for all, a condition which is suggested by the saying:

"There are no more criminals in Sicily; they have gone to America."

What is true of Italy is true of the other European states, notably Russia and Austria. The former is constantly embarrassed by the flight of revolutionists to this country. The United States will not surrender men charged with political offenses. But Russia claims that criminals take advantage of this attitude with a result that many escape punishment who richly deserve it.

Moreover, Russia would like some control exercised to prevent the activity of revolutionary movements in the United States directed against the Russ reigning dynasty. These movements all are inspired by Russian subjects who have entered the United States to obtain an asylum and also interest Americans in their work. So far as Austria is concerned, it has no wish for its subjects to emigrate to America, but would prefer that they stay at home.

Seek to Distribute Aliens.

These various desires on the part of Europe could be presented at the international conference. Important as is the matter to them, it is of far greater concern to this country in view of the effect of the stream of the aliens upon our national life. At the present time, aliens are entering New York at the rate of 5,000 a day. Since July 1 and up to the end of February, 330,000 had been admitted. By the close of the fiscal year at least 650,000 will have entered. This will not be as many as came in during the last fiscal year, the financial panic being responsible for the reduction in the number. Since last July 125,000 aliens have returned home, so that the total gain up to date has been more than 200,000, and it will be double that number by the time July 1 rolls around.

The one difficulty in the way of the international conference on immigration would be Japan. The American people now enjoy the exclusion of Japanese labor. It is not likely that they would agree to any change in this condition. It is not believed, however, that Japan will be invited to take part in the conference.

DOLES OUT COMMITTEE PLUMS

Aldrich Gives Cullom Hopkins' Place on Finance Body.

SENATOR SCOTT DISPLEASED

Declares Distribution Neglects South-Central States.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—The senate committeeships for the sixty-first congress were doled out today through a resolution offered by Senator Aldrich.

Senator Cullom was assigned to the committee on finance, taking the place of former Senator Hopkins, and attended the meeting of that committee this afternoon when Republicans took their first look at the Payne tariff bill. Outside of being dropped from the committee on appropriations there were no other changes in Senator Cullom's committee holdings.

For the other senator from Illinois, whoever he is to be, there has been set aside the chairmanship of the committee to examine expenditures in the navy department and he can have in addition memberships on the following comparatively unimportant committees: Expenditures in treasury department, manufactures, civil service, and retrenchment, Pacific islands, and Porto Rico, patents, and transportation routes to seaboards.

Dolliver Helps Cummins.

Senator Dolliver of Iowa saw to it that his colleague, Senator Cummins, had his wishes met in regard to at least one committee assignment. He retired from the committee on interstate commerce that Mr. Cummins might go on.

This was disappointing to Senator La Follette, who has constantly desired, since being in the senate, to be a member of the interstate commerce committee that he might further the chances of his bill providing for the valuation of railroad property. Mr. La Follette must content himself with what might be considered a plum in the shape of the chairmanship of the census committee.

With the assumption of the chairmanship of the committee on agriculture, Senator Dolliver of Iowa becomes one of the big figures of the senate in power as well as reputation. He now has memberships on the important committees on conservation of national resources, education and labor, interoceanic canals and postoffices and postroads, and privileges and elections.

Beveridge in New Berth.

Senator Beveridge acquired a place on the committee on conservation of national resources, where he will undoubtedly expound and endeavor to further the doctrines of Gifford Pinchot and Theodore Roosevelt in regard to saving forests and streams.

Considerable dissatisfaction was evinced by several senators over the committee assignments.

The most vehement expression came from Senator Scott, who objected to the manner in which the vacancies on the finance committee had been filled. In a speech of some length he called attention to the fact that New England was abundantly represented and that the west had been well taken care of, but declared that the south central states, which had Republican representatives, such as West Virginia, Kentucky, and Missouri, had been ignored.

BIG MEN INDICTED FOR GRAFT; PITTSBURG MILLIONAIRE IS ONE

Banker Accused of Irregularities Resigns Post—Four Surrender and Give Bond for Appearance.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 22.—[Special.]—Six indictments, three for conspiracy, one for perjury and two for bribery, were returned this afternoon in the councilmanic graft case, upon which the grand jury has been deliberating. Without waiting for warrants to be served four of the indicted men surrendered and gave bond. One other telephoned that he would appear in the morning and give himself up, while the sixth is now traveling in Europe.

Millionaire Among Indicted.

The men under indictment are:

DALLAS C. BYERS, millionaire manufacturer, indicted jointly with Councilman John F. Klein, already twice convicted in the graft cases, and Councilman W. H. Weber, on a charge of conspiring to secure the passage of a street paving ordinance.

F. A. GRIFFIN, vice president of the Columbia National bank, charged with perjury in one of the recent graft trials.

COUNCILMAN CHARLES STEWART, charged with soliciting a bribe of $2,500.

H. L. BOLGER, hotel proprietor, charged with being an accomplice of John F. Klein in demanding and accepting a bribe for which Klein has already been convicted.

Byers left for Europe for his health about the time the graft investigations began and has not returned. Tonight his brother said he would be on hand when wanted.

Accused Banker Resigns.

Griffin is accused of having passed out about $25,000 of the bank's funds to pay councilmen to have the bank named as one of the city depositories. It is alleged he wrapped the money in an old newspaper, handing it to one of the employés of the bank as he went to luncheon. It appears the "bundle" of money was delivered. Today when Griffin heard he had been indicted he asked that a meeting of the board of directors be called and he sent his resignation by messenger. The board accepted the resignation, sending a note in reply saying it was hoped he would be able to acquit himself with credit, so as to be enabled to resume his position.

The grand jury is still in session, and it is said further developments are expected.

John F. Klein, who was in jail on a contempt charge, was released today on a writ of habeas corpus.

DEMOCRATS FLAY HOUSE "BOLTERS"

Cannon Supporters in Rules Fight Assailed at Minority Caucus.

APPOINTEES READ OUT.

Representative Fitzgerald, Recalcitrant, Calls Action Manifestation of Idiocy.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—A stinging rebuke was administered at the Democratic caucus tonight to Representative Fitzgerald and other members of the minority who sided with the Cannon organization last week to sustain the house rules. A resolution was adopted reading as follows:

"We deplore the action of those Democrats who supported Fitzgerald's plan of saving Cannonism. This action was in conflict with the caucus action of their party and in violation of its platform pledge, and, as we believe, overwhelming Democratic sentiment. The Democratic party disavows their action and disclaims all responsibility therefor.

"Under the guise of giving to the Democracy of the house representation on the rules committee and on the ways and means committee, Speaker Cannon appointed on the rules committee as a Democratic member the proponent of the Fitzgerald resolution, who is opposed to the Democracy of the house in its fight to reform the rules, and is in accord with the speaker; he appointed on the ways and means committee as a Democratic member, Mr. Broussard, known to be wholly opposed to the Democratic platform, and who by his vote is known to be opposed to any change in the Cannon rules.

Cannon Appointees Are Repudiated.

"We condemn the false pretense of the speaker in these appointments he has granted to the Democracy representation on the said committees and we hereby declare that in neither of these appointments is the Democracy of the house or of the country represented; we decline to recognize such appointees as representatives of our party on the said committees."

Consideration also was given to a resolution introduced by Representative Sulzer of New York in which the house rules were condemned, Speaker Cannon denounced, and the Republican insurgents invited to name a committee to treat with the Democrats to the end that the fight against the house organization be continued. The Sulzer resolution declaimed against bossism and declared that the present rules of the house were adopted last week by "trickery."

The debate which preceded the adoption of the declaration repudiating the action of the recalcitrants was one of the most bitter heard in a Democratic caucus in years.

Fitzgerald Calls Act Idiocy.

Mr. Fitzgerald, who was present, spoke in defense of his action and was answered by Mr. Hardwick of Georgia, who spared the feelings of no one. Representatives Peters and Kelliher of Massachusetts denounced the "gag rule" manner in which Minority Leader Clark had conducted the fight for a change in the rules.

PAYNE EXPLAINS TARIFF MEASURE

House Given Five Hours' Demonstration of Benefits Bill Will Produce.

DEMOCRATS FILE REPLY.

Many Points in Proposed Act Atacked as Harmful to Nation's Finance.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—The tariff bill held full sway in the house of representatives today. Mr. Payne of New York, chairman of the committee on ways and means, made a long speech in explanation of the bill, the time he was actually on his feet being four hours and ten minutes. Then, fatigued, he suspended until tomorrow. He was subjected to a cross fire of questions.

In opening Mr. Payne declared the country was overwhelmingly in favor of a protective tariff. It was an American policy, he said, and it seemed to be acquiesced in by the great majority of the American people.

Mr. Payne recited the conditions surrounding the enactment of the McKinley, Wilson, Dingley, and present tariff measures. In the first case, he said, there was "a superabundance of receipts and we tried to get rid of some of it by that bill."

Defends the Dingley Bill.

Coming to the Dingley bill, Mr. Payne declared that it had proved to be a boon to the people of the United States, in proof of which statement he cited the immense collections of revenue and expenditures under it given in his recent report on the bill. Those expenditures, he said, included $50,000,000 for the Panama canal, for which no bonds were issued.

"So that," he said, "the entire surplus over the ordinary expenditures of the government have been about $125,000,000 during that period."

There had, however, been a deficit for the period in the postoffice receipts amounting to $99,144,479, which he attributed largely to the enormous expenditures on account of the rural free delivery. Nothwithstanding such enormous drains, he said, there was a surplus of $25,000,000 of ordinary receipts of all kinds over expenditures. "Surely," he said, "not a bad showing for a revenue bill which was also a protective measure."

Mr. Payne called attention to the great expenditures as the result of the war with Spain, despite which, he said, a surplus was left in the treasury.

More Revenues Are Needed.

No tariff, he declared, could be revised without halting business. He declared the revenues were not keeping up with the expenditures and the time had come to hunt for more revenues. The bill, he said, had been prepared with the greatest care as the result of long hours of work and with the fullest information before the committee. He attributed the loss of revenue to the business disturbances of 1907 and 1908.

Mr. Payne said there was hope that during the first year of the bill there would be no deficit, but if the revenue should fall short "we have in the treasury $135,000,000 of available cash assets to meet it."

Discussing maximum and minimum tariffs, as against the reciprocity provisions of the McKinley and Dingley laws, Mr. Payne said the minimum tariff was on the basis of a protective rate, while the maximum tariff was much higher, even 100 per cent increase, in some instances, over the minimum.

Mr. Payne said that henceforth business would not suffer from unfair and unequal competition from foreign soil.

Nations Must Return Favors.

"If they do not give us an equal chance in their markets with any other nation," he said, "we do not propose to allow them to come into our markets at the minimum rates. Our markets are the greatest in the world. We are the greatest consumers, the greatest buyers of any nation on earth."

Mr. Payne declared this feature of the bill was not a trick, which has been charged. Great Britain would come in at the minimum rates.

"Is there a man within the sound of my voice," he exclaimed, "who does not know that France and Germany, seeking our trade, will avail themselves of the minimum rates which we offer in section 1 of this act? We give them the opportunity to make their rate with us—to put themselves on an equality with Great Britain."

Mr. Payne offered a substitute for section 4 of the bill. The substitute is intended to dispose of the criticism which has been made that the maximum duties would apply against a province or colony which discriminates in its tariff in favor of the mother country. It was contended that this would be unfair as the bill provides for the free entry of American goods and products into the Philippine islands. The substitute provides that the maximum duties imposed by the bill should not apply to the cases where the preferential duties to other countries are those given by a province, dependency, or colony to a mother country only.

Tells of Canal's Future.

The substitute excepts the Philippine islands from its provisions.

Questioned by Mr. Sims of Tennessee regarding the future revenues from the Panama canal, Mr. Payne said that ultimately the canal would be a source of revenue. He did not, he said, believe in a large surplus, but he did believe in fortifying the treasury "so that no warrant of the United States will ever suffer the slightest danger of remaining unpaid for a single minute after it is presented."

Alluding to a newspaper report that the treasury would be bankrupt now if it had not been that Secretary Cortelyou had held back $50,000,000, Mr. Payne declared the inquiry had developed the fact "that that statement was made out of the whole cloth." Every warrant, he asserted, was being paid regularly as it came to the treasury for payment.

Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh took advantage of his rights as a cabinet officer today and occupied a seat on the floor of the house during Chairman Payne's speech. Mr. MacVeagh proposes to acquaint himself with the measure as it stands at present and to follow the changes in it as they are made.

A delegation of paper manufacturers from Wisconsin, headed by Samuel A. Cook of Neenah, who was a candidate against Senator Stephenson in the primaries last year, arrived in Washington today to make a protest against the rates fixed by the Payne bill on print paper, wood pulp and materials for making paper. They demand a restoration of the rates in the Dingley law.

Michigan Fights Free Iron.

That the Michigan delegation will make an effort to have iron ore taken off the free list became evident when Mr. Young, interrupting, attacked the testimony of Chairman Gary of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation before the house committee on ways and means. Mr. Young declared that Mr. Gary's statement that a royalty of 10 cents per ton was paid on iron ore about 1897 was misleading.

"Long before 1897," said Mr. Young "leases were frequently made at the rate of 75 cents per ton royalty, and I only know of one case where 10 cents a ton royalty was paid. That was for low grade ore which was hard to get at."

He said that Mr. Gary probably based his statement on a purchase of ore land on which the price figured at the rate of 10 cents per ton. This was due, said Mr. Young, to the fact that the land proved to contain more iron ore than the original owners supposed.

Mr. Randell of Texas asked Mr. Payne if the placing of iron ore on the free list did not practically give to certain furnaces along the Atlantic coast the revenue which has been produced by iron ore duties.

Mr. Payne admitted the furnaces on the coast would get the benefit of the reduction.

From iron ore the discussion for the moment turned to tobacco. Mr. James of Kentucky wanted to know why the tax had not been removed from tobacco in the hand or in the manufactured state, inasmuch as the committee on ways and means had three times reported that proposition favorably for the protection of the farmers in their fight against the "tobacco trust." Mr. Payne replied there was no use loading down the bill.

"It will be lightening it up," remarked Mr. James.

"Will you vote for the bill if we do that?" was Mr. Payne's retort.

Mr. James said he would not commit himself as to the whole bill, but he would certainly vote for the proposition he presented.

"Nor will I commit myself," was Mr Payne's rejoinder.

Democratic Protest Is Filed.

That the Payne bill will increase the cost of living; that it is crude, indefinite, sectional and prohibitive, and that it is an open challenge to a trade war with every other nation on earth are some of the criticisms made by the Democratic members of the ways and means committee in the minority report submitted today.

The report is a severe arraignment of the revision which the Payne bill proposes. The countervailing duty provisions for coffee and petroleum, the maximum and minimum features, the Cuban reciprocity clause, the woolen, glass, agricultural, and sugar schedules are bitterly attacked.

"There are many changes—for the most part minor changes, says the report, "of the Dingley rates, some up and some down. Most of the changes in a downward direction are reductions more apparent than real, the Payne rates being as prohibitive in their results in many cases as the Dingley rates. In some of the schedules containing the most exorbitant rates there are no changes giving any appreciable relief to the great body of consumers."

Scores Maximum and Minimum.

Continuing the criticism, the report declares:

"The whole maximum and minimum tariff scheme, as set forth in the Payne bill, enables foreign countries to force us to raise the rates of the Payne schedules 20 per cent, which would, after making ample allowance for all reductions in the Payne bill, increase our tariff rates on the average much above the rates of the Dingley law, a prospect which will bring sorrow and dismay to the great body of the people. We are most heartily in favor of such a maximum and minimum tariff as will enable our government to negotiate tariff arrangements by making concessions to other governments, but as it stands the maximum and minimum tariff plan of the Payne bill is an open challenge to a trade war with every other nation on earth.

"The bill is in many respects crude, indefinite, sectional and prohibitive. It seems to us from our examination, which was necessarily hasty, that on the whole it increases the cost of living. For example, it will increase the price of hosiery about 30 per cent, and certainly nobody will claim that hosiery is a luxury in this day and generation. In numerous instances the protection exceeds the entire labor cost of production."

Wants Philippines Held Separate.

The report maintains that the tariff arrangement with the Philippines should be considered in a separate measure and not in the general tariff bill. The report contends that the bill does not lift any burdens from the shoulders of the southern farmer, although the manufacturer of cotton goods is protected by a heavy tax.

"The Standard Oil company is as handsomely cared for in the Payne bill as in the Dingley bill," the report continues, "and by reason of the provision in paragraph 637, popularly known as the 'joker,' continues to be protected by a tariff duty of 99 per cent, which enables it to dominate and exploit the American market and to levy tribute upon the public, thereby piling up millions of dollars of ill gotten gains."

The report further contends that there is a similar "joker" in the paragraph on coffee. The tax on tea also is attacked.

Referring to the reduction of 5-100 of a cent in the duty on refined sugar provided by the Payne bill, the report declares:

"Theoretically the trust receives 'a blow between the eyes'; in reality this infinitesimal reduction of the Dingley rate will not reduce the price of refined sugar—a prime necessary of life—to the consumer in any degree whatsoever. Certainly that reduction may be properly denominated as a sham."

A strong protest is made against the method by which the bill was framed and the manner in which the decisions of the Republican subcommittee were kept secret.

FRANCE SEES TARIFF WAR.

PARIS, March 22.—The dissatisfaction of France is increasing as the details of the new American tariff bill continue to reach here. The proposed increases in the case of gloves, hosiery, perfumes, soaps, and other articles of French export create the impression that France has been singled out particularly, and Ambassador Jusserand's reports seem to confirm this view.

In official quarters reticence is maintained, although the opinion is not concealed that the bill is regarded as retaliatory against pending French legislation and is, as a consequence, unfortunate, as it tends to weaken the French government's efforts, which were made partially in response to American solicitation, to secure modifications in certain schedules of the French tariff.

"If the United States strikes the first blow it would be hard to avoid a tariff war," said one of the best informed members of the American chamber of commerce, who has been delegated to watch French legislation. Continuing, he said the bill, if passed in its present form, would be sure to precipitate a tariff war with Europe.

STOCKING TAX IRE SPREADS

Dealers of Country Protest Against Tariff on Hose.

BILL DOESN'T HIT THE RICH.

Users of Silk Footwear Unaffected by Revenue Measure.

New York, March 22.—[Special.]—Representatives of the wholesale and retail dealers in stockings throughout the United States met this afternoon to protest against an increase in the tariff on stockings proposed in the new tariff bill now before congress. It was stated by President Hugh Mullen of the Merchants' association, who presided, that the tariff as proposed was an unjust one, as it discriminated largely against the poorer people and made no change in the tariff on silk socks and stockings worn by the rich.

A protest has been made to the ways and means committee by the Dry Goods Association of America, but it has not been effective.

No Increase on Silk.

Henry Schiff of Henry Schiff & Co. presented a table which showed increases from 85 to 185 per cent on cotton stockings and socks, with no increase in the present tariff of 60 per cent on silk goods of the same character.

"The cheaper the goods the higher the tariff," said Mr. Schiff. "We want to protest as strongly as possible against any such scheme as it tends squarely toward class legislation, and is not well for the business interests of the country."

He said the increased duty would mean an increase of from 2 to 5 or even 10 cents a pair on the cheaper lines of stockings.

"The claim," he said, "that the tariff as it now stands would cheapen the wages of the American worker is false, for, as a matter of fact, the increase in duty will make it impossible for this class to buy socks and stockings. They will have to paint their legs."

Poor Outlook for Weavers.

"With the tariff as at present," said Mr. Mullen, "the manufacturers of stockings in this country have always made money. Those that have started from small beginnings have advanced rapidly. With the increase as proposed in the Payne bill these people will become even richer and poor people will have to pay for it—not the people who wear silk stockings."

Among the Chicago dealers in stockings represented at the meeting were Marshall Field & Co., Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., Wilson Bros., Chicago; and J. V. Farwell & Co.

OBITUARY.

SILAS Q. PERRY, prominent in early days in lumber circles, operating at Manistique, Mich., and in this city, died last Sunday at his residence, 343 East Fifty-third street, after an illness of several months. He was born in Woodstock, Vt., June 9, 1835, and came to Chicago in 1857. He left a widow and four children—Crooker Perry, Ray Perry, Mrs. Peter Taylor, and Mrs. Frank I. Bristol of New York City. Funeral services will be held at the residence at 1 p. m. today.

JOHN H. STARIN, noted steamship owner, is dead at New York, aged 83 years. Mr. Starin had for years been prominent in the steamboat transportation industry. He was the head of the Starin line, with vessels plying between New York and various New England ports, and owned a shipyard, iron works, and dry dock on Staten island.

17 WOMEN'S CLUBS DENOUNCE TARIFF

Nation Wide Campaign Against Increased Duty on Apparel Starts Here.

WORD SENT TO CONGRESS

Lumbermen, However, Will Oppose Free Admission of the Material They Handle.

Women have awakened to refute the doctrine of politicians that "women cannot understand the tariff."

The excrescences of the Payne tariff bill caused seventeen women's clubs to adopt resolutions yesterday inaugurating a nation wide protest of women against an increase in tariff upon necessaries in every American home, with emphasies upon cotton gloves and hosiery.

A copy of the resolutions adopted by the federation as a whole was forwarded by special delivery to the ways and means committee in Washington last night and preparations were made to follow it by separate resolutions from individual clubs.

The resolution is to be placed before the coming meeting of the council of the National Federation of Women's Clubs at San Antonio, Tex., and before the Illinois State and County Federations of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Francis D. Everett of Highland Park, president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, undertook to carry the banner of the glove and stocking to the Rio Grande.

Clubs Which Took Action.

The clubs which took the action compose the sixth district and include:

Austin,
Art and Travel,
Brookfield,
Chicago Culture,
Douglas Park,
Garfield Park,
La Grange,
Maywood,
Twentieth Century,
Maywood Women's,
Matheon,
Millard Avenue,
Oak Park 19th Century,
River Forest,
Tuesday,
West Side Coeducational,
West End,
Western Springs,

The meeting was held in Millard Avenue Presbyterian church. The resolution was presented by Mrs. E. M. Henderson, and following its adoption the secretary, Mrs. John McDonald of Oak Park, forwarded it to Washington. The resolution follows:

"Whereas, The ways and means committee of the Payne tariff bill now pendhigh tariff on cottons, woolens, and silks, or to increase the tariff on cotton stockings of every description, and also upon gloves, silks, and woolens of every description; and,

"Whereas, The aforesaid bill also recommends an increase of 8 cents per pound on tea and an increase on coffee, which will advance the price almost one-fourth because of the peculiar situation of our coffee supply from Brazil; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we, the sixth district Federation of Women's Clubs of Illinois, protest against all such increase, and that a copy of the resolutions be sent to the ways and means committee of the Payne tariff bill."

County League to Take It Up.

Mrs. Henderson will present the resolution to the Cook County Federation of Women's Clubs at its meeting next Saturday. Other federations of women's clubs are expected to adopt the same resolution at their next meetings.

There is a substantial possibility that at a meeting of the Chicago Woman's club to be held tomorrow afternoon, some public spirited woman will introduce a resolution asking the coöperation of women's clubs in impressing upon congress the disapproval in which women hold all measures which may deprive them of much needed wearing apparel either by prohibitive price or by a tariff on materials so high as to force them to pay an all wool price for cotton. Mrs. Edward L. Upton, president of the Chicago Woman's club, said she had no knowledge of such an intention on the part of any clubwoman, but admitted that there are several hundreds who are capable of taking such action.

How the People Are Hoodwinked.

In ways not likely to attract the attention of the humble citizen little versed in the technical nomenclature of any business save his own, it was stated by a leading tariff authority yesterday that unscrupulous wool dealers have hoodwinked the clothes wearers of the United States in a way almost passing belief.

It was declared that under the Dingley tariff Americans have been forced to pay all wool prices for garments which practically are all cotton, the slight admixture of wool in the better grades being composed of old rags picked to pieces and commonly termed "shoddy." A suit of clothing made entirely of a good grade of wool was asserted to be an article so scarce as to merit a glass case in the national museum.

The clothing manufacturers were declared to have been forced to the manufacture of imitation goods by the tariff legislation, rather than by choice. Were cloth to be made entirely of the best grade of wool, the price it would be necessary to charge for it would scare the consumer into nervous prostration.

"Everybody has said the tariff has no sentiment," the expert said. "It is brimful of morals and sentiment. The poor people of the United States have been denied the use of warm and durable clothing by the Dingley tariff for ten years. The Dingley tariff says the poor of the United States shall not be well clothed as regards warmth and durability. The wool out of which the durable and warm clothing of the poor of Europe is made is prohibited from entering importation by duties ranging from 225 to 735 per cent. Consequently our woolen goods manufacturers are making all cheap clothing with scarcely a pound of thoroughly good wool in them.

Lumbermen Want High Tariff.

Chicago lumbermen under the auspices of the Lumbermen's association, formed a committee to proceed to Washington to argue against free lumber.

The lumbermen declare that free lumber will strike a blow at the lumber industry of this country, and that it will not effectively aid forest conservation. They hold that the United States will lose large amounts in revenue, which, in 1907, amounted to almost $2,000,000 in tariff receipts. It is intended to issue pamphlets in support of the tariff on lumber and secure the support of lumbermen from other parts of the country.

mum and minimum tariff system, which was nothing more nor less than reciprocity between nations in the broadest and most scientific sense.

The European nations, in dealing with each other, applied their minimum tariffs so long as they received similar concessions. When they came to treat with the United States they were not afraid to apply their maximum tariff if they saw fit because they knew we had absolutely no weapon of retaliation after the plan of treaty reciprocity had fallen through. The result was that this country was getting the worst of it in a large number of cases and was compelled to submit to all sorts of exactions, including the application of the maximum tariff rate when our competitors were getting the benefit of the minimum figures.

One Experiment Brings Good.

There was left in the Dingley tariff bill a slight measure of statutory reciprocity. That is to say, the president was authorized, under one section of that bill, to apply either the high or low rates, varying 20 per cent, on wines and a few other articles.

Even that little measure of reciprocity was sufficient to secure from Germany, and later on from France, the application of the most if not all of their minimum rates on American products. A limited treaty or convention under this section was agreed upon with Germany, and the status quo adopted with France, which amounted to the same thing.

There is little reason to fear that the maximum rate ever will be applied to any country which sends any considerable amount of goods to the United States. Even if these rates were so applied, it would simply mean the wiping out of the trade of that particular country here in America. It would not mean higher prices as a whole, because the competitive nations would soon make up the supply, and as their goods would come in at a minimum rate the market price would not be affected.

In the opinion of those who have studied the situation, the only effect of the adoption of the maximum and minimum tariff by the United States would be to open some markets to our foreign trade which now are closed to us because we have been unable to prevent the application of the maximum rates by any retaliation whatsoever.

Possibility Would Cure Need.

Six months after the new tariff goes into effect there is not likely to be an important country on earth which will be paying our maximum rates. It will be the story of the emergency currency bill over again. That measure gave the banks a chance to issue currency in an emergency, and the mere fact that they possessed that power has relieved them of the necessity of issuing any notes whatever.

In framing the maximum and minimum sections of the law, the ways and means committee was compelled, as a matter of course, to avoid the pitfall of making the maximum rates an invariably fixed per cent above the minimum, or providing for a retaliatory duty in every case on the things now on the free list.

There are certain raw materials and partially finished products which are indispensable to the important American industries. If they were subjected to an emergency duty some foreign country might see a chance to inflict a great injury upon our industries without a proportionate loss to its own.

The maximum and minimum system, like the protective tariff itself, is essentially selfish. That is to say, it is intended solely for the benefit of Americans. It would be folly for us to fix a tariff on things which we greatly needed and which perhaps could be secured only from some particular country. It is necessary, therefore, that the maximum tariff should be so arranged as to furnish the biggest possible club without injuring American industries.

No Maximum Rates Likely.

It should not be so devised that we would ever be tempted to bite off our noses to spite our faces. The aim of the whole system is to force the foreign countries to give us the benefit of their minimum rates and thus put into operation our minimum rate. Except in isolated cases, if the new bill works out in the United States as the system does elsewhere, we would have no maximum rates whatsoever.

There is no possible interference in the proposed tariff system with any of our international relations. The new tariff bill is well understood by every foreign country. It does not seek to give the United States any advantage. It merely proposes that in the matter of tariff relations we should be put on the basis of the most favored nation. That is a stipulation which is contained in every general commercial treaty now in force with the United States. Those stipulations concern the general commercial arrangements, and it is only proposed to extend the same system to tariff rates.

There is nothing in this idea which will prevent Germany or France or any other country from adopting any schedule of tariff rates. They may put the figures high or low without subjecting themselves to any retaliation by the United States, provided they do not discriminate against this country.

Guard Against Tariff War.

It will be seen, therefore, that, instead of inviting a tariff war, the maximum and minimum system is the best one devised for preventing retaliation. For instance, Great Britain has free trade. The result is that all British products will come into the United States at our minimum rates. France and Germany and Russia and Italy have protection systems. Germany, for instance, will have the benefit of every American minimum rate, provided it levies a duty on articles imported from the United States in no case greater than that assessed upon similar articles coming from France, Italy, Russia, Great Britain, or any other country.

Our maximum and minimum tariff, therefore, is concerned solely with discriminations and not with actual rates. This country furnishes such a profitable market for every manufacturing country of Europe that not one of them could afford to be subjected to our maximum rate. In some of them we now pay the highest rate. When our new tariff goes into effect they will be forced to cease discriminations against the American products or lose the American markets, because the application of our highest tariff means prohibition and the turning of trade over to their rivals.

Minimum Means Trade Increase.

The application of minimum rates in countries which now charge us the highest rates means, of course, the extension of markets for the American products.

Before the tariff debate goes any farther, the people should understand that the maximum and minimum system is nothing more than the reciprocity advocated by Blaine and McKinley, that the system is in successful operation in Europe and elsewhere, and that even if our maximum rate were levied against any important country the only effect would be to divert a certain trade from that country to others with which we were on more friendly tariff terms.

There is every reason to believe that within an incredibly short time after the new tariff bill is put into operation, its maximum rates will be forgotten because every important commercial nation of the earth will stop discrimination and get into the American markets on the ground floor.

MAC VEAGH TO CHOOSE SITE.

Secretary Will Have Final Word Concerning Location of New Chicago Postoffice.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—Chicagoans who have come to realize that Secretary MacVeagh, as secretary of the treasury, will have the final word in selecting a site for the new city postoffice at Chicago, are beginning to seek him out for the purpose of delivering their views as to which location will be desirable.

Several owners of Chicago real estate have carried their contentions direct to the secretary, among them the National Harvester concern, which it is understood owns suitable ground. Secretary MacVeagh said today he would await action of the committee selected to recommend a site.

Omaha, Neb., March 22.—[Special.]—Mayor Dahlman has enlisted in the crusade of the women for the untaxed stocking.

"I am here to sign any petition they present," said his honor today. "I hope they succeed, because the cause is a righteous one. There is nothing the city can do that I know of, or I would take official action.

"I think every politician should be with the women in this fight, for I know that in campaign times candidates wear out considerable shoe leather, and my wife tells me my stockings get full of holes."

OPEN FIELD LEFT FOR ALD. M. KENNA

Republican Candidate in the First Ward Withdraws from the Contest.

MANY CLOSE BATTLES ON.

Lively Struggles for City Offices Are Reported in Various Districts.

It's pretty soft for the Hink. His chief opponent for the First ward aldermanic job quit the race yesterday and Ald. Kenna is practically the sole starter in the race.

Influential members of the First ward Democracy consider it the greatest moral achievement of the Dink's political career to have forced his Republican competitor out of the running even before the blankets have been removed.

William A. Brush, the Republican nominee, filed his withdrawal yesterday with the board of election commissioners and narrowed the field to Hinky Dink, George G. Pendell, the Prohibition nominee, and Henry Kramer, the Socialist candidate. It is highly improbable that the Republican organization will fill the vacancy caused by Brush's withdrawal.

Saw a Chance.

Brush ran against the Bathhouse last year and made a strong showing. Some of the oversanguine in the Republican camp thought they saw a chance to defeat Kenna with Brush this spring. Mr. Kenna shook the bushes and scared out 1,700 new voters on registration day..

Mr. Brush saw the error of his ways and determined that he had sufficiency of opposing the Hink-Bathhouse combination. Thus endeth the campaign to retire the omnipresent little alderman from the First, for this spring anyhow. The cannon crackers probably will roust out the lodging house guest with the break of election dawn, but it will be more for effect and to remind them that every election day may not be the same sweet song in the First.

Ald. Thomas F. Scully is also left with but a single opponent in the Tenth. Michael C. Hoy, nominated in the Republican primary, filed his withdrawal yesterday, and Edward Kapek, Socialist, remains as the extent of the opposition to the Tenth ward alderman.

Hand to hand fighting for municipal and aldermanic places started all over the city yesterday, and it became quite evident before nightfall that some exceedingly bitter and close contests will be settled on election day.

Third Ward Contest.

The Third ward battle took the spotlight yesterday with the first overt attack by any of the chief parties to the intensely political contest over the control of ward affairs. Hobart P. Young, who opposes the election of Ald. Milton J. Foreman, through his campaign manager, Daniel J. Schuyler Jr., sent out a communication which said:

"An alderman should be a representative of the ward and not a boss."

With this for a text Candidate Young outlined the character of the contest which he will make. He referred to a "bipartisan trust," and said that if elected alderman he will see that Third ward taxes are levied on an equitable basis with the taxes of other wards.

The Foreman forces, led my Congressman Martin B. Madden and the combined strength of the regular Republican organization of the Third ward, have prepared to open hostilities today. The Democratic leaders who are solidifying behind the candidacy of M. A. Mergentheim, claimed yesterday that the Republican factional fight is so bitter that they have better than an even chance now to elect their candidate.

Close Ward Fight.

The Twenty-second ward scrap is also looming up as one of the red spots on the political map. Ald. Josetti has the thoroughgoing support of Mayor Busse and the Republican organization of the ward. Herman Bauler is the Democratic nominee, and an independent candidate, Charles Oscar Nelson, is making trouble for everybody. It is the claim of the Republican leaders that the Nelson candidacy is a move of the Democratic captains and in the interest of Bauler.

In the Thirty-fifth ward the contest between Ald. Frank L. Race and John S. Clark has settled down to a tug of war, with the result gravely in doubt.' Both candidates are making hot campaigns. Behind Clark now is the solidified Democratic organization, including even George C. Sikes, and a close result is the anticipation.

The rival candidates for city treasurer and city clerk started out yesterday afternoon on a ward to ward campaign of massmeetings and rallies.

Registration Figures.

The total registration of Chicago after revision is 404,943. This figure shows a net loss of registered voters in the city since the general registration and revision of last October of 4,488.

Complete figures of the condition of the precinct registries were given out last night at the office of the board of election commissioners. In the thirty-five wards of Chicago 36,055 names were erased from the books at the Saturday night revision of the records as shown by the returns completed yesterday. At the single day for registration on March 16 31,562 names were placed on the books.

Cicero added 262 names to its registration on March 16 and deducted 67 last Saturday, leaving a net registration in the town of 1,988.

The Twenty-first ward had the greatest number of erasures on revision night, with the Seventh and Second closely following. The Tenth was the smallest in point of erasures.

Meetings Tonight.

The Republican county committee announce meetings tonight as follows:

Twenty-second ward—Republican headquarters, 291 Larrabee street. Speakers, George A. Oleson, James F. Burns, J. P. Barasa, Arthur Josetti, Isaac N. Powell, and Jacob M. Marks.

Thirty-first ward, St. Martin's church hall, Fifty-ninth street and Princeton avenue. Speakers, Edwin A. Olsen and James A. Kearns, candidate for alderman.

Fifth ward, Kouradt's hall, 3157 Fox street; Brinkman's hall, 44 Fuller street.

LOGICAL ECZEMA CURE INDORSED BY PHYSICIANS

After treating eczema for years as a practically incurable blood disease, the medical world is greatly interested in the discovery that it is not a blood disease at all, but is due to a parasite in the skin itself. This parasite is easily destroyed by the external application of a compound of oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc. This will quickly kill all eczema germs, while soothing and refreshing the skin.

Dr. R. A. Folkerts, of Duluth, Minn., tells of the success in treating patients:

"There was a man here suffering from eczema for the last fourteen years, and I applied the D. D. D. treatment. I also applied it to a man of West Duluth, Minn., who has been suffering with Rheumatism for fourteen years, and Eczema in his feet, and the second treatment in both cases cleared the skin almost absolutely. The first application is a balm, and its soothing effect is beyond expression. I shall never be without it, and shall use it among my patients altogether."

No matter how terribly you suffer from eczema, salt rheum, ringworm, etc., you will feel INSTANTLY soothed and the itch allayed at once when a few drops of this oil of wintergreen compound is applied. The cures all seem to be permanent.

For sale by all druggists.

WARY OF SWITCH WIELDERS

President Schneider Thinks Anti-Flogging Rule Necessary

MIGHT USE ROD TOO FREELY

Replies to Dr. Emil Hirsch Regarding Manual Training Schools.

Otto C. Schneider, president of the Chicago board of education, replied yesterday to the Rev. M. P. Boynton's suggestion that the rule against corporal punishment should be rescinded. He commented also on Dr. Emil G. Hirsch's charge, made in a Sunday sermon, that manual training is neglected in the public schools and that the training of brain workers is made all important.

"No doubt there are children in the schools who need to be soundly spanked, and there are times when a good spanking would do them a deal of good," he said. "But there is more danger in the custom of corporal punishment than there is in the omission of an occasional deserved spanking. The old régime of corporal punishment proved this, and because of its difficulties the present rule against it was made."

Thinks Dr. Hirsch Is Misinformed.

Then, referring to Dr. Hirsch's remarks, he said:

"I have the highest regard for Dr. Hirsch, but I am afraid he has let his zeal run away with his discretion. Chicago has several of the finest manual training and technical high schools that money can obtain. Then, too, out of the 270 schools in our system, 159 have manual training departments, and sixty-one have household arts departments for the girls. All these departments have been put into the schools within the last fifteen years. We have made as much progress as we consistently could do. If Dr. Hirsch can show us how we can get what he desires in a quicker way, and if he can show us how we can raise the money for more extensive improvements and additions we would be greatly obliged to him."

A circular will be issued to all school principals today instructing them to have the pupils pick up the waste paper that is scattered about the grounds and buildings at lunch time.

Compulsory Baths for Girls.

The first of the rubber caps purchased for use in the Washburne school in "scrubbing" girl pupils was tried out yesterday. After the boys had used the shower baths, Miss Mary Ellis, a teacher, conducted a little party of girls to the bathrooms, showed them the rubber cap which would prevent the wetting of the hair, and called for volunteers. The call met with no response, so Miss Ellis took one little girl firmly by the arm, conducted her behind the rubber curtains, adjusted the cap, and gave her the bath, despite protests that the girl's parents considered it "unhealthy" to bathe in the winter. Other caps will be sent to the school this week and then a general campaign of personal cleanliness will begin.

Advice as to Spring Moving.

The board of education will be asked to appropriate $100 for the printing and distribution of 10,000 circulars calling attention to parents to the desirability of moving into less congested school districts if they decide to move on May 1. The appropriation will be asked at the regular meeting tomorrow night. The innovation of "circularizing" the parents of school children in the congested sections of the city will be tried out largely as an experiment.

Every school in Chicago will receive the latter part of the present week an illustrated booklet giving detailed instructions for the observation of Arbor day, April 23, in the schools. The booklet will be sent out by Francis G. Blair, state superintendent of public instruction. It will also contain the proclamation of Gov. Deneen for Arbor day and for Bird day in August.

ADLAI STEVENSON INDISPOSED.

Host of Former Vice President Says Illness Is of a Trivial Character.

Former Vice President Adlai Stevenson is ill at the home of the Rev. Martin Hardin, 793 Washington boulevard. Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson came here several days ago to visit.

CHARGES DROPPED IN LAVENDER CASE

Accuser and Prosecutor Notify Church Court They Cannot Specify Complaints.

WOMAN THREATENS SUIT

May Prosecute the Rev. Mr. Crawford Unless Jury Returns Verdict of Not Guilty.

The case of the Woodlawn Park Methodist Episcopal church against Mrs. Mary A. Lavender, whose alleged confession led to the resignation of the Rev. John D. Leek of the Western Avenue church, has been dropped.

The Rev. E. B. Crawford, to whom the alleged confession was made, and the Rev. W. E. Tilroe, who acted as prosecutor in behalf of the church, signed a statement yesterday telling of their inability to name a time and place of the offense charged against Mrs. Lavender and forwarded the statement to the Rev. A. T. Horn, who presided at the first session of the church trial.

It was the intention of the Rev. Mr. Crawford and the Rev. Mr. Tilroe to have the statement made public at once, but the Rev. Mr. Horn decided to withhold the text until today. In the meantime, it is understood, he has notified the members of the church jury that they are excused from further duty.

Neither the Rev. Mr. Crawford nor the Rev. Mr. Tilroe would discuss their statement in advance of publication. Their decision to drop the prosecution, however, is known to be due to the ruling that they must show time and place of the alleged offense and the general sentiment among prominent church members that the case should be dismissed.

Defense Awaits New Charge.

Throughout the afternoon Mrs. Lavender, the Rev. Mr. Leek, and several of their friends waited at the office of her counsel, Seth F. Crews, to receive a revised copy of the complaint against her. When, after a long wait, Mrs. Lavender's friends found no new complaint forthcoming, inquiry was made of the Rev. Mr. Crawford.

"The case is ended so far as I am concerned," he replied. "Mr. Tilroe and myself have signed a statement and forwarded it to the Rev. Mr. Horn to make public. This will explain everything."

Mrs. Lavender may insist upon another session on Saturday to demand a verdict of not guilty from the jury.

"I am advised that this is my right," she said. "The mere dropping of the prosecution is cowardly. It would leave a cloud upon the name of myself and upon Mr. Leek. We shall insist that if the prosecution admits that a case cannot be made out that I be officially declared guiltless.

May Have to Prosecute.

"If I am given a verdict of not guilty I probably will bring no civil action against the Rev. Mr. Crawford, who admits he betrayed my confession, as he calls it. If, however, they try to sneak out of the matter by simply dropping the case, and possibly say something against me in the statement, I may have to prosecute them to clear myself fully."

Mrs. Lavender, however, regards the action of the prosecution as a great victory. It is said her counsel has advised against a civil action against Mr. Crawford, and that she probably will let the matter drop.

At the first session of her trial Saturday the Rev. Mr. Horn ruled that the original complaint was not sufficiently specific. The prosecution was given forty-eight hours to file an amended complaint.

Judge Opposes Further Action.

The Rev. Mr. Crawford and the Rev. Mr. Tilroe consulted lawyers connected with the church. Among them was Judge Gemmill of the Municipal court, who informed the ministers that Mrs. Lavender had a perfect right to demand that the time and place of her alleged offense be specified.

The judge and other church leaders seen also advised the ministers that they believed the church and public were tired of hearing of the case and that a serious wrong would be done the church by permitting the case to drag along further. The Rev. Mr. Crawford and the Rev. Mr. Tilroe are said to have based their withdrawal of the prosecution largely upon this ground.

Bay was M. F. Cronin of North Creek, the Adirondack guide and driver who brought Mr. Roosevelt on the neck breaking midnight ride from Adelaer to North Creek, N. Y., the night following the death of President McKinley. Vice President Roosevelt was on the heights of Mount Marcy when a dispatch came to come to Buffalo at once.

Cronin broke a record on the rough country road and killed a pair of horses in getting Mr. Roosevelt to North creek, where a special train awaited him.

Delighted to See Guide.

"It's just bully of you to come," said Mr. Roosevelt, shaking Cronin warmly by the hand as the guide stepped forward to meet him at the railroad station. "I am delighted to see you. It's really good to see you again. I want you to come and see me when I get back to America again."

Mr. Roosevelt and his wife were walking under the trees near the house when the local delegation arrived to make the presentation. The ceremony took place in the trophy room of the Roosevelt home, and while the logs crackled and snapped, Mr. Painter presented and read the resolution to Mr. Roosevelt. The former head of the nation replied:

"I am deeply touched by these resolutions, which have been presented to me by my fellow townsmen. My grandfather and my father made Oyster Bay their summer home, and I came here when I was 14 years old. I was not such a good boy as I might have been perhaps, as you will remember, Judge Franklin (addressing one of the party).

Will Tell Them About Trip.

"Nothing would please me more than to give you an account of my stewardship at Washington, but I have not the time. When I come back from Africa nothing will give me greater pleasure than to tell my fellow townsmen about my trip. That is the first thing I shall do."

After the presentation the delegation sat around the Roosevelt hearth for a short while and talked of other days at Oyster Bay.

Mr. Roosevelt received many telegrams tonight from friends in all parts of the country bidding him a fine trip and a safe return.

ROUGH RIDER OUT OF GOVERNORSHIP.

Curry of New Mexico Astounds His Friends by Resigning from Office.

OFFICIAL ORDER CAUSE?

Other Reasons Advanced, but Ballinger's Stay at Home Rule Probable One.

Santa Fé, N. M., March 22.—[Special.]—A life size sensation was sprung upon New Mexico today, when the announcement was made that Gov. George Curry, rough rider executive, had resigned. Curry's closest friends and advisers did not dream of such a thing.

The resignation was precipitated, according to Curry's story, by the refusal of a request made by him yesterday to the secretary of the interior for leave of absence to visit Washington on a mission semi-official in character, but not connected with statehood. Curry interpreted the refusal of this request as a lack of confidence of the president in his administration and forthwith wired his resignation, to take effect on the appointment and qualification of his successor.

Threw Editor from His Office.

Another angle is given to the affair from a recent clash the governor had with a newspaper man here. Some persons say this incident had its bearing on the resignation.

Gov. Curry last Saturday assaulted A. J. Loomis, editor of the Eagle, a Democratic weekly paper, in his private office at the capitol building. Loomis printed an article on statehood and the statehood lobby which Curry considered a reflection upon him. The governor telephoned Loomis to call upon him, and when the latter put in an appearance Gov. Curry, according to report, hit him and then threw him from the office. Loomis and his friends at once started a movement to have Curry removed from office.

An order was issued last Saturday by Secretary of the Interior Ballinger that hereafter governors of territories should stay at home and not be running to Washington at frequent intervals. This was taken by Curry as a direct slap at him, as since his inauguration eighteen months ago he has spent almost a third of his time in the national capital.

May Be General Shakeup.

The resignation has aroused a storm of protest from Curry's friends throughout the territory. Telegrams poured in tonight from every section urging him to remain in office, but Curry announces that he is determined to quit and that under no circumstances will he accept any appointment from President Taft. This disposes of the report that he is to go to the Philippines as a member of the Philippine commission.

Curry says he had intended resigning within the next two months to engage in private business, but the turn of affairs in the last few days hastened this determination. The general belief is that Nathan Jaffa of Roswell, now territorial secretary of state, will be his successor. Jaffa will be recommended for the place by the Republican territorial organization.

There is a feeling, however, that because of the status of politics in the territory and the recent charges made before the senate committee on territories an eastern man may be sent out here by the president with a view to restoring harmony. It also is believed that Curry's resignation will be followed by a general shakeup among the federal officeholders in New Mexico, a good many of whom are holding jobs because they were rough riders.

Washington Thinks Order Cause.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—The resignation of Gov. Curry of New Mexico, following closely on an order issued by the secretary of the interior whereby territorial governors are to request the permission of the department when they desire to leave their posts of duty, has given rise to the general belief here that the order was the cause.

Gov. Curry was in Washington during the greater part of the late congressional session, ostensibly working in the cause of statehood for his territory. He was constantly around the territories committees and the lobbies of the leading hotels. The senate territories committee nipped the statehood movement in the bud in a single session by calling up a mass of charges concerning spurious land deals in New Mexico on the part of large companies which it would have required many weeks to unravel.

Another Reason Is Advanced.

It is understood that Ormsby McHarg, formerly special agent for the department of justice and recently appointed assistant secretary of commerce and labor, furnished the committee with sufficient facts gleaned by him while in New Mexico two years ago for the department to upset the plans of Gov. Curry for the passage of the statehood bill. The senate committee postponed the whole matter and the bill died. In some quarters it is thought that matters presented by McHarg were the direct cause of Curry's resignation.

BRITISH PREMIER DENOUNCES AGITATORS IN NAVAL STRIFE.

Asquith Says There Is No Friction and No Suspicion Between Great Britain and Germany.

LONDON, March 22.—In the course of today's debate in the house of commons on the naval estimates Premier Asquith denounced hotly what he designated "the artificial agitation" that is being engineered in the united kingdom as unpatriotic and unscrupulous, and misrepresenting the situation.

"Not only is there no friction, no unfriendliness, and no suspicion between ourselves and Germany," the premier said, "but there is a mutual sense of what is due to the independence of two great peoples and the recognition that they must, in matters of national defense, have regard for their own interests."

After dealing with the respective standing of the two fleets Mr. Asquith appealed again to the country to believe that the government was determined to maintain intact, unassailable, and unchallenged the naval supremacy upon which depended the freedom and independence of Great Britain.

Reginald McKenna, first lord of the admiralty, said in the house of commons today that the government had no intention of purchasing the Brazilian Dreadnoughts now being built in this country.

The vote of censure of the government proposed by A. J. Balfour, the Opposition leader in the commons, to get the opinion of the house as to whether four or eight Dreadnoughts should be included in this year's naval program, is not likely to come up for debate this week.

Premier Asquith, although he has expressed his desire for discussion at the earliest possible moment, finds it difficult to allot a day for the debate.

Want Buelow to Divulge.

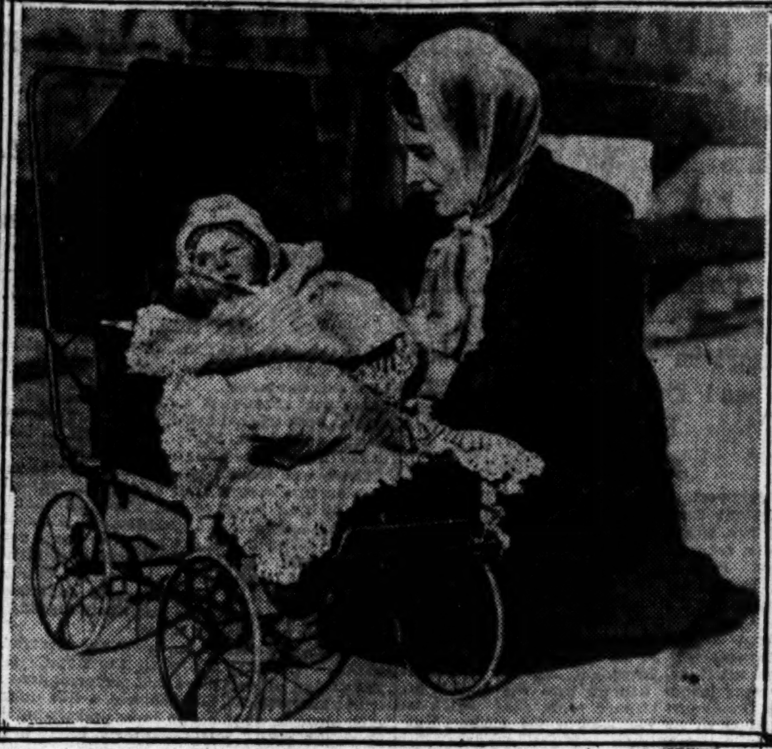
[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, March 22.—The budget committee of the reichstag is trying to force Chancellor von Buelow to give the information it desires regarding the discrepancy between the British and German statements as to the German warship program.

When the committee met today the extraordinary provisions of the naval estimates formed the agenda, but a socialist member immediately moved before the first item which dealt with the building of new ships was taken up that the chancellor should respond to the committee's demand for information.

It was resolved unanimously to postpone the question of new ships until the appropriation for the expenses of the chancellor, including the chancellor's salary, had been discussed and this discussion was fixed for tomorrow. It is believed the chancellor cannot escape attendance in connection with these expenses and then he will be pressed to explain the other matter.

Baby Girl Smiles in New Gocart; Sent on Mother's Appeal to Public.



Mrs. George Oliver and baby Ethel.

Baby Ethel Oliver has a new gocart and yesterday her happy mother took her out into the sunshine and the fresh air for the first time since the beginning of winter.

In answer to Mrs. George Oliver's request in yesterday's TRIBUNE a string of gocarts descended upon the humble home in the afternoon. A good, substantial vehicle, donated by the Jacob Cohn Furniture company, 501 Halsted street, was selected for the baby and the others of the collection were exchanged for food and clothing for Ethel or, at Mrs. Oliver's suggestion, were sent to other needy mothers.

Smiling and happy in her new carriage, the baby girl posed for her picture and, although only 6 months old, she seemed to realize the good fortune that had come to her. Although the family lives in one small room at 934 Lake street, the mother seemed to be cheerful and happy, and so did the father, who has hopes of a permanent job.

"It's been a hard pull this winter," he said. "I have been out of work most of the time and I had to move into this room because I could afford nothing better. It is hard work to keep a family going on what I have been able to earn doing odd jobs in the coal yards and on the railroads. Thanks to THE TRIBUNE and its sympathetic readers, my wife and child will be comfortable for awhile, and perhaps I can get a good job and give them a better home."

One of the answers to the mother's plea was from "A Schoolboy."

"I will send you my baby carriage if it will answer the purpose," he wrote. "It is not much account, but perhaps you can use it. I got rosy cheeks and health in it."

PRINCE DESCRIBES AIR TRIP

Henry of Prussia Tells How He Flew in Zeppelin Ship.

SEES WEAKNESS IN PLANS.

Sky Vessels Cannot Be Used in Warfare for Some Time, He Says.

KIEL, March 22.—Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of Emperor William, gave an illustrated lecture before the Aero club last Saturday concerning his five hour voyage in the Zeppelin airship of Oct. 27 last. This is the first narrative of the personal experiences of the prince to be made public. He expressed himself as skeptical of the usefulness of air craft in the present state of developments for war purposes, owing to lack of knowledge of aerial currents.

The lecture was illustrated by a series of splendid moving pictures, which stirred the emotions of the prince's audience.

"My heart beat fast when first we soared into the air," Prince Henry said. "All sorts of questions crowded in on the brain, keeping me in a continual state of excitement. The ship gradually rose without apparent motion, until I saw the assistants in the balloon shed looking upward.

Noise Damper on Pleasure.

"Then it became suddenly a matter of difficulty to ask questions and receive replies, owing to the deafening noise of the motors and the whirling propellers. I was obliged to shout into the ears of my neighbor, but was unable to make myself understood. This disadvantage must be overcome, as an airship's presence would thus be betrayed a long distance away.

"A dirigible balloon is exactly like a ship in a river; it depends on the currents whether it will reach the goal sooner or later, or not at all."

The royal lecturer described his turn at the wheel, and concluded by saying:

"Although the steering tackle is not ideal, the great ship answered the helm as easily as a steam pinnace."

After a picturesque description of the easy landing on the surface of the water, which was effected absolutely without shock, the prince went on to draw conclusions from his experiences.

Air Currents Cause Trouble.

"The question of reaching a certain point by means of a dirigible airship in favorable weather," he said, "may rightly be deemed to have been solved, and astonishment is aroused at the simple technical means employed. I am skeptical, however, whether airships can be considered as forming part of our present means of transport or whether they would be useful for war purposes. The air currents have not been made the subject of close research, while airships are not yet able to make much progress against even moderate winds. To overcome these difficulties more powerful motors and bigger airships are needed.

"The altitude also presents limitations owing to the fact of the air becoming rarer. Because of this the propeller does not have the same force in the same time in the higher regions and the sparking of the motor is difficult owing to lack of oxygen.

"The development of dirigible balloons presents the most varied problems. It is a national task to further aeronautics and strive for their development so that Germany may not remain behind other nations."

ROME HAS A TRUNK MYSTERY.

Body of Russian Is Believed to Have Been Locked in Chest for Twenty-three Days.

ROME, March 22.—The body of a Russian, Vladimir Tarasoff, was found in a trunk today in a boarding house in the center of the city. The body had been locked up in the trunk, it is believed, for twenty-three days. A medical examination indicated that the man, who was about 30 years of age, had been given a narcotic and placed in the trunk, there dying of suffocation. There is no trace of the murderers, who are thought to have been two Russians who visited him shortly before his disappearance.

PARISIAN STRIKE IS PHŒNIX LIKE.

Though Apparently Dead Hotheads Revive Its Ashes and Delay Final Action.

ONE TALKS 'REVOLUTION.'

Militants Seek to Force the Government to a Public Confession of Defeat.

PARIS, March 22.—The chamber of deputies, by a vote of 345 to 138 today again sustained the government's position with reference to the strike of the postal employés and several members of the strike committee consider the government's terms amply satisfactory. The hotheads at a big meeting this afternoon, however, succeeded in postponing final action until tomorrow.

Not content with winning all the substantial points for which they contended, including the elimination of Undersecretary Simyan, whose retirement it is understood is only a question of hours, the militant strike leaders want to force the government to a public confession of defeat by the dismissal of Simyan, who is extremely obnoxious to the state employés.

Political Foes Make Capital.

One of the speakers at the meeting threatened that the movement would be turned into a "revolutionary strike" unless satisfaction was given on this point.

The political opponents of the government are making the most of its predicament. M. Gauthier, the Nationalist deputy, in the chamber during the afternoon taunted the Radicals with having raised up a power before which the government and a supine majority are now cowering.

The Journal des Debats considers the outcome a triumph for revolutionary unionism and declares that the government has capitulated because it realizes its impotency to accept battle.

Clemenceau Won't Make Promises.

The strike leaders had several conferences during the day with the ministers. Premier Clemenceau met a deputation and said the government would undertake a settlement in a conciliatory spirit, but it must refuse to bind itself with promises.

The deputation was particularly anxious for the reinstatement of Grangier and Simonet, but the premier would not accede to this. These men were the leaders of the strike in 1906, when they indulged in inflammatory and insulting speeches against the government. They were dismissed from the service on this account.

PRIEST IS EXCOMMUNICATED.

Supreme Congregation of the Holy Office Acts in Case of Father Murri.

ROME, March 22.—The supreme congregation of the holy office has issued a major excommunication against Father Romolo Murri, leader of the Catholic Democrats, who was elected to the chamber of deputies at the last general elections as a Christian Democrat.

The excommunication deprives the priest of all ecclesiastical communion, being equivalent to an anathema, which is pronounced upon the greatest offenders only.

Father Murri was the first priest to enter parliament after the fall of the temporal power, but on his formal excommunication he will not even be allowed to wear ecclesiastical robes.

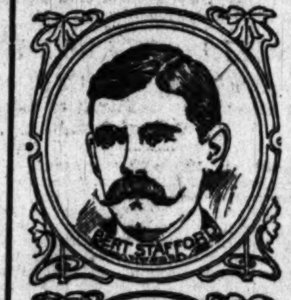
An Awful Calamity.

Nervous diseases are increasing at such an alarming rate that they threaten to become a national calamity. Never before have nervous prostration, paralysis, apoplexy, heart failure, and insanity been so common. The daily press tells of scores of prominent persons stricken down, while the similar fate of thousands less prominent are known only to their mourning friends.

These are such awful warnings that neglect of the early symptoms of nerve weakness is almost criminal. Anyone who can't sleep well, has headache, weakness, or any form of nerve depression should take Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer at once. Don't trifle with your health—next week may be too late.

If your case has reached a serious stage perhaps bordering on collapse, there is greater need of immediate action in taking Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer and being restored to perfect health. This is no boastful promise, it's the verdict of nearly every one who has ever used it during its sixteen years of existence. It's a perfect cure for all forms of nervous troubles and is without alcohol, morphine, or other harmful or habit forming drugs, therefore may be taken without fear of any bad effect.

Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer gives a perfect night's rest and during sleep the entire nervous system is revitalized and made strong and vigorous. Buy a bottle from your druggist and if it does not do all we promise tell us and we will gladly give you your dollar back. We don't fear such a result—you needn't. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer don't disappoint nerve sick people, it cures promptly and permanently.



MRS E. EMMONS

Three Bottles Cured Him.

I had three strokes of paralysis, causing me to lose the use of my entire right side, also affecting my stomach so that it would retain but a small amount of bread and milk; any rich food would throw me into violent fits. My physician told me he had done all he could, and if I found anything that would relieve me, to use it. A friend who knew of a similar case benefited by Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer, advised me to try it. I have used three bottles of it, and am now able to be up and walk around. My leg has regained its use, my stomach is able to retain food, and I eat what I wish without injury. The fits have entirely stopped, and I am gaining in health and strength every day. I consider that Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer has saved my life, and it is impossible for me to praise it enough. Bert Stafford, Newton, Mich.

Her Life Despaired of.

I was troubled for years with nervousness and heart trouble. Four years ago I had a severe nervous shock that left me in such a condition that my life was despaired of. I could get no relief from the doctors or the great many heart and nerve medicines that I tried. I saw an advertisement of Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer and decided to try it. I noticed a great improvement after using a few doses, which continued the longer I used it. We heartily recommended it to all our friends, and they have used it with equally good results.

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product, has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the appoval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed, because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States, in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

ASKS KETCHEL TO FIGHT LANGFORD.

Proposed Match Between Johnson and the Middleweight Is Off.

FORFEIT IS NOT POSTED.

Champion Says He Has Nothing to Gain by Meeting Grand Rapids Man.

"If Stanley Ketchel wants to fight me he must first beat Sam Langford. Then I will give him a match."

In these words World's Champion Jack Johnson brought to a close his conference with Willus Britt, manager of the middleweight champion, and knocked out all chance of a battle between the two.

There has been a lot of discussion among fight fans about the proposed battle. Last Friday Johnson and Ketchel had a talk over the wire and then it seemed as if the match might be made. The two agreed to post a $5,000 forfeit, which was to go as a side bet, the money to be up at noon on Saturday. Britt posted $1,000, but failed to put up the remaining $4,000 at the stipulated time. Johnson then called the match off.

Britt's Mission Fails.

Willus Britt came to town yesterday in the hope of signing articles with the champion, and the two met in the presence of newspaper men in the office of a local theater. A heated argument which lasted an hour followed before Johnson and Britt shook hands and parted company.

In speaking of Ketchel, Johnson said: "At one time Ketchel drew the color line, and this is the first time that I have heard of him wanting to fight a colored man. The only reason he wants to fight me is because I am champion. If I were not champion do you think he would give me a fight? If he wants to fight me badly I will act as Langford's manager, and my $5,000 which I posted last week goes as forfeit and side bet money for Sam. If he beats Langford I'll fight him. I firmly believe there is no promoter who would guarantee a purse for a fight with Ketchel. The people simply would say he is a big fellow and ought to beat him. Then, again, what have I got to win by fighting Ketchel? I have everything to lose and nothing to win. With him it is the other way. If I whip him he still is middleweight champion. What I say is final."

No Stock in Southern Offer.

In regard to a purse of $100,000 offered by a club in Chattanooga, Tenn., for a match between Johnson and Jeffries or Ketchel, Jack said: "I do not put any stock in the offer. I received a telegram today, but I would dislike fighting south of the Mason and Dixon line. If I beat a white man down there I doubt whether I would be able to get out of the ring alive. I was born and raised in the south, but prefer not to fight there. If they put up the money and sign articles with the other party, then I suppose I will have to fight."

James J. Corbett came to bat yesterday, saying he would fight Johnson for the $50,000 purse offered by McIntosh if Jeffries does not accept. The Australian's representative here with the fight pictures was asked whether the purse held good for any other fighter than Jeffries, and answered that it only applied to the "Boilermaker." Johnson was asked about such a match and said: "I wish it applied to Corbett, but I prefer to fight Jeffries."

No Match in Near Future.

With the Ketchel match declared off, there is little likelihood of Johnson fighting until he hears definitely from Jeffries. The champion has booked many theatrical engagements, and figures he can make more money in this way than he can fighting men who would not draw large purses. In his own words, "Jack Johnson is after the money and while I'm champion I'm going to get it."

JEFFRIES STILL ON THE FENCE.

Boilermaker Thanks Tennessee Capitalists for Offer of Big Purse, but Won't Talk Fight.

Boston, Mass., March 22.—[Special.]—In reply to the offer made by Mr. Forsener, representing Tennessee capitalists, Jim Jeffries gave out the following statement tonight: "I want to thank Mr. Forsener for his kind offer of $100,000 for a fight between Johnson and myself. I maintain the stand I have taken right along that I will not fight Johnson or anybody else until I am in condition to deliver the goods."

When told Johnson had called off his match with Ketchel, but was willing to leave his $5,000 forfeit up for thirty days for the "boilermaker" to cover, Jeffries said: "That's just what I expected," he replied, not referring to the last defiance at himself, but only of the middleweight who took Johnson's offer of a match in good faith. "I thought it funny he would ask so much money on anything. I don't believe he would even bet that much he is alive. Britt and Ketchel were foolish to bank for a moment that he was acting on the square."

"But you can put up $5,000 right away and make him forfeit if he crawls," was suggested.

"Tell him to go and throw the money in the Chicago river or out in the lake. He can't force me and hurry me. When I get ready to talk I'll have plenty to say," snapped the big fellow.

Jeff began a two weeks' engagement at the local theater today. He was given big receptions at both performances.

"CYCLONE JOHNNY" A ZEPHYR.

Sycamore Fighter and Adam Ryan Are "Pegged" at by Enraged Fans at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 22.—[Special.]—The biggest boxing fiasco of the season took place at the Washington Sporting club tonight, when "Cyclone Johnny" Thompson and Adam Ryan put up such a poor exhibition that the crowd by hissing and throwing missiles at the principals forced Referee O'Brien to stop the bout early in the sixth round. The crowd was aroused in the fourth round and commenced to throw things at the fighters. The fifth round was even worse, the men merely wrestling each other around the ring and missing blows. The clamor was so great in the sixth that the manager applied the closure.

BURKE BESTS JACK SULLIVAN.

Brooklyn Middleweight Outpunches the Boston Fighter in Rough Ten Round Bout at Marathon A. C.

New York, March 22.—"Sailor" Burke, the Brooklyn middleweight fighter, won from Jack (Twin) Sullivan of Boston in a rough ten round contest before the Marathon Athletic club of Brooklyn tonight. Burke did all the forcing, and although Sullivan was a better ring general the local man landed the cleaner and harder punches. Sullivan marred the bout by continuous holding, but had he stood his ground he undoubtedly would have been worsted before the ten rounds. Nearly 4,000 people saw the contest.

CONSIDINE'S CONDITION GRAVE.

Well Known Prize Fight Promoter Reported to Be Dying in a New York Hotel.

New York, March 22.—The condition of John Considine, one of the most widely known prize fight promoters in this country, who is reported to be dying at the Hotel Metropole, is regarded as extremely serious. It is said that last Friday he was suddenly stricken with a hemorrhage of the brain, but the news was not made known to his friends until today.

M'FARLAND READY FOR BOUT.

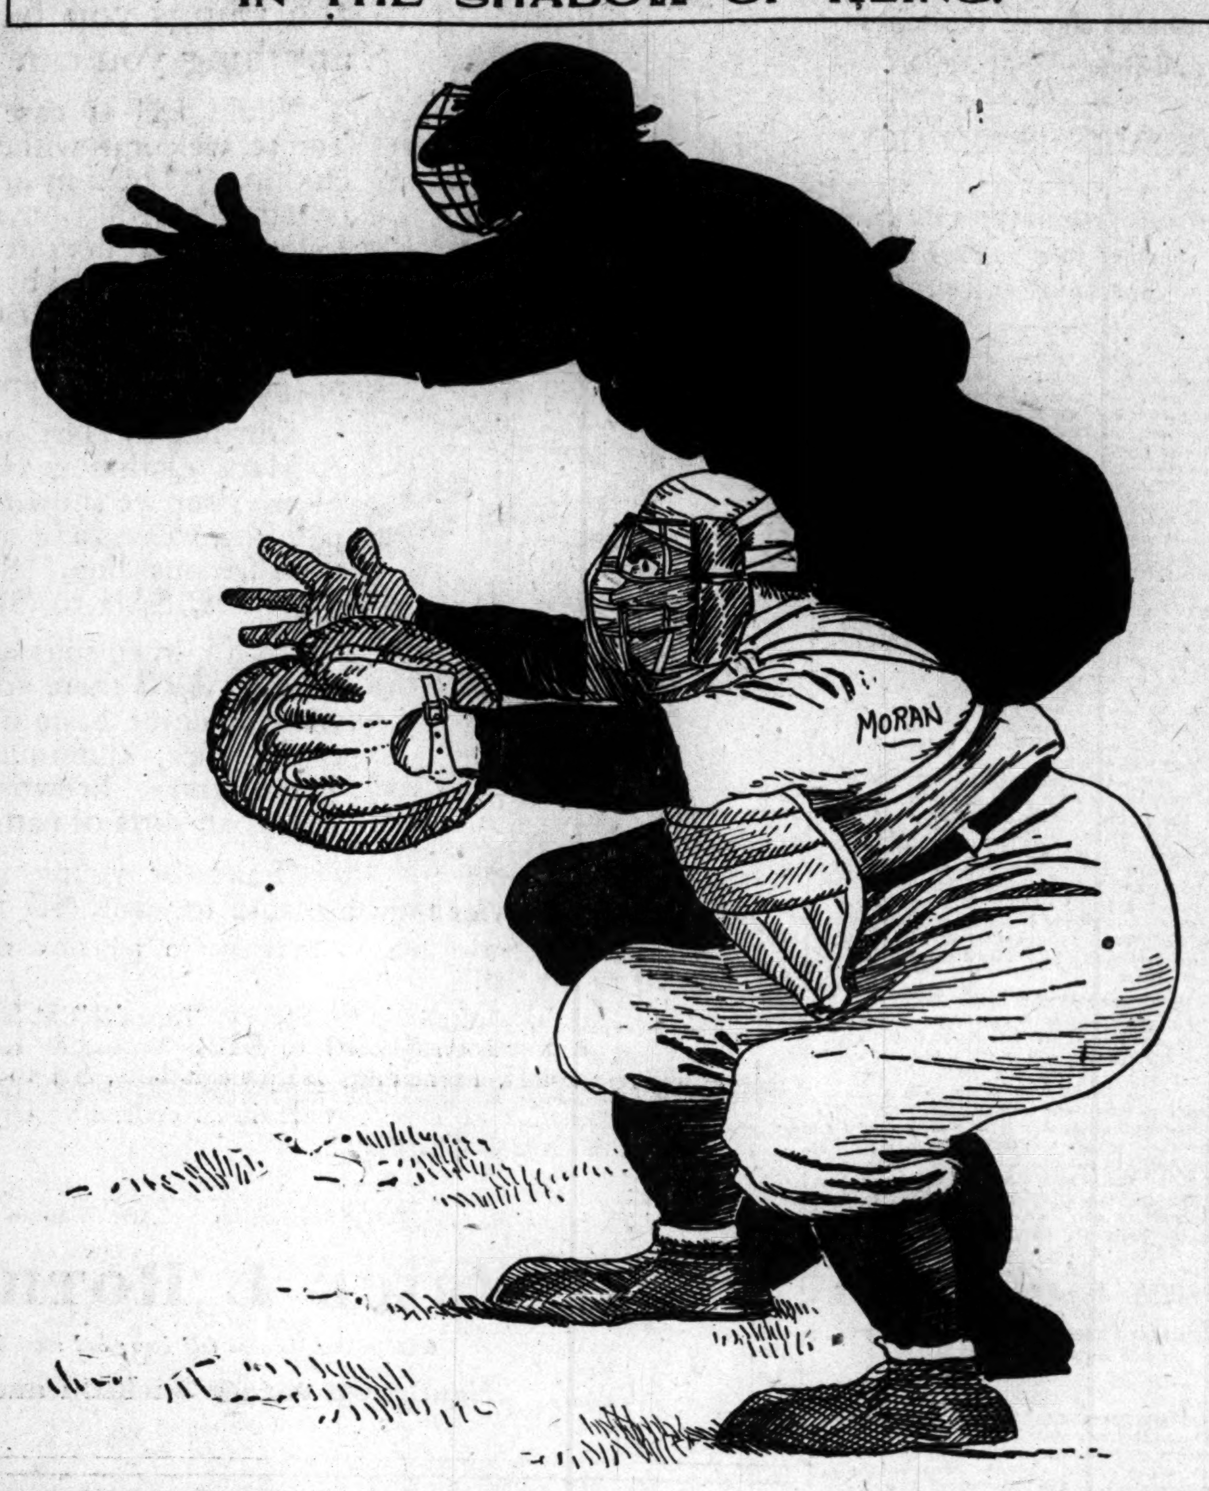
Packey to Meet Leach Cross in a Ten Round Fight at New York Club Tonight.

New York, March 22.—Packey McFarland, Chicago's crack lightweight, and Leach Cross of New York will clash in a ten round bout at the Fairmont A. C. tomorrow night. Both men are in good shape.

Frank Gotch Off for Iowa.

Before leaving for Iowa yesterday Frank Gotch stated that two weeks' work will fit him for his match April 14 with Yussiff Mahmout. Some of the champion's friends think he is too heavy now and will have to work hard in order to stand any chance with the Turk.

IN THE SHADOW OF KLING.



BILLINGS TO SHIP ABROAD

Chicago Reinsman to Invade Europe with String of Trotters.

INITIAL STOP AT BERLIN.

Lou Dillon, Fleming Boy, and Other Famous Speeders to Make Trip.

Cleveland, O., March 22.—[Special.]—Announcement was made here today that C. K. G. Billings, the Chicago capitalist and famous amateur reinsman, will send to Europe this season his entire stable of trotters. Horses are now quartered in Billings' private stable in this city. They will be shipped during the first week of April, and will be sent direct to Berlin, where final preparation for their European performances will be given at the West End track.

World Beaters in List.

Billings will follow later in his yacht, the Vanadis. The stable will be in charge of Billings' racing manager, Charles Tanner of Cleveland and will consist of the following horses:

Lou Dillon, 1:58½, ch. m., by Sidney Dillon.
W. J. Lewis, 2:06¼, b. g., by Norvall.
Tempus Fugit, 2:07¼, ch. g., by Mark Time.

This is not only the largest as well as the fastest collection ever sent across the Atlantic, but it marks the first attempt of an American to send a string of high class trotters to European tracks. Billings will consent to have them appear at some of the race meetings, but only for exhibition purposes, and for no greater award than a ribbon, just as he did in this country with his extensive stable of matinée horses a few years ago. He never permits his horses to be shown for compensation.

Captured 114 Records.

During the few years that Billings matinéed horses in this country he captured no less than 114 world's records, some of which were even better than the best professional records, and nearly all made with himself in the wagon or in the saddle.

Prominent among these was the first mile in two minutes to a wagon, the world's record behind a team of trotters, The Monk and Equity being driven in 2:07¾ to pole. He is an expert in the saddle and enjoys the distinction of having ridden Charley Mc in 2:14¼, the fastest mile ever made by either amateur or professional.

Lou Dillon, the world's champion trotter, has been taken out of retirement for the trip. She is now in grand condition and, being absolutely sound, it is certain that she will equal if not exceed her sensational form of 1904-'05. She will be ridden. When driven in Europe she will be the first world's champion trotter to leave America.

W. J. Lewis held the world's record for the fastest three heats ever trotted in a race by a gelding. Fleming Boy, one of the largest money winners of 1908, holds the world's record for the fastest stallion in its first season on the turf.

After the horses have been keyed up at Berlin they will go to Russia. Later they will be seen at Budapest and Vienna. Charles Tanner has been in complete charge of Billings' turf affairs for several years, and has brought all horses to a point where they were enabled to make more than 100 world's records.

MAROON TEAMS OUT OF DOORS.

Stagg's Regulars Beat Reserves in Scrub Baseball Game, Five to Two—Athletes Jog Over Track.

Director Stagg gave his baseball candidates a double dose of work yesterday and announces double practice out of doors for the remainder of the week. Although the weather proved a bit cold, the men showed snappy work and the Midway coach declared the workout was promising considering the earliness of the season.

In a five inning contest the regulars, with Page on the slab and Stangle as backstop, defeated the reserves, 5 to 2. Sunderland, who did the twirling for the reserves, showed class and let the opposing batters down with three hits. Steinbrecher, catcher for the second team, also distinguished himself by his work. Score:

Regulars ....0 2 1 0 2—5
Reserves ....0 1 0 1 0—2

Batteries—Page and Stangle; Sunderland and Steinbrecher.

Capt. Lingle and his bunch of quartermilers also appeared for the first time for outdoor work clad in baseball uniforms. Nothing but easy jogging was indulged in, but Stagg announced he would begin time trials before the end of the week.

Crowley, who won the high hurdles in the A. A. indoor meet Saturday night, took a few dashes over the hurdles. Maroon fans believe Crowley will prove a wonder over the sticks on the outdoor track, and it is almost certain he will be picked to represent the Midway at the Pennsylvania games on April 24. Jacobs declared yesterday that he would begin vaulting today. Last spring Jacobs won a place at the Quaker games, and he is counted on to capture first honors in his event this year.

VICTORY FOR JOCKEY CLUB

Kentucky State Racing Commission Is Declared Illegal.

JUDGE HARBESON SO RULES.

Regulation of Running Tracks Only Declared to Be Class Legislation.

Lexington, Ky., March 22.—[Special.]—The Latonia Jockey club won a notable victory today when Judge Harbeson handed down a decision in the Kenton Circuit court declaring as unconstitutional the law creating the state racing commission.

This decision was due to the fact that the law creating the commission gave that body power to regulate only the running tracks of the state, when in fact trotting races come under the same legal category, according to Judge Harbeson, and that therefore the law was class legislation. Judge Harbeson held that the law to be valid must give the racing commission the same authority over trotting and running races.

Judge Harbeson held, however, that the contention of the Latonia Jockey club that the track could not be run profitably without the operation of bookmakers made no difference in the law of the case, as that feature of the contention was purely a gambling privilege and not a property right, and can never be within the protection of the constitution so as to make it of legislative control.

The court before passing upon the question of constitutionality of the racing commission act decided in favor of the racing commission on several points, notably the question that the state had the right to control the racing business by police power and to pass rules regulating race betting that would even go to the extent of confiscating the race tracks by rendering their business wholly unprofitable.

Col. Milton Young, the only member of the commission now in Lexington, said tonight the case would be carried to the Court of Appeals and efforts made to get a decision before time for spring racing to begin in Kentucky. Horsemen generally are pleased with the decision, as it means, if sustained, the reinstatement of the bookmakers and the elimination of the parimutuel system of betting.

Vice Chairman E. F. Clay has instructed Secretary Rouse, now in Washington, to return to Kentucky and call a meeting of the state racing commission for the earliest possible date to consider the decision rendered by Judge Harbeson today. Former Gov. Beckham, the commission's attorney, will take the case to the Court of Appeals, and expects a decision by May 1.

TWO SECONDS FOR AMERICANS.

Belmont's Historic and Whitney's Seacliff Get Places in Races on English Track.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 22.—American owners secured two seconds in today's opening program at Lincoln, Belmont's Historic in the Carholme plate and Whitney's Seacliff in another event. There were no American representatives in the Lincolnshire handicap.

MANY SCRATCHES AT OAKLAND.

Heavy Condition of Track Is the Cause—Fordello, Which Is Plunged On, Is a Loser.

San Francisco, Cal., March 22.—The track at Oakland was muddy today owing to the heavy rain of Sunday night, and as a result there were a number of scratches. Fordello was plunged on in the fourth. He was away none too well and Gemmell beat him less than a length in a drive. Ace of Diamonds was bid up from $200 to $600 by M. S. Caine, but H. G. Bedwell retained him. Summaries:

First race, ¾ mile—Ace of Diamonds, 113 [Taplin], 11 to 5, won; Little Jane, 113 [Ross], 18 to 1, second; Hazlet, 118 [Butler], 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:15 4-5. Light House, Toll Box, Evelyn K., Banthel, and Tennessee Boy ran.

Second race, 7-16 mile—Old Mexico, 107 [Sandy], 9 to 1, won; Turret, 104 [Scoville], 16 to 5, second; Fire, 110 [Walsh], 9 to 2, third. Time, :42 1-5. Transatlantic, Glenna Deane, Warfare, Nautical, and King of Yolo ran.

Third race, 1 mile and 50 yards—Yankee Daughter, 98 [Coburn], 3 to 2, won; Coppers, 107 [Butler], 8 to 1, second; Cuernavaca, 106 [Sandy], 30 to 1, third. Time, 1:48. Yakima Belle, Romanoff, Sake, Wap, Saintida, Silver Knight, Patriotic, Eckersall, and Tea Tray II. ran.

Fourth race, 11-16 mile—Gemmell, 110 [Scoville], 4 to 1, won; Fordello, 107 [Lee], 9 to 10, second; Silver Stocking, 103 [Taplin], 13 to 1, third. Time, 1:09 1-5. St. Francis, Bucolic, and Security ran.

Fifth race, 1 mile and 50 yards—Rubric, 112 [Sandy], 7 to 1, won; St. Avon, 105 [Taplin], 7 to 1, second; Steel, 97 [Clark], 11 to 2, third. Time, 1:46 4-5. Banposal, Smiley Metzner, Erbet, Mauretania, and Import ran.

Sixth race, 1 mile and 70 yards—Ketchemike, 108 [Butler], 18 to 5, won; Belwether, 108 [Sandy], 4 to 5, second; Ocean Shore, 109 [Coburn], 11 to 2, third. Time, 1:47 2-5. Netting, Rather Royal, Marwood, and Joe Nealon ran.

NO MORE EXHIBITION GAMES

American League Teams Must Not Meet Out of Season.

BAN JOHNSON ISSUES ORDER

President Says Practice Contests Are Violation of Spirit of Rules.

The Detroit and Washington teams of the American league will play no more exhibition games with each other or with any other team in that league, according to orders issued yesterday by President Ban Johnson. The prohibition did not specify these clubs, but was issued to all club owners in the circuit. The Tigers and Senators are the only teams which have offended, however, and they played two games last week in Texas. Baseball law specifically forbids exhibition games between clubs of the same league during the championship season. President Johnson holds it a violation of the spirit of this rule to engage in exhibition affairs of that character at any time.

Reports from the Pacific coast, in which Cal Ewing is made to complain that the Pacific leaguers are not getting the promised support of the forces of organized baseball in their fight against the California outlaw league, prompted Mr. Johnson to unbelt a little information regarding what the majors had done to help out the loyal clubs on the coast.

"The major leagues already have taken away from the California outlaws the major league players in that league," he said. "We have induced the Sacramento club to break away from the outlaws and join the Pacific Coast league, and Mr. Graham of that club is about the only club owner on the coast with whom we are able to keep in touch. Mr. Ewing has handicapped the work by failing to send us a list of the outlaw clubs' players out there. He promised me when he was here he would attend to that at once. He has promised me twice since then to send the list, but we have received none, so have been unable to take up the cases of those players.

"Comiskey has promised to help the Sacramento club with an outfielder from his team, Taylor of Boston has given that club a pitcher, and Garry Herrmann will give it a first baseman. Seems to me we have given the coast people considerable assistance. It would have been more if Mr. Ewing had kept his promise regarding the list of players. The only request we have refused was one that the major leagues assume an obligation of $18,000 to keep the outlaw league out of San Francisco. That did not look reasonable, as the best way to break the outlaws is to let them break themselves with expensive propositions of that sort. As a matter of fact, the California outlaw league does not rank with the Chicago semi-pros, and the situation out there could be handled more easily if Mr. Ewing would stay on the job."

RACE RESULTS AT LOS ANGELES.

First race, ¾ mile—Ben Stone, 105 [T. Rice], 7 to 1, won; Miss Delaney, 105 [C. Henry], 12 to 5, second; Frontenac, 108 [Kennedy], 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:16. Quagga, Our Anna, Toupee, Aucassin, Tarona, and Redondo ran.

Second race, 7-16 mile—La Petite, 105 [Kennedy], even, won; Placide, 105 [McGee], 15 to 1, second; Camera, 108 [Musgrave], 15 to 1, third. Time, :43. Lillium, Cassie Argregor, Lady Paret, and Dare Do It ran.

Third race, ¾ mile—Lightwool, 107 [V. Powers], 1 to 7, won; Pedro, 109 [Preston], 6 to 1, second; Orello, 107 [Butwell], 75 to 1, third. Time, 1:27 3-5. Hannis, Diemenges, and Duchess of Montebello ran.

Fourth race, 1 mile—Norbitt, 100 [McGee], 9 to 20, won; Edwin T. Fryer, 104 [Lindhorst], 10 to 1, second; Green Seal, 104 [C. Henry], 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:42. Critic ran.

Fifth race, 1 1-16 miles—Buelere, 109 [V. Powers], 11 to 5, won; Star Thistle, 103 [Kennedy], 3 to 2, second; Bucket Brigade, 108 [T. Rice], 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:57 3-5. Captain Burnett, Little Moz, and Needful ran.

Sixth race, 13-16 mile—Albion H., 110 [Musgrave], 4 to 1, won; Agnes Virginia, 110 [McGee], 7 to 2, second; Gene Wood, 107 [T. Rice], 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:24 3-5. Paumonok, Pinaud, Diamond Noz, Woodthorpe, and Hogarth ran.

Seventh race, ¾ mile—Inclement, 112 [Preston], 8 to 1, won; Servicence, 107 [Williams], 25 to 1, second; Fundamental, 112 [Musgrave], 18 to 5, third. Time, 1:15 3-5. Shapdale, Recluse, Uncle Jim, Sir Barry, Anderson, Billy Bodemer, Otillo, Rey Del Dinero, and Bill Eaton ran.

LYLES GETS HEAVY SENTENCE.

Racetrack Promoter Is Given Six Months and Fine of $350 for Violating Locke Law.

New Orleans, La., March 22.—[Special.]—W. W. Lyles, alleged promoter of the City park race tracks' "test" case, was given a heavy sentence today.

Judge Baker sentenced the accused to six months in the parish prison and a fine of $350. In the default of the payment of the fine he must serve an additional four months. Lyles will fight the case in the Supreme court.

He was granted a suspensive appeal to that tribunal and gave $1,000 bond. The appeal is made returnable on April 12.

CUB BOSS JOINS HIS WARRIORS.

President Murphy Reaches Shreveport, but Is Silent on Kling Case.

TO TALK WITH CHANCE.

Champions Get Ideal Weather and Practice Hard for Five Hours.

Shreveport, La., March 22.—[Special.]—President Charles W. Murphy of the Cubs and Mrs. Frank Chance, wife of the peerless leader, reached Shreveport near midnight tonight. President Murphy refused to discuss the retirement of John Kling, the Cub catcher, until after a conference with Manager Chance. This will be held early tomorrow and it is expected that some official statement will be made at that time. It is expected that President Murphy and the peerless leader will go into the details of the Cincinnati billiard room deal, which is believed to be responsible for Kling's announced retirement.

The Cubs had another day of ideal weather and improved their opportunity. Manager Chance had his althetes on the diamond both morning and afternoon and gave them five hours of the hardest practice they have yet indulged in.

It was work from the time the park was reached until they departed and no department of the game was overlooked. He had Pfiester and Kroh fielding bunts until both were tired enough to drop.

"Doc" Semmens as Wrestler.

In the afternoon a wrestling tournament was arranged with "Doc" Semmens, the trainer, in the rôle of victim. "Doc" was slammed on the ground with sufficient force to jar every bone in his body. He came up smiling and with the announcement that he had no fear, since his celebrated cream was sufficient to restore him to perfect physical condition in a night.

The morning practice was so severe that the manager called off the game arranged for the afternoon between the Cubs and Bears.

Another regular game between the Cubs and the Shreveport Pirates will be played tomorrow afternoon. Manager Chance will use his regular lineup, with Kane at third base and Browne in center field.

Steinfeldt to Return.

Two absentees are expected every day. Steinfeldt wrote from Fort Worth, Tex., that the condition of his mother was much improved, and that he would return today or tomorrow.

Manager Chance has not heard directly from Joe Tinker, but it is expected that the shortstop will report within a few days.

AMATEUR LEAGUES IN ACTION.

Al Tearney and George McGurn Are Reelected Presidents of Two Local Baseball Organizations.

The Amateur Managers' league held its annual meeting last night and unanimously reelected President Al Tearney for the ninth time, the election resulting as follows: President, A. R. Tearney; vice presidents, N. T. Kelley, Fred Weinschenker, and M. J. Simpson; secretary, W. D. Foy; recording secretary, R. B. Smith; financial secretary, J. F. Mungovan; treasurer, Gus Hendricks; sergeant at arms, J. Zahnen; chairman board of directors, T. F. White.

The officers chosen by the Umpire's association were: President, T. F. White; vice president, Con Daly; secretary, Frank Kuhn; treasurer, Gus Hendricks. It was decided that all umpires belonging to the association adopt a uniform suit.

At the annual meeting of the Intercity Baseball association George McGurn was reëlected president for the eighth consecutive time, and the other officers chosen were as follows: Vice presidents, John Rogers and John Moss; secretary, Nick Keil; treasurer, Jack Keary; sergeant at arms, L. Sternheim; chairman board of directors, Mort Scanlon.

One game was booked for next Sunday in each organization. Loeffler's Cubs and the Yale A. C. are to play at Forty-third court and Thirty-first street, and the Union Giants agreed to meet the Kenosha Lake Shore league team at Artesian park.

ED REULBACH PITCHES A GAME.

Loses Practice Contest to De Paul University, 7 to 2—Cub Twirler Is "Some" Hitter.

The De Paul university nine defeated the second team yesterday, 7 to 2, in the first game of the season.

Ed Reulbach, the Cub twirler, pitched the entire nine innings for the second squad and allowed six hits. He passed one man and struck out ten. He also was there with the stick, making two singles and a three bagger out of five times up. "Big Ed" did not let out much, preferring to practice control.

After the game he claimed he felt better at this time of the year than he has since he has been playing professional ball. He has been working with the college players for three weeks and will continue to practice with them until his wife recovers from a recent illness.

BANCROFT INJURED BY A FALL.

Cincinnati's Manager Will Be Laid Up for Some Time as Result of Tumble Out of Bus.

Cincinnati, O., March 22.—[Special.]—Business Manager Bancroft of the Reds is reported to be in a hospital at Chattanooga, Tenn., suffering from severe cuts and bruises about the head, the result of a fall from a bus early this afternoon. "Banny" left Cincinnati several days ago for Hot Springs to arrange for training grounds for the Red colts, and was en route to the Chattanooga ball ground, where they played this afternoon, when the accident occurred. A dispatch received late tonight indicated that he will be laid up for some time.

Athletics Quit New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., March 22.—The Philadelphia American league baseball club left here tonight for Mobile, where they will wind up their ante-season practice. The Cleveland Americans arrived here tonight from Mobile to remain for three weeks.

Newark, 8; Highlanders, 6.

Macon, Ga., March 22.—The Newark club of the Eastern league defeated the New York Americans today, 8 to 6.

FENCING HONORS TO WALDBOTT

National Champion Wins Eight Straight Bouts in State Division of Tourney at I. A. C.

Nineteen contestants participated in the preliminaries of the Illinois division of the Amateur's Fencing League of America at the I. A. C. last night. They were divided into two squads of nine and ten men respectively. In each squad the three securing the highest total of victories were selected to compete in the semi-finals, which will be held Wednesday night.

In the first squad Waldbott, the national champion, won the eight bouts in which he was entered. Knox and Eckhart tied for second with six victories each.

In the second squad Sauer and Freibert tied for first place with eight wins and one defeat each. Griene secured third honors with seven victories and two defeats.

Evanston "Y" Going to Detroit.

The Evanston Y. M. C. A. basketball team will leave for Detroit tomorrow night to take part in the A. A. U. championship series there. Physical Director J. W. Bixby believes his team will win, as the Chicago Central Y. M. C. A. team is not entered. Saturday the members of the Evanston association subscribed $100, and the game at night between the Reds and a team of old timers increased the amount to $125, which is to be used to defray the expenses to Detroit.

Weston Reaches Syracuse.

Syracuse, N. Y., March 22.—Edward Payson Weston, the veteran pedestrian, reached Syracuse tonight, having covered the fifty-five miles from Utica in 17 hours and 55 minutes, the longest day's march since leaving New York. A delegation of citizens met the walker just outside the city limits and accompanied him to a church, where he delivered a lecture.

May Sutton May Cross Pond.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 22.—[Special.]—May Sutton will go to England if the British women refuse to come here for the tennis matches.

RAIN KEEPS SOX INACTIVE

Most of Regulars Spend Unprofitable Day at the Races.

JAKEY ATZ A WISE FISH.

Dope on Youngsters Puts Flanagan and Spencer in Discard.

BY HEK.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 22.—[Special.]—There was no outdoor athletic activity in Los Angeles today. In the first place no game was scheduled, and, in the second, it would have been impossible to pull one off as the equinoctial storm, which set in Saturday night, was not quite through.

There was a plan on foot to make an excursion to Catalina, but as the sea was uneven it was declared off. Toward noon a visit to the races was suggested. This did not appeal to the entire party and only seventeen went. Ted Sullivan lacked initiative and Frank Isbell had a date at the ostrich farm. Frank has become deeply engrossed in ostriches and is thinking about signing a couple for his Wichita team.

Jakey Atz was the wise fish of the racetrack bunch. He is there with the dope. His knowledge of pedigrees and performances is truly marvelous. He galloped a five dollar gold piece through seven races and wound up $8 to the good. Pat Dougherty broke even to the sheets, but lost expenses. Martin Walsh worked six furlongs from one end of the grand stand to the other. When asked on the way home how he did he answered:

Smith Poor Mathematician.

"I didn't have 'nothin' to do nothin' with." Frank Smith tried to tout his wife all afternoon, but she would not fall for it. He had a good thing in Light Wool. It was a 1 to 7 shot and it walked in. Frank still thinks that if he had put up $10 he would have won $70. He cannot be convinced it was the other way on.

Isbell tried to take the conceit out of Walsh at handball this morning at the Athletic club, but the championship remains in Wilkesbarre. Catcher Owens revealed himself in the same gymnasium as a fancy bag puncher. Owens hails from Toronto, and admits he started out to be a boxer but was discouraged by his folks.

Provided the rain stops and the going at Chutes park is not impossible, we shall have a game of ball tomorrow.

The schooling of the youngsters at the barrier has proceeded far enough to permit making a few guesses at the ultimate destination of some of the wouldbes. The general estimation of Flanagan is that he won't last through the training season and it is hinted he is selected to be left with the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast league to help fight the outlaws. Flanagan plays the game well mechanically, but is slow inside of his noodle and every one knows what Comiskey does with a "slow thinker."

Scott Sure of Staff Job.

Cravath and Altizer, the outfield recruits, are being given every opportunity to get in the front row, and the performances of both these recruits so far have justified the encouragement given them. Pitcher Scott, whom Comiskey purchased from Isbell, seems sure to make the hurling staff good, and the Wichita magnate approached the "Old Roman" with greater confidence during the closing days of his stay with the regulars. For Issy had touted Scott to his boss so hard that the youngster had to show a lot of goods to live up to his press agent.

Sutor will be given a thorough tryout, for he seems to have the ability and to lack only the experience, without which a big leaguer cannot shine. Spencer is slated for the blow car when the proper train arrives.

Catcher Owens has his job cinched and will be Billy Sullivan's regular little understudy, according to all present indications. What will happen to the rest of the backstops on the list is not shown in the cards, but it is thought Payne, who is with the other bunch, has the inside track for third place in the backstop handicap.

"Jiggs" Donahue sent word by wire that he was ready to join the squad here as soon as transportation was forthcoming for himself and wife. He was informed the boys could string along without him, in spite of occasional defeats, until they reached some place nearer home, where the tariff from Chicago would not be so high.

TRIUMPH FOR SOX SECONDS.

Yannigans Trim Sacramento, Four to Two, Altrock Pitching and Shaw Catching the Entire Game.

Sacramento, Cal., March 22.—[Special.]—The Sox Yannigans trimmed Sacramento today between hurriedly swallowed meals, 4 to 2, Altrock pitching and Shaw catching the entire game. Nick was hit safely ten times, while Brown allowed but six, but four of these were long ones, Purtell going a double and triple and Welday and Beall a three bagger apiece. Welday opened with a triple and scored on Zeider's single.

An error gave Beall a base and Purtell's double brought him home. Zeider's walk and Beall's triple made another in the third, and Zeider tallied another in the ninth on an error, sacrifice, and Purtell's triple.

Sacramento's runs were scored on three hits and an error by Zeider. Bobby McHale, the old Western and Coast league player, umpired, and badly, but distributed his favors. Score:

Daniels Wins 500 Yards Swim.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 22.—C. M. Daniels, the world's champion in the distance swimming events, won the 500 yards national swimming championship tonight in the pool of the University of Pennsylvania. His time was 6:54 3-5. Goodwin of the New York Athletic club, was second.

Iowa Loses Indoor Game, 6 to 3.

Marshalltown, Ia., March 22.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa indoor baseball team was defeated tonight by the Marshalltown All-Star Y. M. C. A., 6 to 3.

DEMAREST LOSES MATCH TO CURE.

Frenchman Defeats Chicagoan 500 to 369 at Start of Billiard Tourney.

CALVIN'S PLAY IS UNEVEN

Parisian Puts Up Steady Game and Averages Over 16, with High Run of 150.

New York, March 22.—[Special.]—Calvin Demarest of Chicago, live wire of the junior billiardists, met defeat at the hands of Louis Cure of France tonight in the opening match of the world's 18-2 balk line billiard championship for the title relinquished by Willie Hoppe and $3,000 in purses.

Cure was steadiest, withstood Demarest's brilliant dash, and won by 500 points to 369. His high run was 150 and his average 16 20-30. Demarest's best run was 94 and his average 12 9-30.

There were many amateurs and professionals as onlookers. There was applause as the players were named, but Demarest had the most supporters in the hand clapping. Edward McLaughlin, a veteran of the green cloth and ivories, was referee.

Cure seemed the chubby host of a wine shop and Demarest the slim city clerk as they stepped up to string for the lead. The Frenchman was in his shirt sleeves and the Chicago boy wore a waistcoat of black worsted with silk sleeves. He played in flashes throughout, excelling in massé shots and slipping up on draw shots, while Cure was more certain in his plays and twice declined a masse for a bank shot to be on the safe side.

Start of Play Is Slow.

Demarest won the bank and missed a close massé after two carroms, Cure closing with a 3. Taking the cue again Demarest picked up ten, here, there, and everywhere, for the balls would not nestle together for him, which was his luck all through. The Frenchman also began slowly, but his lucky star was in the ascendant.

At the ninth inning Cure led by 175 to 78. Demarest's eyes were as bright as the diamonds on his bridge finger now, but the balls were as shy for him as trout in a pool, and he made only two.

The Parisian closed the tenth inning by the high run of the match, scoring 150. His notable gathering of shots were one around the table from the object ball, frozen to the rail, and a clever massé near the lower rail. This was his ninety-ninth carrom and left an easy but separating shot for the century mark. A draw got the balls together again, and Cure sent the three balls in a mazy waltz along all four rails, his cue a necromancer's wand that charmed forth a crop of carroms until an attack at two cushions in the upper right corner wrought the Frenchman's undoing. He had 325 points to Demarest's 78.

Demarest in Tough Luck.

The balls still broke badly for Demarest and it was hard sledding for the boy. He had a run of ninety-four in the fourteenth inning and after the twentieth he was only eighty-six points to the bad, the tally being 391 to 305. Both were nervous for a spell, Cure taking a dose from a bottle of medicine and it took ten innings for him to make 209 points. Demarest had opportunities enough and to spare, but it was not his night. Score:

Willie Hoppe Says Title Is His.

Willie Hoppe, who will be in Chicago the latter part of this week, takes exception to the statement that the billiard match between Demarest and M. Cure at New York last night was a championship event. He claims he is the undisputed champion at 18-2 balkline.

DAY OF GRILLING IN BOOTH CASE.

F. R. Robbins, Ex-Official, Is Noncommittal on Accusation of Irregularities.

QUESTIONS ON LOST LIST.

Attorney Newman Seeks to Show Witness Got Names of Buffalo Customers.

The alleged theft of a list of customers of the Buffalo branch of A. Booth & Co., valued as an asset at from $10,000 to $50,000, was one of the startling features of yesterday's resumption of the hearing before Master in Chancery Hervey W. Booth.

Another incident of the day was the assertion that irregularities in the relations of the defunct fish concern and Chicago banks followed a conference at Deanforth lodge, Oconomowoc, at which were present F. R. Robbins, P. A. Valentine, and Ira M. Smith.

Attorney Jacob Newman, representing the receiver for A. Booth & Co., called witnesses by whose testimony he sought to prove that the lost list had been sent to F. R. Robbins in Chicago. Letters were introduced in support of the same claim.

Attorney Explains His Questions.

At the close of the hearing Attorney Newman said that his pointed questions directed at Robbins were the result of a recent conference with Ira M. Smith, at which the latter old of the meeting in the summer home of P. A. Valentine shortly before receivership proceedings, at which Valentine, Robbins, Smith, and others were present.

Frederick R. Robbins, former assistant treasurer of the wrecked first trust, was placed on the stand and subjected to a grilling fire of questions. Attorney Newman asked him repeatedly as to his connection with alleged fraudulent deals with Chicago banks based on the false report of 1907.

To a rapid fire of questions Mr. Robbins replied in monotonous tones:

"I refuse to answer on advice of counsel."

"Why?"

"Because the answer may be used against me in criminal proceedings."

Questions Which Went Unanswered.

Among the questions put to Mr. Robbins and which he refused to answer were:

"Did you not embezzle $150 from the Booth estate?"

"Did you not issue instructions to borrow all the money possible when you knew the concern had failed?"

"Did you not seek to draw on the Chicago banks after the alleged report of the company's financial standing had been made?"

"On Sept. 9, 1908, did you not give the wife of Vernon Booth a check for $7,875?"

"What did you give her that check for?"

"Were you not disloyal to the receiver who employed you at a salary of $15,000 a year?"

"Don't you know that you are not entitled to 1 cent for your services and that you will have to return the money paid you as salary?"

"Didn't you abstract valuable papers belonging to the company and appropriate them to your own use?"

Mr. Newman explained that the object of his series of questions and refusals was to get them into the record so that they could be laid before Judge Kohlsaat to determine whether or not the witness had waived his constitutional rights.

Former Treasurer Also Noncommittal.

Walter G. Robbins, former treasurer of A. Booth & Co., also was examined. To certain questions he replied, but many queries were met with the response his son had used.

He testified that he had signed paper after paper, including statements and checks, while in the employ of the Booth concern without knowing the contents.

Mr. Newman inquired of the witness as to the list of Buffalo customers and asked the witness if he had it. Mr. Robbins replied in the negative.

Carleton Prankard, a fish dealer of New York and formerly an eastern representative for the Booth company, declared he had read a letter in the Buffalo offices of A. Booth & Co., stating that the list in question had been sent to F. R. Robbins. The letter was produced in evidence. Prankard estimated the lowest possible value of this list of customers at $10,000. The official to which it was alleged to have been addressed refused to identify the letter.

Attorney Newman argued that the witnesses were willfully blocking the hearing and it was adjourned until Thursday morning. In the meantime the matter of forcing witnesses to testify will be taken up with Judge Kohlsaat.

SURVEY OF SHORE LINE OF LAKE BEGINS TODAY.

Work Near Chicago May Mark the Beginning of Harbor Improvements Here.

Work on the special survey of the Lake Michigan shore line near Chicago and the Chicago and Calumet rivers begins today under the direction of Maj. Thomas A. Rees, head of the Chicago district of the engineering department of the army.

The work is preliminary to possible harbor improvements here. It includes a new survey of the shore line between the mouth of the Chicago river and Gary, an investigation of the lake bed between these points, a survey and examination of the beds of Calumet lake, Calumet river, and the Chicago river, so far as the conditions there might affect harbor construction.

The complete force of the engineering department in the Chicago district—twenty officers and men—will be engaged in the work. Final detailed report will be made to the war department in six weeks.

The war department wants complete and detailed information as to conditions here so far as they might affect harbor construction," said Maj. Thomas A. Rees. "We have no information that harbor improvement and construction work here is contemplated as an immediate program of the department."

PHI BETA KAPPA DEFENDED.

Secretary of University Fraternity Discredits Report Students Were Handled Roughly in Fake Initiation.

Were two students of the University of Chicago roughly handled in a "fake" initiation in the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity a week ago? is a question that is agitating the faculty and student body of the Midway institution.

Prof. F. W. Shepardson, secretary of the fraternity, says there is never any "horse play" at initiations of the society. He denied a story in an afternoon paper that he had instigated an investigation of the alleged initiation.

"Of course, a few of the members could have held a 'fake' initiation after the regular meeting of the society without the knowledge of the other members and officers," he said. "In this particular case, however, I know there was no roughness as alleged."

ICE DEALERS ARE IN SESSION.

First Day of Annual Convention Is Passed in Sightseeing and Amusements.

Three hundred members of the Illinois Ice Dealers' association are attending the first annual convention of the organization at the Sherman house, the opening session being held yesterday. The association comprises dealers in ice and manufacturers of artificial ice doing business in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Iowa, Michigan, and Ohio. In the afternoon the delegates were taken to the Union stockyards. In the evening a theater was attended.

ACCUSED BY GIRLS; MISSING

Hyde Park Merchant May Not Appear When Case Is Called.

LAWYER CANNOT FIND HIM.

Co-defendent Said to Have Admitted Receiving Money for Silence.

When the case of the state against William Penrose and Franklin A. Luther, accused of mistreating girls, is called at the Hyde Park court today Luther may not respond. His attorney, Charles Hughes, said yesterday:

"I cannot find Mr. Luther and I am informed by his brother, Charles Luther, that he seems to have disappeared. He may appear at the hearing, however."

Luther is under $7,500 bonds, signed by his brother, with whom he is in partnership in a prosperous hardware business. He is 60 years old.

Six girls made the affidavits under which Penrose and Luther were arrested. They are:

Effie Smith, 1333 Seventy-first street.
Jennie McCullough, 7106 Cottage Grove avenue.
Isabelle Brittan, 1422 Seventy-sixth street.
Jennie Schallerer, 7047 Vincennes avenue.
Maud Green, 7308 Central avenue.
Belle Winters, now in Geneva house.

All were under 16 years old at the time the offenses are said to have been committed. One of the girls is a niece of Luther.

The case was called to the attention of the authorities by the Rev. George M. Babcock of St. George Episcopal church. Deaconesses from the church worked with the police and the Englewood Law and Order league agents in obtaining statements from the girls, some of whom were only 12 years old at the time of which they make complaint.

Penrose, who has remained in jail ever since his arrest, is said to have stated that at one time he received money from Luther for silence. Luther is regarded as wealthy. He lives at 7357 Cottage Grove avenue. He is married and has two grown daughters.

CHARGES AWAIT SCHLAU ON HIS RETURN TO CITY.

Three Complaints Prepared Against Police Lieutenant Who Let Identified Prisoner Escape.

Lieut. Robert Schlau of the town hall police station will be served with notice of charges against him immediately upon his return from the Pacific coast, where he has gone in search of Joseph Joyce, the paroled convict, whose release by him led to the charges.

Lieut. Schlau is charged with three violations of the rules and regulations of the police department. They are:

Conduct unbecoming a police officer or a member of the police department.

Violation of a criminal law.

Neglect of duty.

The specific charges, which are contained in affidavits made to Chief Shippy last Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Maud Falkinburg, 144 Winthrop avenue, and a reporter, accuse Lieut. Schlau of releasing Joseph Joyce, a suspect who was identified by Mrs. Falkinburg as one of two burglars who entered and robbed her home Feb. 10; of insulting Mrs. Falkinburg when she went to the station to report a burglary and mutilating the arrest book at the town hall police station.

Chief Shippy declared that the city would not pay one cent of the expense incurred by Lieut. Schlau in trying to bring Joyce back to Chicago. This means that the lieutenant will have to stand his own expenses, but it was intimated that a brother of Joyce might pay the expenses, because he told Lieut. Schlau when his brother was first released that he would be produced when wanted.

Trouble in another quarter is also brewing for Lieut. Schlau. State's Attorney Wayman and his assistants are preparing to carry the release of Joyce before the grand jury.

INSPECTOR CONDEMNS VIEWS IN FIFTEEN MOVING PICTURES.

They Had Been on Exhibition in Five Cent Theaters in the City for Several Weeks.

Fifteen moving pictures which have been "edifying" the young people and some of the elders for several weeks at the various 5 cent theaters were yesterday condemned by the police department. Joseph L. Tischart is the inspector who has ordered these fifteen films dumped into the discard.

Some of them portray scenes which cannot be written about in respectable family journals. Included in this class of films are two which have been exhibited under the alluring titles of "The Wrong Bottle," and the "Vengence of Larvin."

Other films which met with the disapproval of Tischart deal with murder, robberies, holdups and other crimes. Among them are such titles as "Train Robbery," "Tracked by a Dog," "The Rag Picker's Daughter," "Exploits of a Detective," and a number of others.

MRS. FARMER MUST GO TO CHAIR

Gov. Hughes of New York Refuses Clemency in Case of Woman Charged with Murder.

Albany, N. Y., March 22.—Gov. Hughes today denied the application for clemency in the case of Mrs. Mary Farmer, who is under sentence of death at Auburn prison for the murder of Mrs. Sarah Brennan at Brownville, near Watertown. Mrs. Farmer will be executed some time next week. Mrs. Farmer will the second woman to go to the electric chair in this state; the other was Mrs. Martha Place, put to death March 20, 1899. Mrs. Farmer was indicted jointly with her husband, James D. Farmer. Gov. Hughes in denying the application says: "The law of the state makes no distinction between sexes, and a woman who is found guilty of murder is subject to the same penalty as a man. A most careful examination of the facts in this case leads to the conclusion that the conviction was just."

PLANS TO EXPAND COLLEGE.

Proposed Improvements Discussed by Alumni, Trustees, and Students at Banquet in Lake Forest.

Lake Forest college, which has spent a large sum of money for improvements in the last year, contemplates further additions. They were discussed last night at a banquet held for that special purpose on Calvin Durand commons. The alumni association, the college trustees, and the students were well represented.

Impromptu speeches delivered indicated that money would be spent freely, and every effort made to double the present attendance. Trustees Louis F. Swift, Cyrus H. McCormick, J. V. Farwell, and A. B. Dick talked encouragingly from the financial standpoint. Prof. Ernest Palmer told what the faculty hope to do, and Jacob Swartz, a senior, explained what aid might be expected from the students. Dr. John S. Nollen, president of the college, was toastmaster. Plates were laid for 350.

ARRESTED AS CONFIDENCE MAN.

Emil Kunzenman Accused of 'Working' Members of German Aid Society with Hard Luck Story.

Emil Kunzenman was arrested yesterday after a struggle with policemen at La Salle and Randolph streets on charges of obtaining money by means of a confidence game and of disorderly conduct. The police say Kunzenman has been loitering near the headquarters of the German Aid society at La Salle and Randolph streets for several days. He is charged with having obtained money from members on the strength of his story that he had work, but could not reach the place of employment because he had no money.

FRUIT MEN FIGHT FREIGHT TARIFF.

Increase and Discrepancies in Rates from South Arouse South Water Street.

TWO COMPLAINTS FILED.

Charges Before State and Interstate Commissions Allege Glaring Inconsistencies.

South Water street commission merchants are up in arms against increases in freight rates on fruits and vegetables shipped from the south to Chicago, which were made by the Illinois Central railroad March 1. These are declared to be excessive and unreasonable. Dealers in fruits and vegetables also are making a vigorous protest against former rates, which they declare ought to be remedied by reductions. Complaints have been made both to the Illinois railroad and warehouse commission and to the interstate commerce commission.

Glaring discrepancies in the proportion of rates to distance are pointed out in the scale of charges from Kentucky and points at similar distances from Chicago. In some instances the rates are twice as high on the interstate rates as for the same distance wholly in this state. Also, rates from New Orleans and other Louisiana points are compared to show that one-third sometimes is added for an additional haul of from four to ten miles.

Circulars Show Differences.

Circulars distributed among the shippers by E. G. Davies, a distributer of fruits and vegetables, quote rates on a long list of fruits and vegetables from Brookport, Ill., to Chicago, 377 miles, and from Bardwell, Ky., 376.71 miles, to show that the interstate rates are from 140 to 150 per cent of the Illinois rates. The rate on artichokes, asparagus, and cantaloupes, for instance, is 14.4 cents a hundred pounds in carloads from Brookport, while from Bardwell the rate is 36 cents.

Mr. Davies also attacks the increases in carload rates made March 1 and says excessive charges have been made for refrigeration.

"Fruit and vegetable dealers should remember," he says, "that refrigerator charges for protecting property shipped at their own risk are based upon ice at $4 a ton, as against $2.50 a ton paid by one of the directors of the Illinois Central and his associates in the so-called meat trust."

Forty Cents for Eight Miles.

William Loeffel of Barnett Bros., 159 South Water street, said the rate on lettuce in carloads from New Orleans to Chicago was 90 cents, while from Kenner, La., eight miles from New Orleans, the rate was 50 cents.

"It is proposed to have the fifty-two fruit associations in the country coöperate with other commercial organizations that are fighting excessive freight rates," he said.

C. H. Weaver, 129 South Water street, said the shippers had many grievances.

"We do not want the roads to carry freight for less than they ought to," he said, "but we do insist on equal rates for all."

Illinois Central officials admitted there were many inconsistencies in rates, but they said rates could not always be made on a mileage basis, and that many of the discrepancies had been caused by reductions made by state commissions.

Would Raise Illinois Rates.

F. B. Bowes, freight traffic manager of the Illinois Central, said the rates from Illinois and Kentucky points ought to be closer together, but that this ought to be accomplished by advancing the rates from Illinois, which are fixed by the railroad and warehouse commission.

"We consider these rates unnecessarily low," he said, "and they ought not be compared with others. The rates from Bardwell, Ky., are interstate rates, and not only from there but from the entire length of our line south to New Orleans the rates are reasonable in our opinion.

"The increase last season from the southern lines over the preceding season amounted to 28 per cent both in tonnage and revenue. That does not look as if the rates were prohibitory."

Regarding the icing charges it was declared that the low rate given to the packers was made necessary by the competition of western roads and that it had been in effect for six years, whereas Mr. Armour has been a director of the Illinois Central only since last October.

D. O. Ives, chairman of the official classification committee, has tendered his resignation to become traffic director of the Boston chamber of commerce and the Merchants' association of that city, which have amalgamated and propose to form a New England freight bureau.

COMMITTEE ON RATE FIGHT.

Report on Differences Between New Haven and Canadian Pacific Is Due on April 1.

New York, March 22.—Following an all day session of the Trunk Line association, it was announced that a committee of five had been appointed to endeavor to effect a settlement of the differences now existing among eastern trunk lines because of the preferential rate agreement entered into several months ago between the New York, New Haven and Hartford and the Canadian Pacific railroads. It is expected that the committee will hold several sessions between this and April 1, on which date it will submit its report to the Trunk Line association. In the meantime existing rates will be maintained. The roads represented included the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, New York, New Haven and Hartford, Lehigh Valley, Grand Trunk, and New York, Ontario and Western.

FINN'S DEATH BRINGS ORDER

Chief Shippy Warns Policemen to Be Careful in Conduct.

SCOTT'S VICTIM IS BURIED.

Hundreds Console Widow of Man Killed Through Mistake.

Chief of Police Shippy yesterday issued an order on "hair trigger" shooting, as a result of the shooting of Joseph Finn, who was killed last Friday night at West Twenty-sixth and Canal streets by Policeman Alexander Scott of the Twenty-second street police station.

The chief said in part: "In making a lawful arrest, whether with or without a warrant, any officer has the right, and it is his duty to use every means to accomplish his purpose, but he should avoid all unnecessary harshness or violence.

"If no resistance is offered or attempt made to escape, he has no right to rudely or violently handle a prisoner."

Finn's body was laid to rest at Mount Olivet during the day while his slayer paced back and forth behind the bars of the Twenty-second street police station and wept bitterly.

Hundreds Offer Widow Consolation.

Hundreds of people crowded round the family cottage in the rear of 3414 Parnell avenue to watch the funeral cortege depart. Services were held at the Church of the Nativity, where the Rev. J. J. Flaherty sang requiem high mass, gave absolution and preached a sermon on the uncertainty of death.

The grief stricken widow has the sympathy of members of the entire police department, and so has Scott, but that will not interfere with Chief Shippy's plans to see that justice is done. If it is agreeable to Mrs. Finn, Chief Shippy will see that something is done towards her financial welfare, but no definite action will be taken until after the close of the inquest tomorrow afternoon.

Chief Shippy is not interfering, neither is he telling members of the force whether or not they should contribute toward the widow. However, it is understood that after the inquest Lieuts. Enright and Keleher will take the initiative and Chief Shippy will approve the plan.

Wayman Has Ordered Inquiry.

It is regarded as possible that the coroner's jury will hold Scott to the grand jury on the charge of manslaughter and that State's Attorney Wayman will ask for a straight charge of murder if the facts warrant. Mr. Wayman has had detectives from his own office out checking up the reports.

Previous to the shooting Scott's record on the force was clear.

RECOGNITION OF THE UNION IS THE PARAMOUNT ISSUE.

Coal Miners' Leader Says There Will Be No Recession from This Demand by the Delegates.

Scranton, Pa., March 22.—"There will be no compromise over the question of recognizing the union," said Thomas L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America. This sums up Mr. Lewis' attitude, and seems to indicate clearly that he considers the recognition of the union paramount.

President Lewis said that recognition of the union does not necessarily mean that the coal companies shall deduct from the wages of the miners the dues they owe to the union and turn them over to a designated representative of the organization in the district where the colliery is located.

President Lewis said tonight that if he had his way the miners' convention, which meets tomorrow, would be open to newspaper men, but it is doubtful whether the delegates will vote for an open convention.

While various district officers have given out estimates as to the number of delegates who favor a strike in case no concessions are made and the number who are for conservative action, there has been no count of noses. Many of the delegates are uninstructed.

It is said that the majority of the English speaking miners are opposed to a strike, and will work to avoid one. It is also said that a great number of the foreign speaking men, who form no inconsiderable portion of the convention, are outspoken for a fight, and that many of them will vote for a strike unless concessions are granted.

Fifty-fifth Victim of Crib Disaster.

An open verdict was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday afternoon at the inquest over the body of Charles H. Mullaney, the fifty-fifth victim of the intermediate crib disaster on Jan. 20. The body was found on Sunday floating at the foot of Seventy-ninth street.

Sore Throat Wisdom If every mother could realize the danger that lurks behind every case of sore throat, she wouldn't rest until she has effected a cure every time a child has it.

Your family physician will verify the statement that it is a positive fact that every child with sore throat is in immediate danger of contracting Croup, Quinsy, Tonsilitis or Diphtheria, and is not removed from that danger until the throat is cured. Think of it!

Liniments or outward application of medicines do not and cannot cure the ailment, though they may offer temporary relief. Neither can you cure sore throat with a cough syrup or a cold cure.

To cure, you must get at the seat of the disease, removing the cause. Nothing does that so quickly, safely and surely as TONSILINE. A single dose of TONSILINE taken upon the first appearance of sore throat may save long weeks of sickness, great expense, worry, even death. TONSILINE is the stitch in time.

Use a little sore throat wisdom and buy a bottle of TONSILINE today. You may need it tomorrow.

TONSILINE is the standard sore throat remedy—best known and most effective and most used. Look for the long necked fellow on the 25 or 50 cent sized bottle when you go to the drug store to get it. The Tonsiline Co., Canton, Ohio.

A mild punishment for that policeman who shot an innocent man would be to compel him to support the widow and orphan.

Mr. Roosevelt is a good rifle shot. When he fires a leaden message at any four footed game he selects he doesn't scatter.

The friends of Mr. Hopkins have permitted it to leak out that they are going to spring a surprise on the people this week.

Prof. Johnny Kling, having uttered his regular annual farewell to baseball, should hasten to get into condition to resume his regular position behind the bat.

Is it necessary to pass a special law to fit the case of the Hon. S. Madden?

Los Angeles is a fine town, but as a starting point for long distance aeronauts it seems to be unfortunately located.

Any good draftsman can construct a splendid subway system for Chicago on paper.

But the people are not in the mood to tolerate any little jokers in the new tariff bill when it comes to coffee.

There is only one adequate punishment for the kidnaper who steals a child and holds it for ransom. Yes, it is the one you have in mind.

Pardon the apparent irrelevancy of the question, but would a tariff on coffee work a hardship in the case of the Santos-Dumonts?

Advice to Castro when about to start on his return to Venezuela: Don't.

Some ingenious designer of women's hats might make a hit this spring by evolving a "creation" in the shape of an automobile with a squawker attached, the same to be sounded when the wearer is approaching.

Those noises you hear are made by the political safety valve in the Third ward. It is letting off steam.

To say that the people of the United States are watching with eager eyes the proceedings at Springfield probably would be overstating the fact in the case, and we carefully refrain from saying it.

A safe and pleasant journey to the illustrious huntsman who is to start for Africa today!

A Houston (Tex.) magistrate fined three men who rudely interfered when a young man and a maiden were kissing each other good night. If the fine was a good, stiff one it served them right. In such cases "butting in" is a misdemeanor scarcely distinguishable from a crime.

Mr. Foraker knows exactly what has happened to him. He says he is out of politics for good.

It is pleasing to think that eventually murder may go out of fashion in Tennessee.

Perhaps it would be intrusive to ask what kind of razor Mr. Roosevelt expects to shave himself with while in Africa—the safety or the old fashioned kind.

SAVING THE SOIL.

Few farmers in Illinois, or elsewhere for that matter, know what ingredients are in the soil on the acres they own. As a consequence they do not know what that soil needs to keep it fertile and to prevent its depletion and deterioration. That land does wear out is well understood. The older states furnish many examples of farms actually exhausted by the shortsighted owners. That the fat lands of Illinois will have the same fate is certain, unless more care is taken.

The proposition for a soil survey now before the legislature seems a sensible one. With a full knowledge of what has happened in older commonwealths, it looks like sheer folly for the people of Illinois to neglect the study of their rich heritage. Some parts of the state are fruitful, others are less productive. Some counties have an excess of soil enriching material greatly needed in less favored portions. But where is the excess? Where is the need?

The only way to answer those questions properly is to have an investigation to discover what the soil contains. The important inquiry has been dragging along with a small appropriation. It ought to be pushed more vigorously. The legislature should back up the efforts of the agricultural college and the agricultural experiment station with a larger grant for this essential fundamental work. The farms of Illinois have produced countless thousands of dollars' worth of grains. They make the sure basis for the prosperity of the state. They should be nourished and strengthened in every way. No request for legislative appropriation has stronger claims for support than the one which has to do with the preservation and enrichment of the soil.

A VICIOUS PLAN.

The tariff bill reads that if any country shall discriminate against any article imported from the United States by levying duties in excess of those levied on similar articles imported from any other country then all products of the discriminating country brought to the United States must pay the maximum duties set out in the bill. They are to be, except as to wool and woolens, 20 per cent higher than the minimum rates, several of which are too high. So if Germany, for instance, were to impose on some one trifling American product of which its consumption was nominal a higher duty than that charged some other country, Germany would have to be treated with the full rigor of the American tariff law. As a consequence all American products sent to Germany would have to pay the German maximum duties.

This cast iron arrangement will not do. If it were put in force it would be an obstacle to the expansion of foreign trade. It would invite retaliation. The German method of utilizing the maximum and minimum schedules idea is greatly to be preferred. By that method the government can negotiate a commercial treaty by which it gives to the nation with which it is bargaining the benefit of its lower duties on certain articles in consideration of lower duties on certain domestic products for which it is specially desirous of a larger foreign market.

The German government does not assume a high and lofty air and insist on having everything. It does not consider it beneath its dignity to play the game of give and take for the benefit of home industries. There is no reason why the United States should not pursue the same policy. If its tariff legislation were so framed that it could give Germany the benefit of low rates on linens or chemicals, for instance, in return for low duties on agricultural products and meats it would be the gainer.

Some of the great European nations have commercial treaties with their neighbors based on their special needs and conditions. Those treaties are identical in principle with the one between the United States and the independent republic of Cuba. By it some Cuban articles are let in at lower rates in return for lower duties on certain American products. The European nations would have to choose between abrogating their treaties and submitting to the maximum duties of the American schedules for all their products.

The expansion of the export trade of a country is one method of benefiting its consumers. That expansion means more work and wages. The maximum and minimum idea, as employed by the ways and means committee, would, if put in operation, be fruitful of tariff wars which would be damaging to foreign trade. The only beneficiaries would be those manufacturers who would be given 20 per cent more protection and be enabled to mark up prices.

SPECIAL LEGISLATION.

The ease with which special legislation can be framed under a constitution which specifically forbids it is illustrated by a bill now before the state legislature. It reads that in cities of over 100,000 population city employés in any department in which persons are employed day and night shall not be compelled to work more than ten consecutive hours during the day nor more than fourteen hours during the night. Unless given a hint nobody would imagine that this alleged "general legislation" had no other object than to force Chicago to adopt the two platoon system for firemen. An attempt was made to get it under Mayor Dunne. There was an experiment on a small scale, but it was a failure. Now comes this attempt to compel the city to do something it has declined to do.

The home rule theory should be respected. A legislature should not try to lay down rules for this or any other city as to the hours of firemen. Congress might with equal propriety attempt to regulate the hours of soldiers during a war. That must be left to their chiefs. The regulation of the hours of firemen who when not fighting fire may be called on at any moment to do so should be left to local governments.

The municipal authorities of Chicago would like to give the firemen shorter hours, but they have not the money which the two platoon system would call for. The revenues do not allow of the employment of a sufficient number of firemen under the present system. The passage of this bill would be a demand on the city to spend money which it could get only by stripping some other branch of the public service of its legitimate allotment of the revenues. The bill is objectionable in many ways and should be defeated.

RESPECT FOR THE COURTS.

In a recent editorial The Tribune commented upon the lack of interest manifested by the public in the inglorious fate of the $29,000,000 fine suit. We publish several letters referring to this editorial, the unanimity of which we believe is widely and deeply significant.

One letter is from Tiffin, O., one from Kankakee, and one from Oregon, Ill. All ascribe the public want of interest to a want of confidence in the courts.

The readiness of the public to blame the courts usually is based on misunderstanding of the grounds and the scope of the judgment criticised, as we believe is the case with the Standard Oil suit. But that this readiness is so general must be ascribed in a measure to something more definite and happily more curable than the layman's ignorance or haste.

Reform in our law, both substantive and adjective, is urgently called for. Men of discernment all over the land, from President Taft down, are pointing out the necessity of curing the overtechnicality, the cumbrousness, and the dilatoriness of our administration of justice. Besides this, certain reforms in our substantive law which shall bring it into a closer harmony with the economic facts and social ethics of our generation are justly demanded. For example, the abolition of the archaic fellow servant doctrine, already achieved by Mr. Roosevelt in the federal law, should not fail in the states, including Illinois.

But all the burden of responsibility by no means lies upon the legislatures. Even more important than laws is an enlightened purpose in courts of last resort to aid in the simplification of the processes of adjudication and by wise interpretation to give to the expressed will of the people its full effect within the clear limitations of constitutional principle. The misapplication or misinterpretation of our fundamental guarantees by hidebound judges is one of the causes of the prevailing distrust of courts.

There always will be dissatisfaction with the courts and with the laws, for both are of man and man is fallible. But it is important to recognize that in a transitional period like ours the strain put upon our institutions is more than usual and that courts feel this strain, in part justly and in part unjustly. We have reason to hope that the pressure of popular dissatisfaction will be responded to, not opposed until it becomes violent, and that plainly needed reforms will be worked out with firmness and good sense.

WHAT PICTURES DO.

Suggestion plays an important part in crime. Court officials find illustrations of that fact almost daily. A little study reveals the difficulty of any attempt to censor the pictures in the nickel theaters. The films that depict immorality are easily identified. The ones whose influence may be unhealthful are much harder to recognize and regulate. But here is what pictures sometimes do.

The adventures of a "gentleman burglar" won great applause from the audience as they were portrayed on the screen. "Raffles" made an undoubted hit. Within a few weeks six boys were brought before the Juvenile court, each with a complete set of burglar's tools. Each likewise indicated his astonishment that the story of achievement in crime failed to impress those who heard it in court as the accomplishments of the model did when revealed in the film of the nickel theater.

A dying father called his golden haired son to the bedside and made him take an oath to hunt down his slayer and take vengeance upon him. The rapidly moving film showed the boy going forth to his appointed mission. He grew to youth and manhood. At last he found and killed his father's murderer. Kneeling upon the grave of his parent, he gave thanks to God that he had performed the vow. All thrilling enough on the screen. The applause was generous. But no one cheered the boy who came into court a short time afterward, charged with killing his stepfather, who, in a drunken rage, was abusing his mother. In the course of the testimony it was brought out that the inspiration came from the film just described. The youthful criminal expressed surprise that no one thought him heroic.

Those are but two illustrations taken from the notebook of one of the interested workers in the Juvenile Protective association, the outgrowth of the Juvenile court committee. They tell their own story of what pictures do.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Dinguss—"It's awfully good of you, old chap, to lend me this fiver. 'Some day I may be able to return the favor."

Shadbolt—"Why, yes, Dinguss; you'll have to return it, you know, if you expect ever to get another one from me."

"Professor, what is the meaning of the word 'monologue'?"

"My dear sir, consider the derivation of it. 'Mon' is slang for 'money,' and 'logos' means 'a word.' Monologue, words for money."

Masculine Ignorance.

Mrs. Ferguson (trying on another spring hat)—"George, what do you think of this one? You didn't like the other."

Mr. Ferguson—"Well, if you are limited to two styles, the inverted waste basket and the inverted coal scuttle, my choice would be the coal scuttle. We need another one at home, anyway."

Her Dear Friend.

Nan was sitting for her photograph.

"What is that strange noise I hear?" she asked.

"I think it's the camera, trying to sound a 'C. Q. D.' alarm," said Fan.

An Epitaph.

Beneath this sod, a lump of clay,
Lies Uncle Cephas Mears.
He chewed tobacco every day
For fifty-seven years.

And yet nobody found it out
Until he came to die.
The explanation is, no doubt,
He chewed it on the sly.

No More "White Bread"?

[Rochester Democrat.]

"White bread is abolished in the United States," it is stated in telegraphic dispatches, referring to the ruling of the secretary of agriculture that millers must not bleach flour. The ruling went into effect this week, but millers have until June 3 to dispose of the bleached flour still in stock. It is declared that there will be as much difference between bread made from unbleached flour as there is between angel cake and sponge cake. The flour will be of a creamy color instead of white, and the bread will be light golden in color. But there will be no difference in flavor, and the bread will have an additional quality to commend itself to the consumer, because it will be just like that "mother used to make," in the good old days before the craze for bleached flour came into vogue.

Talking About Chicago's Ex-Mayor.

Mr. Taft comes mighty near being as good a Democrat as Mr. Bryan—we do not see how he could be a much worse Democrat. We have hopes that Dickinson will be able to make an impression upon Mr. Taft before the administration is much older. But isn't former Mayor Dunne of Chicago a great ass, to be sure?—Charleston News and Courier.

Old Countess Olivier de la Rochefoucauld, matriarch of the ducal house of that name, who has just died in Paris at the age of nearly 90, was an American woman, a Miss Euphrasine Montgomery of New Orleans, member of a family which is as well known in Washington and in New York as in the Crescent City. Her husband, the late Count Olivier, who died over twenty years ago, was a son of Duke Francis de la Rochefoucauld. The latter emigrated, along with the royal princes of Bourbon, from France at the time of the great revolution at the close of the eighteenth century, married at The Hague a Levantine lady, a native of Constantinople, and by her had three sons.

The eldest Olivier married away back in 1853 Miss Montgomery of New Orleans, the second led to the altar Anne Perron, daughter and heiress of a French soldier of fortune, who, having taken service under some of the native rulers of India, led their troops there against the English under Sir Arthur Wellesley, afterward first duke of Wellington. When his employers finally surrendered to the English Gen. Perron returned to France, and having "shaken the pagoda tree," as the saying goes, to some purpose, found himself in the possession of a colossal fortune, which was inherited by his daughter, born of his union to the daughter of an Indian rajah. All this wealth of Indian origin is now in the possession of the grandchildren of old Countess Frederick de la Rochefoucauld, nee Perron. They are the Austrian Countess Revertera and the Italian Duchess Salviati, the Princess Lancellotti, and Princess Chigi, all three of Italy.

The other brother of Olivier, namely, Hippolyte, also married an heiress, the daughter of a rich lawyer named Roux, and his son, Gaston de la Rochefoucauld, is the widower of Sir Horace Rambold's sister Emily, whose first marriage, to George Henry Cavendish, was severed by divorce in 1866, and who was the adopted daughter of Baron Delmar of Berlin, banker of Frederick William III., and the first Jew to be ennobled by the Prussian crown.

Old Countess Olivier de la Rochefoucauld's eldest son Guy was sentenced three years ago to a term in jail for breaking his cane on the head of a Paris policeman in a church door riot at the time when the French government was endeavoring to take an inventory of the possessions and treasures of the various churches about the country. Count Guy, who is a man of about 55, insisted that if he had rendered himself guilty of any violence it was because he had caught sight of the policeman whom he had caned in the act of maltreating his 23 old son, Count Henry. The authorities, however, took the ground that it was Henry who was illtreating the policeman and sent him to jail also for three months, namely, in the model penitentiary of Fresnes. Count Guy and his eldest son as well as his brothers and nephews have always been noted for their combative disposition and for their readiness to fight on each and every occasion, which is ascribed in France to the American blood in their veins that comes to them through their mother, and from those Louisiana planter ancestors of hers, that is to say, a class particularly impatient of contradiction.

All of these De la Rochefoucaulds bear the title of count. The head of the entire family is their second and third cousin, Francois, Duc de la Rochefoucauld, married to Miss Mattie Mitchell of Portland, Ore., and whose only child, a boy of 4, who bore the title of Duc de Liancourt, died the other day. Through the little fellow's demise it is the duke's only brother, Count Gabriel de la Rochefoucauld, like him an officer of the reserve branch of the French army, who becomes heir to the family honors, which include the three dukedoms of La Rochefoucauld, de Liancourt, and d'Anville as well as the title of Prince de Marcillac. The mother of the duke and his brother was a woman of extremely humble birth, according to some the cantiniere or ambulanciere attached to the brigade of troops in which the late duke was serving in Africa in the Algerian campaigns. It is said that she saved his life by nursing him when wounded. At any rate, his marriage was a colonial romance which gave great offense to the other members of his family.

The de la Rochefoucauld family was founded in the tenth century by a younger son of the Sire de Lusignan. His Christian name was Foucauld, and having the castle of La Roche in the Charente he styled it La Roche-Foucauld, from which his descendants have taken their name. His heir sixteen generations later in the male line direct was a noble of sufficient importance to be invited to act as godfather to King Francis I. on the occasion of his christening, and when Francis came to the throne he created his sponsor a count. Louis XIII. promoted the Count de la Rochefoucauld of his day to a dukedom, and today the family possesses no less than six French dukedoms ante-dating the great French revolution, namely, the three already mentioned above, besides those of Estissac, of Doudeauville, and of Rochguyone as well as the Italian dukedom of Bisaccia, and the Spanish dukedom of d'Estrees, which latter carries with it the Grandezza.

Reports of official origin are being industriously propagated by friends of the present cabinet to the effect that Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, on the impending termination of his command of the great channel fleet, will be appointed to one of the most important berths in the service on shore. Possibly this is merely intended to arrest the popular agitation which has been caused by the general impression that Lord Charles Beresford has been subjected to grossly unfair treatment by the admiralty and that the officer who stands highest in public favor as the foremost commander of the British navy is being sacrificed to the jealousy and animosity of cliques at Whitehall. This agitation has grown to such an extent as to become a source of much concern to the cabinet. It is possible, however, that the latter may be really in earnest about giving Lord Charles a shore command. For it would not only have the effect of putting an end to the movement in his behalf but would also prevent him from entering parliament and from becoming one of the bitterest critics and foes of the administration.

As long as he continues in active service, either ashore or afloat, he is forced by the laws of discipline to remain silent and to refrain from assailing the admiralty, and it is no secret that on several occasions he has been given command, even by first lords of the admiralty who were opposed to him, merely in order to reduce him to silence. There are only three shore commands open to an officer of his rank, namely, those of the Nore, of Plymouth, and of Portsmouth.

Of these that of Portsmouth is the most lucrative and important, carrying with it an official residence, possession of a steam yacht, the governorship of Portsmouth, and salary and allowances amounting to about $20,000 a year. Portsmouth, moreover, is England's greatest naval arsenal and stronghold, and besides this enjoys the advantage of being but a little over an hour's run from London. Unfortunately, however, for Lord Charles, the Portsmouth command is filled by Admiral Sir Arthur Fanshawe, who is his junior in point of age and who was only appointed a few months ago, and the same thing applies to Plymouth, to which Admiral Sir William Fawkes was assigned only last year.

As for the Nore, a successor to Sir Gerard Noel has only just been appointed. Portsmouth is probably the only shore berth which Lord Charles would be willing to accept as in keeping with his rank, and if it is really intended to place him there the admiralty will be forced to perpetrate another piece of unfairness by removing Sir Arthur Fanshawe from the blue ribbon of the service long before the completion of his term and, in fact, just after getting settled there. Lady Charles would be in her element at Portsmouth. For she is extremely hospitable, fond of society, and would shine as a hostess both on the occasion of the visits of foreign naval squadrons and during the Cowes week.

England Has No Duty on Hides.

Our position in the markets of the world in regard to boots is stronger today than it has ever been, and if in a year when the general trade of the country has fallen by the stupendous total of £100,000,000 ($500,000,000) we have managed to more than hold our own in the foreign markets, we can afford to look forward with confidence to the future in this direction.—London Footwear.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

[No communications unaccompanied by the name and address of the writer—which will not be published if not desired—will appear. Communications for this department must not exceed 200 words.—Ed. Tribune.]

Opposes Tariff on Gloves.

Keokuk, Ia., March 20.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—If the proposed tariff on gloves and hosiery passes congress it will be a gross imposition upon the American people and a foul blot upon the present administration.

When the McKinley bill was pending in 1890 the proposed increase of duty on these articles was strenuously antagonized by retailers and jobbers throughout the country.

The Dingley law of 1898 was tolerated as a war measure, but the present bill, if enacted into law, so far as it pertains to the articles mentioned, is simply atrocious. For over five years domestic manufacturers of leather gloves for men and women have steadily advanced their prices. Domestic hosiery has also advanced. It is reasonable to presume that the millionaire manufacturers of leather gloves and mittens in Fulton county, New York, will be highly pleased at the action of Mr. Payne's committee.

Littauer Bros., the Adlers of Gloversville, N. Y., and the rich concerns of Johnstown, N. Y., have evidently dictated the schedule on leather gloves and mittens.

In silk gloves there are quite a number of manufacturers in this country who have been engaged successfully in manufacturing ladies' gloves in competition with the manufacturers of Germany and France.

Does it not occur that the present deficit in the treasury could be in a measure reduced by cutting down appropriations?

Are spices, chemicals, etc., for the rich alone? Are cotton fabrics exclusive of hosiery to be exempt? I. A. Sawyer.

Opposes Spelling Reform Idea.

Chicago, March 18.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—A few weeks ago I saw in The Tribune a notice from New York about the new spelling reform, and a sample of how some of the ordinary words were to be distorted. People are to be found everywhere to bolster up any fad or novelty. No journal of any consequence is troubling about the matter.

That a few educated men indorse the idea amounts to nothing at all. You will find some sincere and able men believe in ghosts, others that the earth is flat. There is no phase of social insanity which has ever grown into a cult that has not found some more or less distinguished exponents; hence it is not surprising that the deformed spelling disease has among its supporters a few well known names.

I maintain that language is a living thing; like everything, it is a matter of evolution; it has grown for centuries, and is growing; only harm can come from a few cranks going at it with an ax. C. M. Howell.

Work for the Unemployed.

Ramona, S. D., March 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Chicago men out of employment can find work to do. Let us not blame the administration or the president. The president is all right, but the man is wrong who does not get to where the employment is.

I am an old Chicagoan and cannot understand why so many men hang around the city while in the west there is so much to do and the workers so few. The country teaches thrift and economy, the city munificence. Let those who can live east and those who will live west.

The salary in the country may not seem munificent, but remember you practically can save it. How much of your salary can you save in Chicago? No man of health and strength need go unemployed in America. Come west and get busy and you will make money. Remain idle and you will spend it. A. H. Northey.

Expected "Standard" to Escape.

Tiffin, O., March 20.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The Tribune of yesterday contained this editorial query:

> Can it be that the people, who are often as fickle in their hates as in their loves, have forgotten for the moment the iniquities of the Standard?

I wish to say in reply: It is not that the people are fickle or indifferent to these decisions of courts, but they are losing faith in the courts and their judges.

Decisions are bandied about like shuttlecocks, and we venture the assertion that not one person out of each 1,000 expected any other decision than acquittal in Judge Anderson's court in the recent trial of the Standard.

Not on its merits, but on so-called legal technicalities and subterfuges. W. Daniels.

"Sowing the Wind."

Oregon, Ill., March 20.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your editorial in The Tribune of yesterday under the heading "Standard Oil" is far astray. You say among other things:

"It is also deserving of note that the conviction of the Standard has not interested the public, etc., etc."

Judging from the people about here, you are much mistaken. They are much interested in this matter, but have lost confidence in some of the courts.

We begin to think the rich criminal will generally go scot free on some ridiculous technicality, while the poor fellow, for much lesser crimes, goes to prison.

This is sowing the wind—after awhile the whirlwind will be along. J. A. Barden.

Losing Faith in Courts.

Kankakee, Ill., March 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your query as to lack of interest shown in the Standard Oil case is easily answered. It is the lack of confidence in the courts. With all the proof submitted before Judge Landis, supposed to be an able judge, with a verdict obtained of that great amount, another able judge says no cause of action. The people heard and believed the stories of the Standard's misdeeds. The people have come to think courts will protect wealth, even at the expense of the poor, just or unjust. A bad state of affairs. Anon.

Complains of Garbage Dump.

Chicago, March 18.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Is there anything that can be done by the residents of Edgewater to prevent having the new extension into the lake between Foster avenue and Bryn Mawr avenue filled in with all the garbage, cans, and refuse of this part of the city? Where is our health commissioner with his talk of germs? Where is our park commissioner with his eye for beauty? A North Sider.

"THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY"

—Shakspeare.

If he were summoned to testify today in the tribunal of Tribune readers, Coroner Peter M. Hoffman would have to admit that he belongs to the March 23 birthday class, and that he is 46 years old. He was born in Cook county.

Dr. William O. Krohn of 6332 Lexington avenue, native of Galion, O., and for six years professor in the University of Illinois at Champaign, is 41. He holds degrees from Yale and from Northwestern Medical.

Enoch B. Stevens, member of the Chicago board of trade longer than thirty years and a recruit in the war time battery of that organization, is 73. He is a thirty-third degree mason, and although he has lived in Southport, N. C., twenty years, many Chicagoans will remember him.

James H. Gaff of Pontiac, Ill., bailiff of court for seventeen years and having the distinction of not losing a day of duty in that time on account of illness, is 82. He never misses a Tribune nor a McCutcheon cartoon if he can help it.

Dr. H. Preston Pratt of 762 Walnut street, once a pupil of a man who was tutor to the royal family of England, is 49. He was one of the pioneers in the X-ray field.

Julius H. Huber, architect, living at 2560 Wayne avenue and a native of Newark, N. J., is 57. He studied in the polytechnic institute in Munich.

John L. Cochran, real estate man in Chicago twenty-five years, is 52. He was born in Sacramento and will pass his anniversary in California.

W. L. Parrotte, one of the well known wholesale merchants of Chicago, will celebrate his 54th anniversary in Pasadena, where he spends much of his time. Rushville, Ill., is his birthplace and boyhood home.

Newton A. Partridge of 2081 Sheridan road, native of Vermont and long interested in civil service reform, is 57.

Dr. George A. Torrison, 46 Alice place, is 44. Manitowoc is his native town.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS

CAMEO KIRBY.

A Play in Four Acts.

BY

BOOTH TARKINGTON AND HARRY L. WILSON.

Presented at the Studebaker, Chicago, by Dustin Farnum and His Company, March 22, 1909. The Cast:

Eugene Kirby	Dustin Farnum
Larkin Bunce	James Lackaye
Tom Randall	Gordon Johnstone
Anatole Veaudry	Richard Pitman
Aaron Randall	James Seeley
Col. Moreau	John Harrington
Judge Pleydell	George Deyo
"The General"	Donald Gallaher
Croup	Matt. B. Snyder
Adele Randall	May Buckley
Anne Pleydell	Nora Shelby
Mme. Davezac	Maud Hosford
Grosse Poulette	Ruth Lloyd
Mammy Lina	James Kendrick

"Cameo Kirby" should prove a success. Whether the same enduring popularity which became the happy portion of "The Man from Home," which its authors created, will be its fate, remains to be seen, but that it will take the liking of the public in more than average measure seems reasonable to expect.

Just what shape the play may have had when it was presented first by Nat Goodwin, for whom it was written and failed, is not known. It has been refashioned since then and as placed before the public at the Studebaker last evening it scored well and favorably. Dustin Farnum has in the title character a rôle which suits him and his personality sufficiently for him to win sympathy, liking, and approval of his audience, and the play itself is of a kind that the public enjoys. Success and prosperity should therefore be its lot.

The play is a romantic one of life in the south in the '50s. The head of the house of Randall has played at cards while coming home from New Orleans on a river steamboat, has been made drunk, and in his gambling has lost not only all his money but has deeded his whole plantation to the professional gambler into whose hands he chanced to fall. He then realizing his position has killed himself. His son, waiting to welcome him at the landing place, receives the body and learns from a Col. Moreau that Cameo Kirby was the gambler and that Moreau, in indignation at the rascality of Kirby, had shot Kirby.

When the play opens the son of the murdered man just has heard that Cameo Kirby is in town, that Col. Moreau's shot had merely wounded, and that the gambler is coming to claim the plantation. The son determines to find Kirby and kill him, and calls his friends to his aid. Col. Moreau arrives at the same time and declares his intention of killing Kirby. In fact, Moreau himself is the gambler, Kirby having taken part in the game merely to protect the elder Randall from being robbed, it being Kirby's intention to return the won property to him as soon as he was sober.

Moreau and Kirby meet by appointment and the former is killed. Kirby, escaping, springs over a balcony and so through the window into the living room of the Randalls. There he is mistaken for Col. Moreau, is so introduced by Miss Randall, and escapes the men who are pursuing him by riding with her and her friends out to the Randall plantation. Kirby and she fall in love with each other, neither knowing the exact identity of the other, and not until the end of the third act, which is a strong one, are the identities made clear.

A fourth act is required to make Kirby's comparative innocence plain, and the play ends not with the two lovers sinking into each others' arms, but far more satisfactorily and artistically by having Kirby leave with the avowed intention of making something worthy of himself and she bidding him godspeed and promising to wait until the outcome of his striving is known.

It is a play which has abundance of heart interest of the romantic kind, is liberally supplied with humor of a wholesome kind, has heroics of the sort that thrill a bit, and has the setting, the soft drawling speech—when the players do not forget it—and the courtly manners of the south in its picturesque days. There are in certain of the scenes—that in the second act, when waiting for the heroine's change of dress, and again at the beginning of the third act—a little too much talk, but this is a fault easily remedied.

The play, as a whole, is neatly put together, the interest is kept well sustained, and the story is easily and effectively told. It is not a drama of vast or vital significance, but it is a play which entertains, and stirs the emotions and fires the imagination sufficiently to make agreeably spent the evening devoted to watching it. It should have a run at the Studebaker.

Mr. Farnum in the title rôle has a bit of a struggle with the courtliness of the character, for even the most ardent of "Dusty's" admirers would not claim for him supreme elegance and grace of bearing. He is a good natured, handsome chap whom it is a pleasure to watch, and as the Gambler Kirby he is convincing and acceptable, but as the young southern gentleman Eugene Kirby he has to work a bit to make his bows and his politeness seem quite genuine. He does better than had been expected, however, and doubtless will gain as he works farther into the rôle.

He probably will see the wisdom, however, of changing the "business" which leads him to sit upon a card table while talking with Miss Randall. A young lady of southern training would scarcely have permitted that even had a southern man attempted it in her presence. He also will possibly shade down his smiling and comedy with Bunce—that is, he will if he wants to bring the character of Kirby into consistent characterization. But in the main the rôle is one which shows the actor to distinct advantage and he does some excellent work in the course of its presentment. It is the best part he has had since "The Virginian," and will be apt to share in popularity with that grateful rôle.

Mr. Lackaye, as a fellow gambler, divided the favor of the audience with Mr. Farnum. He plays the rôle with true unction and every line wins him a laugh. Mr. Johnstone does the fiery Tom Randall effectively, but it is regrettable that the authors have made the young southerner such an unprincipled rascal. His zeal for vengeance would scarcely drive him to the stealing of a dead man's gun, and then lying about it, and his so doing is not demanded by dramatic needs.

Mr. Pitman does Anatole admirably and Mr. Seeley, Mr. Harrington, and Mr. Deyo are all well placed. Donald Gallaher has the prominent rôle of the boy of the household, and does it as effectively as he does all he undertakes. May Buckley is the heroine and makes her not only sweet, girlish, and winsome, but lends so much of sincerity and big eyed earnestness to her scenes of sentiment and emotion that they ring true and win instant response from the onlooker. Miss Hosford is commendable as Mme. Davezac, and Miss Shelby and Miss Lloyd are competent. W. L. Hubbard.

"An Englishman's Home" in New York

New York, March 22.—[Special.]—Maj. Guy du Maurier's play, called "An Englishman's Home," was produced in New York for the first time tonight at the Criterion theater.

The play, which deals with the sudden invasion of England by a continental army and reveals in consequence the woeful unpreparedness of the British forces, has created such interest in London that a reflected curiosity on the part of Americans was to be expected. The plot, however, is so local to England that no unusual interest was displayed.

At all events the play practically resulted in the complete rout of the anti-militarist party in England, and has filled the ranks of the territorials to overflowing and given all Great Britain a terrible shiver.

It is well worth while to bring the play to America if only that we might see what in the world it could be that could congeal the British marrow. But as things turned out "An Englishman's Home" proves to be considerably more than a curiosity or a sensation. It contains a deal of excellent satire that is quite as comprehensible here as it must have been on the other side of the water while in the last two acts the rush of action is so breathless and the cumulative tragedies and brutalities of war are so vividly set forth upon the stage that it grips the attention and stirs imagination to the final curtain.

The principal rôles were acted by William Hawtrey, J. H. Beurimo, and Nellie Thorne.

TELLS VALUE OF HOSPITAL.

Dr. William E. Quine Praises Tuberculosis Sanitarium Plan.

SHOWS SAVING TO STATE.

Baptist and Methodist Ministers Give Aid to the Project.

BY WILLIAM E. QUINE, M. D.

I consider the proposal to establish a municipal tuberculosis sanitarium in Chicago the most benevolent and intelligent movement of this generation in the interest of the sick poor and, incidentally, of the community at large. The movement is deserving of the support of every rational citizen.

In general terms, assuming that the value to the state of a human life is $5,000, the value commonly placed, the saving to the state in one year would be ten times greater than the expense of the operation and maintenance of this sanitarium.

If in the short period of ten years the mortality rate from consumption in Massachusetts can be reduced 40 per cent, the same can easily be done in Illinois or anywhere else.

If it be true, as there are statistics to show, that 10,000 lives annually are sacrificed to tuberculosis in Illinois, the saving of 40 per cent of that number would be a work of benevolence that might well challenge the sympathy and coöperation of every one of God's creatures.

Ministers Inderse Plan.

The proposition to establish a municipal tuberculosis sanitarium was indorsed by ministers of the Baptist and Methodist ministers' conferences at the weekly meeting yesterday.

Dr. W. A. Evans, commissioner of health, spoke at the conference and asked the ministers to "see to it" that the members of their several congregations vote for the new hospital at the April election. Edward R. Pritchard, secretary of the Chicago health department, and J. H. Wilson, also of the department, spoke to the ministers.

"The question of establishing these sanitaria in cities and villages of the state is now up to the people, the legislature having authorized a referendum vote to be taken at the spring elections," said Dr. Pritchard.

"Consumption easily is cured in its incipient stages and the establishment of hospitals here at home within easy reach of the wage earner will save life and money to families unable to bear the expense of sending their afflicted ones to foreign sanitaria. The cost will be one-tenth of 1 cent on the dollar in the annual tax levy—a small small. Last year 3,345 persons died of consumption in Chicago. Many of these could have been saved, doubtless, with this hospital in operation."

Will Hold Massmeeting.

Physicians who are strong advocates of the municipal sanitarium and are interested in the war on tuberculosis will hold a mass meeting at the McKinley High school, Seeley and Hoyne avenues, Thursday night. Ministers, teachers, and voters are especially invited to the meeting.

The speakers will be Dr. William A. Evans, commissioner of health; Dr. J. W. Pettit, head of the Ottawa sanitarium for consumptives; Dr. G. W. Webster, chairman of the state board of health, and Miss Jane Addams of Hull house. The meeting will be the first of a series which will form a portion of an educational campaign for a municipal sanitarium which will be continued until election day.

JUDGES FRAME PROBATION BILL

Olson Will Submit New Measure Closely Defining Powers of Court to the Legislature Today.

Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal court will submit an adult probation bill to the legislature today.

A committee consisting of Judges Gemmill, Cottrell, and Wells, chosen a week ago to prepare amendments to the Dellenback bill, reported at a meeting of the judges held in the chief justice's room yesterday, where the new parole bill was discussed.

According to the chief justice, the new bill has met the approval of the majority of the judges. While he refused to divulge its provisions, he stated that the liberty of judges in paroling offenders will be more closely defined than in either the Dellenback bill or the Juul bill, of which Judge Cleland has accepted the authorship.

The move to change the criminal branch of the Municipal court at the Shakspeare avenue station to the West Chicago avenue station was referred to Judge Houston, who will report at the next meeting.

LECTURES ON CRIMINAL CODE.

John F. Geeting Delivers the First of a Series of Addresses Before Law School Students.

John F. Geeting yesterday opened a series of noonday lectures before the entire law school of the Northwestern university at the University building, Dearborn and Lake streets. The subject of his first lecture was "The Illinois Criminal Code."

Mr. Geeting advocated the repeal of all the common law and statutory criminal law which we have inherited from England and the enactment of a new and comprehensive criminal code, which, he said, would be better adapted to present conditions. In the course of his lecture Mr. Geeting said:

"Our criminal code as it now exists is both defective and absurd; unreasonably severe in some instances, inadequate in others; statutes overlap each other, rendering the law uncertain, and in several instances they are in direct conflict. The practice in our criminal courts is clumsy."

'NAVAL RIVALRY AUGURS PEACE'

Prof. Daenell Sees Good in Present Jealousy Between England and Germany.

Jealousy between Germany and England over the question of the ruling power was declared to be a potent influence in the preservation of peace in Europe in a lecture delivered before the Germanistic society at the Art institute last night by Ernst Daenell, professor of medieval and modern history at the University of Kiel.

"The policies of both countries now are much the same," he said. "Each nation strives to prevent trouble between the smaller powers, lest in some conflict one or the other will gain a small advantage."

Dr. Daenell will lecture again before the same society next Monday night at Fullerton hall in the Art institute.

OIL PROSECUTORS WILL RETURN

District Attorney Sims and James H. Wilkerson Expected Back from the Capital.

District Attorney Sims and Special Assistant District Attorney James H. Wilkerson, who have been in Washington in conference with President Taft and officials of the department of justice relative to Standard Oil matters, are expected to return today. At the offices of the district attorney in the federal building it was stated that Mr. Sims and Mr. Wilkerson had been in New York on personal business since Saturday.

ANOTHER TAFT IS ELECTED.

President's Oldest Son Is Chosen Treasurer of Yale College Y. M. C. A. Branch.

New Haven, Conn., March 22.—Robert A. Taft, son of President Taft, was tonight elected treasurer of the Yale university Y. M. C. A.

Walsh's Counsel Gets Week's Delay.

Judge Grosscup granted John S. Miller, chief counsel for John R. Walsh, yesterday an extension of one week, until next Monday, in which to file his brief in the appeal from the sentence of five years in the Leavenworth prison which Judge Anderson imposed on Walsh for misapplication of national bank funds.

NEWS OF THE SOCIETY WORLD

Skating Parties Prove So Popular They Will Be Continued.

FAD RIVALS BRIDGE WHIST.

Misses Kohl Fail to Appear at Salon of Alliance Francaise.

The series of four skating parties arranged by "the committee of ten," five debutantes and five young men, with Buckingham Chandler as business manager, has proven such an exceptional success in point of interest and attendance that the parties will be continued. According to original plans the series was to have ended with last night's party, but those who went to take a farewell skate were greeted with the good news that the success of the idea had warranted the continuance of the parties for the remaining Monday night of March and the Mondays of April, making an entire Lenten season's diversion.

The popularity of roller skating has grown steadily with the recent years after a decline in favor of a decade, and so complete has been its return that Rolaway rink, in North Clark street, where fashionable young folks go for the pastime, not only has evening parties but the debutantes are fond of gathering for an afternoon and even a morning of skating.

"The fad has grown to rivalry with bridge whist," said one of the group. "Heretofore the in-between times in society affairs were spent by the young women at the bridge whist table, but now it is roller skating, and the young women are finding themselves a heap better off for the exercise than sitting cramped up at a card table for hours at a time."

A misunderstanding resulted in disappointment for the Alliance Française, members who gathered at the home of Mrs. Gustavus Swift Jr., 2904 Prairie avenue, for the regular salon of the alliance committee during the afternoon. The disappointment was the failure of the Misses Dorothy and Caroline Kohl, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kohl, to appear. Announcement had been made that the Misses Kohl would appear in a French dialogue, and it had been arranged that they should open the program of the afternoon. But Mrs. Kohl had been out of the city and notification of the plans of the program makers did not reach her. The result was that the Misses Kohl were advertised to appear without the necessary knowledge that they were expected to appear—hence the unexpected gap in the program.

The ballroom on the third floor of the Swift residence was filled with the guests of the afternoon, who were received by the hostess and the president of the committee, Mrs. Frank R. Chandler. Mrs. Chandler wore an empire gown of purple, the material of alternating voile and net stripes. The gown was trimmed with white lace, which was caught at the yoke with a large amethyst brooch. Mrs. Swift wore a princess gown of palest lavender Japanese crêpe, embroidered in birds and flowers in Japanese design. The yoke was of white lace threaded in gold, and the further trimmings were of deeper lavender satin and broad bands of passementerie, in which the lavender shades and gold were wrought.

After the musical and literary program of the afternoon tea was poured in the dining room on the main floor of the residence, Miss Annie Swift, in an empire gown of dull green net, heavily embroidered in large flowers of the same shade about the bottom and built over chiffon velvet of a lighter shade, and Miss Dorothy Crane, in a lavender satin empire, presided at the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Gardner, 5315 Ontario street, Austin, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Kathryn, to Charles H. Davis of Oak Park. A series of receptions and teas are planned for the coming week.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Wilkinson, 906 North Central avenue, Austin, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Edna, to John W. Lohmiller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lohmiller, 5424 Crystal avenue, Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Bonheim, 4838 Calumet avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jewel, to Sidney V. Kaufman of Logansport, Ind.

Wednesday, April 7, is the date set for the wedding of Miss Ellen Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Davis, and Merrill Blaine Johns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Johns. The wedding will take place at the Colonial club, 4445 Grand boulevard, followed by a large reception and dance. Miss Marion Cashin will be maid of honor, and the Misses Ruth Boise, Helen Dodson, Florence Moses, and Elsie Ashby will serve as bridemaids. G. Stearns Bushnell will serve as best man, and the ushers will be Harry Chichester, Mills Hefner, Warner Robinson, and James Harvey. Masters Harold Davis and John R. Thompson Jr. will stretch the ribbons.

Miss Mary Yeagel gave a dinner last night for members of the bridal party, and this afternoon Miss Florence Moses will entertain at a luncheon, to be followed by a hosiery shower. This evening the ushers will give a box party and supper. Tomorrow Miss Ruth Boise and Helen Dodson will give a luncheon and matinée party. The following evening Miss Marion Cashin will entertain at dinner and bridge. Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Johns will give a box party. Next Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Brochon will entertain at tea.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Ellis Clark, 940 Pratt avenue, Rogers Park, announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Ellis, to Mr. Beverley Price Lientz of Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. W. H. Pool will give a kitchen shower on Wednesday, March 31. Mr. Bushnell will give a dinner at the Colonial club on April 2, and the party will attend a dance later. Mr. Johns will give a box party and supper on the evening of April 3, and on April 5 Mr. and Mrs. Davis will give a dinner.

Mrs. Ogden Armour, Mrs. Cyrus Bentley Jr., Mrs. Edward Brewster, Mrs. D. H. Burnham, Mrs. Clyde Carr, Mrs. A. S. Peabody, Mrs. J. W. Scott, Mrs. Royal C. Vilas, Miss Belle Waller, Mrs. J. C. Webster, Mrs. D. S. Wegg, Mrs. J. M. Witherspoon, Mrs. W. J. Chalmers, Mrs. Charles Conover, Mrs. C. C. Curtiss, Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, Mrs. Charles Deering, Mrs. Albert Dick, Mrs. John De Koven, Mrs. David R. Forgan, Mrs. A. T. Galt, Mrs. William E. Kelley, Mrs. N. D. Kerfoot, Mrs. R. H. McElwee, and Mrs. Frank—. McMullin will serve as patronesses for the annual Easter flower sale for the Home for Destitute Crippled Children. The sale will be given in the Japanese tearoom of the Congress hotel on April 10.

Dr. and Mrs. Philip Quitman, 301 La Salle avenue, will be at home to their friends tomorrow evening from 8 until 10 o'clock, in honor of the fortieth, the ruby, anniversary of their marriage.

Mrs. Sherman T. Edwards, 1 Elizabeth court, Oak Park, is arranging an elaborate luncheon for the members of the Oak Park club for April 14, to be held in the banquet room of the clubhouse, Park place and North boulevard. A reception will follow the luncheon.

Mrs. Albert W. Hester, 1504 Sheridan road, Buena park, entertained forty young women of the Delta Gamma chapter of Northwestern university yesterday afternoon. Miss Marian Hester, in whose honor it was given, is finishing at the university after four years' attendance at Tudor hall, Miss Fredonia Allen's school for girls at Indianapolis.

Mrs. J. Ellsworth Gross, regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, gave a tea yesterday afternoon at her residence, 2800 Michigan avenue, in honor of Mrs. Adlai Stevenson of Bloomington, who is here as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Martin Hardin, for a few days.

Mrs. Hermanus Baer (Mabel McKinley) of Mount Vernon and Mrs. James Heidt (Grace McKinley) of Indianapolis, are the guests of Mrs. Louis E. Yager, 400 Forest avenue, Oak Park. Both Mrs. Baer and Mrs. Heidt are nieces of the late President McKinley. Capt. Heidt is stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison, and, with Lieut. James McKinley, will arrive in Oak Park the latter part of the week to participate in the Yager house party.

MISS GASTON IN ADDRESS BLAMES WOMEN WHO SMOKE.

Customs of Some Society Leaders, She Says, Make Fight Against the Use of Cigarets Doubly Hard.

Saloons, and also cigarets, are doomed, according to Lucy Page Gaston, who spoke yesterday before the civics and sociology departments of the Austin Woman's club, at the residence of Dr. Etta G. Hilton, 208 North Central avenue.

"The first step to perdition is taken when a young girl smokes her first cigaret," said Miss Gaston. "The fact that this vulgar and ruinous habit is not confined to the vicious and evil classes makes our work for the ultimate extinction of the weed doubly hard.

"Not long ago a young girl came to me, begging for a cure for the tobacco habit. She said her family physician had advised her to smoke cigarets as a remedy for weariness and nervous exhaustion. Today that girl is a cigaret fiend and a drunkard."

Miss Gaston said the state of Indiana, which recently repealed the anti-cigaret law, had been paid many thousands of dollars by the tobacco trust for doing so.

WIDOW'S PENSION IN PERIL WHEN HUSBAND COMES BACK.

John Alles' Return to Wilmette After Fourteen Years of Absence Convinces Wife He Is Not Dead.

The sudden appearance of John Alles of Wilmette after an absence from his family of fourteen years brings to light the fact that Mrs. Alles has been receiving a widow's pension for several years.

Mr. Alles left for his work with the Northwestern Gas company one summer day in the year 1894. He gave no explanation to his wife that he would be gone longer than usual, but nothing was heard from him until Sunday morning, when he appeared at his home in Wilmette and announced that he was ready for dinner. He had been in California during his absence working on a fruit farm.

Two years after his disappearance Mrs. Alles, thinking he was dead, obtained from the government a pension of $12 a month for Mr. Alles' services during the civil war.

SOCIETY AT NATION'S CAPITAL.

Brazilian Ambassador and Mme. Nabuco Entertain Lady Paget at Embassy Dinner.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—Lady Paget, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moore, was the guest for whom the Brazilian ambassador and Mme. Nabuco entertained at dinner tonight at the embassy. Others in the company were Senator Root, the Belgian minister and Baroness Moncheur, Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, Mrs. Truman H. Newberry, the Portuguese minister, Viscount de Alte, the Chilean minister and Mme. Cruz, Mr. Huntington Wilson, assistant secretary of state, the assistant secretary of the navy and Mrs. Beekman Winthrop, Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson, Miss Patten, Mr. Mitchell Innes, and Mr. Do Amaral, counselor of the Brazilian embassy.

The Society of Colonial Dames entertained at a large tea this afternoon at the Arlington hotel. The affair was complimentary to the national president, Mrs. William Ruffin Cox of Richmond, Va.

Miss Ada Newlands, niece of Senator Newlands, and Dr. Virginius Dabney will be married May 18. The ceremony will be performed at Chevy Chase church and a small reception will follow at the senator's home in Woodley lane. Miss Newlands will have as her attendants Miss Gertrude Williams, Miss Katherine Jennings, and Miss Feroline Perkins. The ushers will be Dr. Henry Parker, James Crawford, and Frederick Faust.

Mrs. Joseph Leiter, accompanied by her sister, Miss Dorothy Williams, has gone to New York.

Mrs. Charles Munn has returned to her home here after a visit in Chicago with Mrs. Marshall Field.

HUSBAND STAYS OUT LATE.

Mrs. Lange Complains of This and Scanty Support in a Suit for Divorce.

C. D. Lange, part owner of the Advertisers' Engraving company, 155 Washington street, is defendant in a suit for divorce filed in the Superior court yesterday by Martha Lange. She alleges that her husband has not allowed her more than from 75 cents to $1 a day to pay all household expenses, and that he remains away until 2 o'clock in the morning six and seven nights a week.

Separate maintenance proceedings were filed against William H. Mortimer, contractor, in the Circuit court yesterday by Helen L. Mortimer. Mrs. Mortimer avers the defendant has paid large sums to detective agencies to have her "shadowed."

PRAYER SERVICES ARE BEGUN

Oak Park Women Conduct Meetings at Various Residences.

TELLS OF IRELAND'S BEAUTY

Prof. Rohan Speaks Tonight Before Marquette Council K. of C.

Cottage prayer meetings are being held in groups of Oak Park residences in anticipation of the special meetings to begin April 1 under the leadership of the Rev. H. W. Stough of the Third Congregational church. Services will be conducted in the homes of Mrs. Frederick Mundt, 835 Bellefort avenue; Mrs. E. H. Spofford, 728 Grove avenue; H. E. Compton, 815 Woodbine avenue; C. E. Nelson, 521 Forest avenue; Oscar Lindquist, 725 Marion street, and Hugh Gair, 115 Ontario street, Friday evening.

Massmeetings and Entertainments.

MARQUETTE COUNCIL NO. 244, KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS, will entertain with a "women's night" at 390 Dearborn avenue tonight. Prof. Michael G. Rohan of Marquette university, Milwaukee will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Beautiful Ireland," and Miss Josephine McGarry will give a recitation.

MEMBERS OF THE EDGEWATER COUNTRY CLUB have set aside tonight for "women's night." Whist contests will be held this afternoon by the women of the club, and Thursday evening will be devoted to a series of whist games.

THE COLONIAL CLUB will give a formal party Friday night. Euchre will be played by members of the club this evening, and bowling contests will be held tomorrow.

WOMEN OF THE AUSTIN CHRISTIAN CHURCH will serve a cafeteria luncheon next Tuesday for the benefit of the church's building fund. The affair will be given in the parlors of the church, and will be in charge of Mrs. T. T. Green.

THE AUSTIN CIRCLE, LADIES G. A. R., will meet today in the Royal league hall.

A "SIGHT SEEING" SOCIAL will be given tonight by the Young People's federation of the First Presbyterian church of Oak Park.

"FORESTRY" WILL BE THE SUBJECT OF AN ADDRESS before the Lowell and Nineteenth Century clubs of Oak Park Thursday evening at the Scoville institute by E. Mills, state forester of Colorado.

THE BELOIT GLEE CLUB will give a concert next Saturday night at the Warrington opera house, Oak Park. Henry Arnold of Oak Park is leader of the club, and in his honor a number of dinners and box parties are being arranged by his Oak Park friends. Owing to the Lenten season only appropriate festivities will be considered for the entertainment of the college boys.

The patronesses who will give dinners on the night of the affair, and later entertain their guests at the concert, are Mrs. Stephen B. Jones, Mrs. Henry P. Magill, Mrs. Louis E. Yager, Mrs. George W. Jones, Mrs. F. B. Morehead, Mrs. Sampson Rogers, Mrs. Howard Lyle Simmons, and Mrs. George D. Webb.

THE CHICAGO COMMONS WOMAN'S CLUB will hold a spring social today. Mrs. W. A. Sheridan, who recently returned from the orient, will be the guest of honor. Miss Anna Reuter will have charge of the music.

MEMBERS OF THE NORWOOD PARK WOMAN'S CLUB will meet at the home of Mrs. J. H. Hughes today, and listen to "original stories" by Mrs. F. A. Rich and Mrs. Lucy M. Farnum.

ILLUSTRATED READINGS by James E. McDade under the auspices of the Lincoln park commissioners will be given this evening in the auditorium of Seward park.

THE EXECUTIVE BOARD OF THE ROGERS PARK PLAYGROUND ASSOCIATION will meet this evening at the residence of Mrs. Philip Barnard, 527 Pratt avenue, to discuss extension work.

URGES PITY FOR THE RICH.

Pastor Mitchell Says Millionaires Are Neglected More than Any Other People by the Churches.

Pity for the rich was advocated by the Rev. Charles Bayard Mitchell yesterday in an address at the weekly meeting of Methodist ministers.

"The most neglected people in Chicago by the churches are the fabulously rich," he said. "I venture to say that there were not fifty millionaires in church yesterday. We pity the poor down and out drunkard, but how few of us pity the poor rich."

At the Congregational ministers' weekly meeting the Rev. William B. Millard of Morgan Park church spoke on "American Irreverence."

"Many a time I have seen an evangelist call upon some one to pray," he said, "and then engage in whispered conferences or give pantomime instructions to choir leaders or others."

He suggested the reintroduction of kneeling benches in church pews.

Hugh Crabbe Gets Suits Continued.

Because Hugh Crabbe is ill the $25,000 breach of promise suit of Marion Mattes, 5900 Michigan avenue, against him, and his suits for $3,500 back salary against the L. Z. Leiter estate and for $416 back salary against Joseph Leiter's coal company were continued in the municipal court yesterday.

It's No Cost To You

Any Grocer will return your money if you are not satisfied with your can of

Snider Pork & Beans

That's fair, isn't it?

If we didn't know that we could win you and hold you we wouldn't make this offer—would we?

PORK BEANS WITH TOMATO SAUCE

Beans are about 23% proteids—energy and strength-producing elements; and are therefore more powerful for body-building and repair than good bread, beef, eggs, and many other foods costing more.

Clean, perfect, government-inspected pork, is cooked by the exclusive scientific Snider Process, with the finest selected beans that any man on earth could pick out.

With, or without the piquant Tomato Sauce, prepared from the famous seven-spiced Snider Tomato Catsup, blended throughout the can, and you have a dish that will work right down your palate to your pocketbook and ask you to buy more—

"It's the Process"

Order a can from your grocer—let a trial tell its own tale and you be the judge.

"Hurrying to look it over"

AMERICAN & IDEAL
RADIATORS BOILERS

If a house isn't heated properly it is uncomfortable, cheerless, and unhealthful—its value depreciates and its rent goes down with each rapidly moving tenant. IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators distribute nothing but clean, pure, healthful warmth through every room, nook, and corner of the house. They do away with all the toil and troubles of old-fashioned heating, and save enough at the coal-bin and in absence of repairs to soon pay for the outfit. When property is sold owner gets full money back, or 10% to 15% increased rentals.

A No. 17-3-W IDEAL Boiler and 300 ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $145, were used to Hot-Water heat this cottage.

A No. 1-22-W IDEAL Boiler and 400 ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $190, were used to Hot-Water heat this cottage.

At these prices the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include cost of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which installation is extra and varies according to climatic and other conditions.

Whether you are an owner, tenant, or intending builder, do not delay investigating this best-paying feature in any building—whether cottage, mansion, store, church, school, etc. Ask for our free valuable booklet, "Ideal Heating." Write, telephone, or call to-day. Prices are now most favorable.

IDEAL Boilers will supply the necessary heat at night for not less than 8 hours in zero weather with one charging of coal, and there is ample fire to start up for the next day. None of the heat is wasted up the chimney.

BUYING BOOSTS STOCK LIST

Heavy Purchases for London Account Factor in Wall Street.

COMMISSION TRADE LIGHT.

Foreign News Helpful in Making Market Tone Better.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

NEW YORK, March 22.—[Special.]—The rise in prices on the stock exchange today was started by unusually heavy purchases for London account shortly after the opening of business and its continued progress to the close of the day, when quotations were practically at their high levels, was due in large measure to short covering.

Cables from London were exceptionally optimistic, a great deal of more cheerful sentiment flowing from assurance of a peaceful settlement of the questions at issue between Austria and Servia. The breaking down of the Paris strike, which has seriously crippled communication between London and Paris for a numer of days, also was a factor in the situation abroad.

Buying at Low Ebb.

In commission houses here buying was at so low an ebb as to preclude any idea of an increase in investment business, although there went forward uninterruptedly the moderate purchases, particularly in odd lots, which had been a feature of the market since the new year. It is plain that a heavy short interest was built up on the theory that the introduction of the new tariff bill in congress would precipitate serious declines in the prices of securities. Nothing of the sort has happened and operators who sold stocks on this assumption are naturally nervous over their position and ready to run to cover whenever the stock market displays any symptoms of strength. This explains well enough the general character of today's rise in prices.

By the announcement that no decision would be handed down by the Supreme court and that that body would not meet again until April 5, the possibility of a decision in "commodities clause" for two weeks at least was removed and Reading shares moved forward sharply upon a heavy volume of buying. Smelting copper stocks were strong upon better news from the market for the products of these companies, while the railroad list reflected the consistent improvement in traffic returns.

Gold Movement Goes On.

Additional engagements of gold for export to London made during the day brought the total taken for shipment thus far this week up to $5,300,000. Some of this gold, like a part of that which went out last week, was secured by joint stock banks in London for the purpose of increasing specie reserves. Since public opinion is running strong upon this point in England, and the moment is a favorable one for the operation, the movement of gold probably will run much further. From the government the local banks have gained only a little under $800,000 since Friday of last week, and the money market continues to display complete indifference to the gold movement.

Money on call easy; 1½@2 per cent; ruling rate, 1¾; closing bid, 1¾; offered at 2. Time loans dull and firm; 60 days, 2½ per cent; 90 days, 2½@2¾ per cent; six months, 2¾@3 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 3½@4 per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 486.20@486.30 for 60 day bills and at 488.25 for demand. Commercial bills, 486@486⅛. Bar silver, 50⅞. Mexican dollars, 44. Government bonds firm. Railroad bonds steady.

IN THE BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., March 22.—[Special.]—Boston specialties were neglected today. An advance in copper metal in London and New York and news that the general tone of the metal market was better, gave encouragement to Boston traders, but they did not buy many stocks. Amalgamated was fairly active, with some trading in North Butte, Atlantic, East Butte, and Lake, but coppers as a whole were dull. Call loans, 2½@3 per cent; time loans, short dates, 3@3½ per cent; time loans, six months, 3¼@3½ per cent; time money, year, 4@4¼ per cent.

ACCUSED OF "SELLING" JUSTICE

Two Indicted on Charges of Promising to "Settle" Robbery Case Through the State's Attorney.

John C. Kay and Louis Sullivan, who recently were arrested on bench warrants issued by Judge Brentano, were indicted jointly yesterday on five counts charging them with attempting to defeat justice by operating a confidence game and obtaining money under false pretenses. The charge is that they conspired to extort $75 from James Carter, a saloonkeeper at 2210 Wabash avenue, on the promise that they would "settle" a charge of robbery made against him by Joseph Manning. It is alleged they represented that they could "reach" State's Attorney Wayman's office and that if Carter would return the money he would not be prosecuted.

IN THE WORLD OF FINANCE

Booth & Co. Preferred Most Active Stock on Chicago List.

LITTLE CHANCE FOR PROFIT.

Reorganization in Stockholders' Interest Deemed Improbable.

Business was moderately active on the Chicago stock exchange. There are still persons who will buy A. Booth & Co. preferred, and this was the most active stock on the list. The price, however, is low, $1.25 for a $100 share. There is nothing whatever in the situation at this time to warrant the belief that a reorganization can be effected in the interest of the stockholders.

The banks have been hoping that the larger shareholders would get together and offer a proposition which they could accept. However, with the indictment of W. Vernon Booth much of the incentive which previously existed for the leading stockholders to advance a considerable sum of cash was dissipated. The strongest interests in the company have failed to create any impression on the banks.

People's Gas stock was moderately active. The rights are freely dealt in at almost steady prices. Boxboard preferred showed some firmness, but the business was small.

In the bond department there was little doing. Quotations were steady.

New La Salle Street Brokerage Firm.

It was announced that on April 1 Solomon Sturges, his brother, Washington Sturges, and D. Jack Hall would organize a commission house under the firm name of Solomon Sturges & Co., with offices on the tenth floor of the Merchants Loan and Trust building. Solomon Sturges a few weeks ago purchased a membership on the New York stock exchange. He was formerly a partner in the firm of Alfred L. Baker & Co. and has for a number of years been in the brokerage business. His brother, Washington Sturges, is the head of the firm of Sturges & Co. and is the sole broker of Chicago banks in handling New York exchange. Mr. Hall was formerly with Alfred L. Baker & Co. and is now with Sturges & Co.

Looks for Higher Prices.

E. P. Russell of Russell, Brewster & Co., has returned from New York. Speaking of market conditions there, he said:

"I found the street generally, while looking forward to dull business for some time, was inclined to be bullish. The business situation is slowly improving, and there is no apprehension on the score of money. It is thought rates will continue to rule easy. After the tariff is settled and something is known more definitely about the crops, an active and higher market is looked for."

Pay-as-You-Enter Cars.

In discussing the installation of pay-as-you-enter cars on the New York surface lines, the management estimates that from 6 to 7 per cent is lost in fares as collections are now made. Owing to the crowded condition of the cars, passengers are overlooked. It is figured that pilfering by conductors amounts to between 1 and 2 per cent of the gross receipts. The losses are mostly made during the rush hours. It has been suggested to the management that two conductors be placed on the car, one to give attention to the stopping and starting signals and the other to give his undivided attention to the collection of fares. This proposed change applies to the present system. But it is considered doubtful whether the saving thus effected would pay the additional wages. The pay-as-you-enter car will do away with the necessity for an extra conductor.

Large Copper Sales Yesterday.

It was announced yesterday that 8,000,000 pounds of copper was sold in the course of the day at 12½c a pound. It is estimated that the total stocks of copper on hand will, on April 1, be substantially 200,000,000 lbs. Copper has been dull for some months. The mining concerns, however, are unwilling to shut down, preferring to continue mining at a small profit, or even a loss, rather than disrupt their working organization. It is said cable and wire manufacturing is behind, even for this time of the year. The brass industry shows some improvement.

Cast Iron Pipe and Tariff.

An interest connected with the management of the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry company says the proposed reduction in the duty on cast iron pipe from $8 to $5 a ton will not affect the market until prices have advanced above the present level, but it will preclude the possibility of a return to the basis of 1906 and 1907, and without a corresponding reduction in the cost of production, which is hardly possible, net earnings could not again reach the level of those years. The plants of the company are running between 75 and 80 per cent of normal.

Railroad Earnings.

Net earnings of the Erie railroad for February, it is said, amount to approximately $900,000. This will compare with net earnings of $195,000 for the corresponding month in 1908. The results for January made a good showing, and the management looks for satisfactory returns for the current month.

General Financial News.

Engagements of gold for shipment today reached a total of $4,800,000. The metal will be exported to London.

An officer of the American Can company is quoted as saying the reduction of $5 a ton on the price of tin plate will not affect earnings, since all contracts are made with customers providing they shall have the benefits of such cuts in prices.

At the New York metal exchange lake copper advanced ⅛c in the bid and asked figures, and electroylytic advanced ⅛c in the bid prices and ¼c in the asked price. Quotations are: Lake, 12⅝c to 12⅞c; electrolytic, 12¼@12½c; casting, 12⅛@12⅜c.

The New York coffee exchange will be closed on Good Friday, April 9, and on Saturday, April 10.

IN THE FOREIGN STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, March 22.—Money was firm and dearer on the market today and discounts were easy. On the stock exchange the more reassuring news regarding the Balkan negotiations helped the sentiment and induced a little fresh buyings under which consols rose ¼ and foreigners went up, while home rails benefited by moderate investment buying. Copper shares picked up on the strength and activity of the metal. American securities slightly exceeded parity in the forenoon in spite of New York's continued shipment of gold, and with New York supporting the market in the afternoon prices improved and closed firm after a fair amount of business had been transacted. Mexican rails ruled strong on dividend rumors.

RIOT VETERAN FILES A SUIT.

Edward Rupel, Who Was in Haymarket Disturbance, Seeks Reinstatement in Police Department.

Edward Rupel, who resigned from the police department in 1889, filed a petition in the Circuit court yesterday afternoon asking a writ of mandamus to compel his reinstatement. Rupel, who is a veteran of the Haymarket riot, says that at the time of his resignation he was ordered to report for work, although physically unable to do so. His forced resignation, he avers, was in effect an illegal discharge and therefore he asks the issuance of a writ.

THE PACIFIC TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH CO.

(Bell Company on Pacific Coast)

First Mortgage and Collateral Trust Five Per Cent Sinking Fund Thirty-Year Gold Bonds

Dated January 2, 1907. Due January 2, 1937.

Bonds may be retired at 110 on January 2, 1922, or any interest date thereafter. Interest payable January 2 and July 2 at New York or San Francisco. Denomination, $1,000, coupon or registered bonds. Tax exempt in California. Mercantile Trust Company of San Francisco, Trustee.

We offer the above bonds at 95½ and accrued interest.

Payment to be made on and after March 29th, upon delivery of J. P. Morgan & Co. temporary certificates.

We have received a letter from Mr. E. C. Bradley, Vice President and General Manager, a brief summary of which follows. Copies of the letter may be obtained at our offices.

A majority of the outstanding capital stock of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company is owned by The American Telephone and Telegraph Company (The Bell sytem of the United States).

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company owns and controls the entire Bell Telephone business on the Pacific coast. The territory served is rapidly increasing in population and wealth, and includes such important and growing centers as San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland, Tacoma and Spokane, together with every other important city in the states of California, Washington and Oregon.

Earnings have shown an uninterrupted annual increase for many years, the financial statement for the years ended December 31, 1906, 1907, 1908, being officially reported as follows:

Gross revenue	$7,982,520.00	$9,099,074.70	$10,535,109.21
Operating expenses, taxes and maintenance	6,360,397.00	7,066,261.09	7,738,281.70
Net income	1,622,123.00	2,032,813.61	2,796,827.51
Annual bond interest on $23,000,000 bonds			1,157,500.00
Balance			1,639,327.51

Net income nearly two and one-half times annual bond interest. Actual bond interest was considerably less than $1,157,500, owing to $10,000,000 of the first and collateral 5s having been outstanding for less than a year. The gross revenue of the combined companies operated by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company for the last five years shows the following uninterrupted annual increase:

	1904	1905	1906	1907	1908
Gross revenue	$6,824,506	$7,884,071	$7,982,520	$9,909,074	$10,535,109

The present value of the purely physical property of the company, without considering good will, franchises or other intangible values, and allowing over $6,000,000 for depreciation, is estimated at $35,000,000, or over fifty per cent in excess of all outstanding bonds, including those above offered, the proceeds of part of which will be used still further to increase the already large equity over and above the company's bonds. The property is in excellent physical condition, over $18,000,000 having been expended on the property during the past four years, during which period a large percentage of the plant and equipment was installed new or completely modernized.

The bonds above offered are secured by a first mortgage, either direct or by deposit of securities, on the entire plant and property of the company, subject only to $3,000,000 bonds of one of the constituent companies, maturing and subject to redemption in 1913, when the company has obligated itself to retire them, at which time the first mortgage and collateral trust 5s will become a first lien, either direct or through the deposit of securities, on the entire plant and property of the company.

Application will be made to list the bonds on the New York Stock Exchange as soon as possible.

A simultaneous offering is being made by Messrs. Kidder, Peabody & Co. and ourselves in Boston, and subscriptions will also be received by Messrs. Drexel & Co., Philadelphia; Messrs. Kidder, Peabody & Co., New York; Messrs. N. W. Harris & Co., New York and Boston, and

A moderate improvement was noted in the export demand again and sales late Saturday and yesterday aggregated approximately 500,000 bu. Exporters had orders under the market and the decline caught many of these. Country offerings continue light.

Crop advices were varied as usual, but there was a larger percentage of bad reports than usual. Most of the complaints came from the soft winter wheat sections, but the reports from the hard winter sections were almost uniformly favorable. Logan-Bryan had a number of messages from Ohio in which the crop outlook was portrayed in a dismal light, and Bennet had some Missouri advices of the same character. Smiley, the secretary of the Kansas Grain Dealers' association, was reported to estimate the damage to soft winter wheat at 25 per cent. Hall-Baker of Kansas City in their weekly report estimate the condition of wheat in Kansas at about 90, which is above the average at this season. The last named report admitted that soft wheat condition in southeastern counties of Kansas was only about 75.

There was another small increase in the visible supply, 85,000 bu, against a decrease of 1,100,000 bu a year ago. The Canadian visible increased 586,000 bu. Corn decreased 265,000 bu and oats increased 193,000 bu. Rye decreased 61,000 bu and barley increased 65,000 bu. Comparative visible figures follow:

	Last wk.	Previous wk.	Last year.
Wheat	37,080,000	36,995,000	30,587,000
Corn	6,352,000	6,617,000	5,990,000
Oats	9,141,000	8,948,000	9,122,000

Barley	3,117,000	3,052,000	3,526,000

A late cable from Broomhall saying it was reported that there remains only 4,000,000 bu of wheat in Australia to be shipped out was regarded as an improbable piece of information by the trade in general. The exportable surplus of that country has been variously estimated at between 32,000,000 to 40,000,000 bu, of which 20,516,000 bu has already been shipped out. It was considered unlikely that there should have been such a radical error in calculations, especially as the weekly shipments have been unusually large, suggesting a large crop.

Le Count wired Barrell & Co. from Wichita: "Wheat acreage in Oklahoma about 25 per cent less than last year. Farmers in that state are planting oats and corn in the north and cotton in the south. There is a world of corn back in farmers' hands, but the wheat is pretty well cleaned up."

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 82 cars; corn, 238 cars; oats, 194 cars; rye, 15 cars; barley, 64 cars; hogs, 24,000.

Supplies of wheat on ocean passage decreased 1,928,000 bu. Corn increased 406,000 bu.

SHORTS RALLY WHEAT MART

Bears Are Run In on Report of Light Australian Supplies.

ROUTINE NEWS IS BEARISH.

May Corn Closes Higher After Early Slump; Oats Have Late Upturn.

Short covering on an oversold market made a sharp advance near the close of the session in wheat yesterday, which practically wiped out the early losses sustained. Sentiment was again rampantly bearish and aggressive selling forced values about 1c lower than the previous close, but sustaining orders in the hands of commission houses cleaned up the offerings and a late cable from Broomhall giving a bullish estimate of Australian supplies found the pit bare of wheat and prices rallied easily. Final quotations were 1-16@¼c lower. Trade was on a moderate scale, with nearly all the news factors of a bearish character.

Foreign News Mainly Bearish.

Early session news from the other side of the Atlantic was unqualifiedly bearish, the main features being the large world's shipments—11,328,000 bu, against 10,528,000 bu—the reported settlement of the Austro-Servian difficulty, and liberal offerings of La Plata wheat. The increase is on passage stocks did not materialize as expected, there being a loss in the total of 1,928,000 bu. Spot markets abroad were easy, and Liverpool was trying to resell Manitoba wheat bought last week. Crop conditions were reported generally as more favorable in Germany and there was a sharp decline in that market—1⅛c. Liverpool closed ⅞@1¼d lower. Budapest was ⅛c higher. Paris was ½c higher to ¼c lower, and Antwerp ⅝c off.

May Corn Is Wanted.

Buying of May wheat by shorts on reports of better export demand was the feature in the corn trade. Opening prices were lower in sympathy with wheat and there was not much change in values until the last half hour, when there was a sharp advance, closing prices being at about the top for the day, with May ⅜c higher, July unchanged, and September ⅛c lower. Primary receipts were 655,000 bu, against 801,000 bu a year ago. Local cars 247, with 238 expected today. Cash market was weak and sample prices were ¼@½c lower. Weather conditions fairly favorable. The visible decreased 265,000 bu. The break in values was responsible for a modest revival of the export demand and total sales, including some late Saturday, were about 500,000 bu. Country offerings were moderate. World's shipments were 2,088,000 bu, against 1,762,000 bu a year ago.

Small Losses in Oats.

Oats followed the course of other grains, lowest prices being made early, with a late rally lifting quotations to about the best point of the day. Shorts covered freely and there was a little outside commission buying on the break. Closing trades were at losses for the day of ⅛@¼c. Primary receipts were 482,000 bu, compared to 939,000 bu a year ago. Local arrivals were 116 cars, with 194 cars promised for today. There was an increase in the visible supply of 193,000 bu. There were reports that seeding was under way in some parts of central Illinois. Reports from the southwest indicated a larger acreage would be under oats this year. Sample prices were ¼@½c lower, with shipping sales of 100,000 bu.

Rye in Fair Demand.

Rye was easy, but car lots met with a good request at the lower prices. May was offered at 80c. No. 2 sold free on board at 80c and No. 4, 68c. No. 3 was quoted 74@79c. Receipts were 4 cars.

Barley was unchanged to 1c lower. Mixers were out of the market owing to the weakness in coarse grains. Malting was quoted 64½@67c, mixing 63@65c, and screenings 50@67c. Receipts were 55 cars.

Flaxseed declined 3c owing to the weakness in northwestern markets. No. 1 northwestern closed at $1.63, No. 1 from the northwest $1.61½, and No. 1 southwestern $1.53.

Timothy seed was dull. March was quoted $3.80, country lots $2.50@3.75. Clover seed was firm. March was quoted $8.90, cash lots $7.50@8.80.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Moderate arrivals had a beneficial effect on competition in all branches of the live stock trade, and appreciations of 10@25c were recorded in prices. Eastern shippers took the initiative in the steer market and bought stock at an uneven advance of 10@25c from the outset, paying relatively higher for the beeves obtainable at from $6.00@6.75. Trading in butcher stock was more uniform and the appreciation in values was confined to 10@15c.

Hogs opened at an advance of only 5c, but by the time the trade was under a full head of steam general values were established at a level 10@15c higher than on last Saturday. The largest gains of the day were recorded in the price of wool sheep and lambs, where few sales were made at less than 25c advance, and instances of 30c gains were noted. Best wool lambs sold at $8.15, the highest price reached in nearly a year, while prime heavy wool wethers sold at $6.60, or 30c higher than was secured for the same class of stock last week. Clipped lambs and sheep were in good demand, but they did not show so much appreciation in values, the gain being limited to 10@15c.

CATTLE.

The posting of general receipts at only 15,000 head served as the signal for a concerted rush on the part of buyers to fill orders, and values were given little consideration when desirable offerings were concerned. The competition between buyers in the steer trade was most spirited at the start, for as long as there were suitable offerings to be had order buyers did not give up the hope of executing commissions, and the way they outbid one another was sufficient to keep sellers from making hasty decisions as to the disposal of holdings. During this period there were many loads of beeves salable at $6.00@6.75 which brought prices fully 25c higher than could have been secured for the same grade of stock late last week, but after a good share of the orders had been filled and supplies consisted largely of inferior stock, sales seldom showed more than 10@15c gain.

Arrivals did not include any strictly choice steers, and the best load on the market sold at $7.15, or 25c lower than the highest figure secured a week ago. Most of the good shipping and killing steers found an outlet at from $6.00@6.75, while the medium grades cleared at from $5.25@5.80, and the plain half fat lots made $4.65@5.00. Cows and heifers met with a broad outlet at the advance of 10@15c, and the total supply was absorbed long before noon. Choice fat cows made $4.00@5.50, while heifers of quality ranged at from $4.25@5.75. Bulls were in moderate supply and more urgent request at a gain of 10c in values, while veal calves were firmly held at the recent advance. Canners and cutters sympathized with beef cows and sold at an advance of 10c. Quotations:

Beef steers, good to prime	$6.50@7.30
Beef steers, plain to good	4.50@6.50
Exporters	5.40@6.45
Beef cows, good to choice	4.50@5.75
Beef cows, plain to good	3.00@4.50

Fat heifers, plain to good	3.50@4.75
Canners and cutters	1.85@3.10
Calves, common to choice heavy	2.50@4.75
Good to prime vealers	7.25@8.50
Feeding steers	4.00@5.00
Stock steers	3.00@4.75

Cattle at six western markets 30,200, against 51,900 a week ago, 47,800 a year ago, and 50,300 two years ago. Total for 1909 to date, 1,641,000, against 1,769,000 the same period in 1908.

HOGS.

Receipts of 40,000 head were about as expected after the limited Saturday arrivals, but shipping orders were exceptionally urgent, and shippers and speculators opened the market paying 5c higher than on the preceding market for hogs of all weights. Packers came in the trade early and were such energetic buyers of their class of stock that it was not long before the price basis had been established at an advance of fully 10@15c. This appreciation failed to restrict buying operations and the total supply of hogs was soon disposed of, the market closing firm at the best prices for the day.

The quality of the hogs was exceptionally desirable and the range of prices was held within remarkably narrow limits, the bulk of the hogs being disposed of at from $6.75@6.95, with shippers and small packers paying up to $7.00 for prime heavy butcher grades. The eastern buyers made up droves of medium weight offerings at around $6.85@6.95, and paid $6.75@6.85 for choice light hogs. Packers bought their mixed swine at from $6.75@6.85, paying up to $6.85@6.95 for prime strongweight lots. Heavy pigs met with a more urgent demand at an advance of 10c, sales being made at from $6.10@6.40. Light pigs did not show much improvement and remained salable at from $5.65@5.80. Quotations:

Selected butchers	6.85@7.00
Prime heavy shippers	6.85@6.95
Medium weight shippers	6.80@6.90

Average price of hogs at Chicago, $6.85, against $6.73 on Saturday, $6.60 a week ago, $5.01 a year ago, and $6.20 two years ago.

Eleven markets received 91,100 hogs, against 161,100 a week ago, 96,100 a year ago, and 100,400 two years ago. Total for 1909 to date, 6,796,000, against 8,546,000 the same period in 1908.

Average weight of hogs at Chicago last week, 208 lbs, against 207 lbs a week ago, 215 lbs a year ago, and 231 lbs two years ago.

Hog purchases for the day follow: Armour & Co., 6,000; Swift & Co., 4,000; Schwarzschild & Sulzberger, 3,200; Morris & Co., 2,850; Anglo-American, 1,400; Hammond, 1,500; Boore & Co., 480; Roberts & Oake, 450; Western Packing Co., 1,100; butchers, 1,000; shippers, 17,000; total, 38,980; left over, 3,000.

SHEEP.

Buyers had to raise their bids up to near last year's highest prices to secure supplies, but they showed little reluctance in doing so when they saw that the demand for live muttons from shippers and local killers would be much too urgent to be satisfied with arrivals which aggregated only 15,000 head. Orders favored stock in fleece, and, while salesmen had little difficulty in securing an advance of at least 25c for sheep and lambs in the wool they had to be satisfied with appreciations of 10@15c in the value of the clipped offerings. The general quality of the stock on the market was uniformly good, and this enabled salesmen to secure prices for lambs which have not been equaled since March 31, 1908.

Two loads of prime Colorado lambs topped the market at $8.15, while several lots reached $8.10, and the bulk of the strictly choice fat offerings cleared at around the $8.00 mark. Clipped lambs sold up to $7.30, with other loads of prime offerings at around $7.00@7.25. Medium grades of stock were taken by country buyers for the purpose of feeding and shearing at around $7.60@7.70, the highest prices of the season for this class of stock. Clipped sheep reached a new high level for the season at $5.50, while wool wethers also were at the zenith of the season at $6.60. Yearlings sold up to $7.50, with other loads of desirable offerings at around $7.25. Old wool ewes of weight and quality made $5.00@6.35, with the less desirable grades selling at from $4.25@4.90. Quotations:

Clipped wethers	5.20@5.50
Wool yearlings	6.40@7.60
Clipped yearlings	6.00@6.40
Heavy wool ewes	5.00@6.00
Light to medium ewes	4.25@5.00
Feeding wethers	5.00@5.40
Feeding ewes	3.25@4.10
Prime fat native lambs	7.75@8.15
Colorados and westerns	7.40@8.15
Plain to medium natives	7.00@7.65
Cull lambs	6.00@7.00
Feeding lambs	6.75@7.70
Clipped lambs	6.25@7.35

Receipts for March 23 were estimated at 4,000 cattle, 24,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep, against actual arrivals of 3,297 cattle, 10,134 hogs, and 13,876 sheep for Tuesday, March 24, 1908.

ON THE BOARD OF TRADE.

The provision list showed a firm tone throughout, regardless of the early weakness in corn and other grains, closing at near the top figures with net gains of 17½c on pork, 10c on lard, and 7½@10c on ribs. The strength in the hog market, which was 10c to 15c higher, and the continued excellent shipping demand at the yards, were the big factors. Exports of lard were a little larger than a week ago and some of the English houses were on the buying side. Western receipts of hogs for the day were 76,200, against 73,700 a year ago. Local arrivals were 42,000, against 45,000 expected, with 24,000 promised for today. Shipments of product were light—92 cars. Some of the early buying was credited to the packers, but light offerings more than any big buying caused the upturn.

Chicago Horse Market.

Most of the interest displayed in the equine trade centered in the market for medium weight chunks salable at from $130.00@175.00. Demand for these came principally from the western agricultural districts, but there were orders from the east for the same class of stock, and a small part of the consignments found an outlet through local channels. Eastern demand for drafters was of fair proportions, but dealers were extreme conservative and showed an inclination to moderate their operations lest they boost values to a higher level. Most of the drafters found an outlet at from $175.00@220.00, while a few odd lots of extra choice offerings sold up to $225.00@250.00, and one head was bid up to $257.50. Drivers made $150.00@350.00, according to weight and action, while small southern chunks cleared at from $65.00@115.00. Mules met with a fair demand at from $75.00@200.00 for light to heavy truck classes. Receipts for the day were estimated at 1,100 head.

IN THE PRODUCE MARKETS.

STRAW.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Rye, $7.50@8.00; oat, $6.50@7.00; wheat, $6.00@6.50.

Groceries.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Business opened fairly active, but there was no snap to the demand for any particular commodity and values remained at a practically unchanged level. The canned goods market was featured by less pressing offerings of poorly packed tomatoes at cut prices and the firming up of asking prices for the standard 3 lb. cans. The demand continued largely of the hand to mouth character, but it was noticed that buyers were making more inquiries about the future and orders for later shipment could have been booked at slightly under schedule prices. Peas and corn met with a fair spot demand, but there was no speculative interest shown in the market. The general tendency of dried fruit values was an upward one and offerings on the market were more limited than at any previous time so far this season. Demand for cereals was quiet, but prices showed no signs of weakening.

Sugar and Coffee.

SUGAR.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Demand continued unrestricted and values were firmly held at the recent advance. Following were the ruling prices in wholesale circles, quotations being on 100 lb lots: Standard granulated, beet and cane, $4.95@5.05; cut loaf, H. & E., $6.50; standard powdered, $5.45; extra C, $4.60; canary, $4.45; chemically pure milk sugar, 18c per lb in brl lots.

NEW YORK, March 22.—SUGAR—Raw, steady; fair refining, 3.42c; centrifugal, 96 test, 3.92c; molasses sugar, 3.17c; refined, steady; crushed, 5.55c; powdered, 4.95c; granulated, 4.85c.

COFFEE.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Demand for spot roasted coffees was active and values were maintained at the advance noted last week. Receipts at Rio were 6,000 bags and at Santos 3,000 bags.

NEW YORK, March 22.—COFFEE—Spot, steady; No. 7 Rio, 8¼c; No. 4 Santos, 9c; mild coffee, quiet; Cordova, 9¾@13c. Futures opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points in sympathy with lower European cables and as a result of scattered realizing. Trading was quiet and prices showed no further change of consequence, the close being dull, net unchanged to 5 points lower. Sales were reported of 9,500 bags, including March at 6.95c, May at 6.90c, July at 6.30c, and December at 5.80c.

Dry Goods.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Buying of dry goods was particularly active in lines of merchandise appropriate for the Easter season. Nearly every buyer on the market and a good part of the mail and road orders received made inquiries for silk petticoats, long and short silk gloves, wide velvet ribbons, satins, taffetas, and silks in messalines, foulards, and rough effects. Assortments of these goods were voluminous and varied and dealers had an opportunity to make excellent selections. Demand for dress goods was less active, but stocks on hand were down to small proportions and values held at a firm level. Staple prints, and fine cotton goods met with a steady demand at unchanged prices.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The dry goods market opened rather quiet. Cotton yarns are in light demand. Raw silk is easy and a little more buying is reported at the low figures. Dress goods are generally quiet, as the initial business of the cutters and jobbers has been completed for fall. The retailers are now beginning to buy fall dress goods.

Cotton.

NEW YORK, March 22.—COTTON—Spot closed quiet, 5 points lower; middling uplands, 9.60c; middling gulf, 9.85c; sales, 1,100 bales. The market opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 2 points, owing to a full response by Liverpool to the local decline of Saturday. During the first few minutes prices rallied to a net advance of about 2 to 4 points on evening up by local shorts, who were influenced by uncertainty as to the significance of the census report, stocks in the United States, and indicated consumption for the first six months of the season, but when it was found that this was bringing no fresh demand of any consequence, the market weakened again under renewed liquidation and bear pressure. In the afternoon July and later months sold into new low records for the movement, prices showing a net loss of 4@7 points at one time. Futures opened steady and closed firm. Quotations:

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 22.—COTTON—Spot easy, unchanged; middling, 9¼c; sales on the spot, 225 bales; to arrive, 400. Futures opened steady at an advance of 1 point on one or two positions, but unchanged on the rest. The market did a see-saw over a fairly wide range all day, advancing first on better feeling abroad and the belief in a large consumption as indicated by today's report on cotton stocks by the census bureau and then declining on what was considered to be more favorable weather news than has been received for a long time past. At the highest prices were at a net advance of 6@7 points and at the lowest, were at a net decline of 6@7 points. The closing was steady at a net decline of 2@4 points.

TALKS OF KINGS AND CROWNS.

In Lenten Address Rector Shayler Compares Hereditary Rulers with Those Who Deserve Regal Honors.

The Rev. E. V. Shayler of Grace church, Oak Park, who conducted Lenten services in Chicago opera house yesterday noon, compared the reigning monarchs of the world with those who deserve—because they have qualified by hard work—to wear the kingly crown.

"In the days of old a man was made king because he qualified for the position by winning victories over his opponents and proved his fitness to rule," he said. "Today the king inherits the throne and does not do anything, in most cases, to win the confidence of his people.

"Jesus could have taken the form of a king, but he preferred to be a servant and prove his qualifications for the kingship. So the servant of God must make himself a king by overcoming all the obstacles that are placed in his way. The Christian worker should strive unceasingly to purify the commercial, political, and social spirit of this great city."

ACCUSES FATHER OF CRUELTY.

Girl Tells Judge She and Three Other Children Were Driven Out of Their Home.

Katie August, the 15 year old daughter of Abraham August, stood before Judge Pinckney in the Juvenile court yesterday afternoon and accused her father and stepmother of having turned her and three other children out of their home last Wednesday night.

The Augusts lived at 5612 Center avenue. Last Wednesday night the four children returned home from school after having eaten nothing all day. Katie says that when she appealed to her father for food he became angry and chased all of the four children into the back yard and threw their clothing after them.

August agreed to pay $6 a week for the support of the children at the Jewish Home for the Friendless.

Swift & Company's sales of fresh beef in Chicago for the week ending Saturday, March 20, averaged 8.27 cents per pound.

ST. JOSEPH BUILDING IS SOLD

F. W. Matthiessen Gets Dearborn Street Realty for $175,000.

HOME BREWERY BUYS SITE.

Secures Property at Elston Avenue and Humboldt Boulevard.

A nonresident, F. W. Matthiessen of La Salle, Ill., appears as the purchaser in a $175,000 cash deal closed yesterday. He bought from Jacob Franks of this city what is known as the St. Joseph building at 331-335 Dearborn street, between Van Buren and Harrison streets.

The lot fronts fifty feet with a depth of sixty-six feet, running through to Plymouth place, and the building is a six story and basement mill construction structure, which was erected a few years ago with foundations to carry six more stories if necessary. It was valued by the board of review at $20,000 and the land at $120,855. In the present transaction, which was negotiated by Perry Ulrich, the land is said to have been given a value of nearly $3,000 a front foot.

The first floor and basement are occupied as a bakery by Kohlsaat & Co., and the five upper floors by the Columbian Printing and Engraving company. The leases expire May 1, 1913, and have a net annual rental of $8,000.

The property was purchased by Mr. Franks about ten years ago from Patrick Gillespie, and three floors were added to the building a few years ago to furnish additional space to the Columbian company.

Home Brewery Buys Site.

The Home brewery, a new corporation, has purchased from August J. and William Thaler, comprising the firm of Thaler Bros., coopers, the property at the southwest corner of Elston avenue and Humboldt boulevard, 300x125 feet and 50x125 feet in Evergreen street, 275 feet southeast of Humboldt boulevard, a nominal consideration being given. The purchasing company is said to plan the construction of a new brewery plant.

Edward A. Cudahy has conveyed to Annie L. Reddy, 115x78 feet in Cottage Grove avenue, 80 feet south of Seventy-first street, and 100x101 feet in Seventy-first street, ninety-four feet west of Cottage Grove avenue, for a nominal consideration, subject to an incumbrance of $10,000.

Record has been made of the conveyance by Lauris B. Balwin to Charles A. Chapin of the leasehood estate at 337 Michigan avenue, 80x171 feet, for a nominal consideration.

Winnetka Property Is Sold.

Mrs. Henrietta N. C. Smith of Dubuque, Ia., has sold to Benjamin Allen the property in Winnetka, fronting 165 feet on Sheridan road, between Oak and Cherry streets, running back to Lake Michigan, for $22,500.

Caroline Scholer has purchased from Herman Wollenberger the property at 375-379 East Division street, between Moore and Franklin streets, 66x201½ feet, south front, for $14,000.

Frederick W. Alke has quitclaimed to Lorenzo E. Dow a tract of about two and a half acres at the northwest corner of Roscoe street and the Milwaukee and St. Paul road's right of way; also 100x124 feet in Lawndale avenue, 180 feet south of North avenue, west front, both for a nominal consideration.

CREDITORS ASK RECEIVER FOR REAL ESTATE DEALER.

Two Sets of Petitioners Recommend That Rufus B. Pace Be Declared a Bankrupt.

A petition to have Rufus B. Pace, a real estate dealer and foundry owner of Sycamore, Ill., declared a bankrupt and a receiver appointed was filed before Judge Landis in the United States District court yesterday.

The petitioners are R. M. Rusco, with a claim of $545 for money loaned, and C. F. Graham, with a claim of $284 for services, and I. P. Clark of Dixon, Ill., with a claim of $218 for services performed. Judge Landis entered an order restraining Pace from disposing of any of his property and restraining a Sycamore bank from carrying out a contract for the sale of property.

Pace's fortune was at one time estimated at $175,000. Hearing on the petition was adjourned until service on Pace is had.

The creditors had scarcely filed their petition when another set of creditors appeared, through a law firm, and sought to have Pace forced into bankruptcy. The prior petition, however, barred them from action, and their petition was not filed. It is said they may join in the original petition.

WILL WIDEN CHICAGO RIVER.

Drainage Board to Make a 200 Foot Channel Between Adams and Van Buren Streets.

Widening and improvement of the Chicago river between Adams and Van Buren streets and the construction of new bascule bridges at Adams street, Jackson boulevard, and Van Buren street, at a cost of $2,000,000, were recommended yesterday by the engineering committee of the drainage board.

In order to make the channel 200 feet wide between these points the by-passes on the west bank of the stream, built at a cost of more than $500,000, will be torn out. It will take six years to complete the proposed improvement.

The offices of the drainage board may be removed to the ninth floor of the county building when the lease for the present quarters in the American Trust building expires in May, 1911.

FOR SALE—
COLORADO FRUIT LANDS.
NUTSHELL ARGUMENTS.
I doubt not there are many conservative men who would look with favor on an orchard proposition if they knew their interests would be faithfully looked after. My information and references will satisfy them completely as to expert supervision and administrative ability. Get an orchard started and see it increase in value $200 an acre each year while growing, or get hold of some raw lands and turn a larger profit. Land values out here are based on productive returns. Don't forget that. Be careful to select your location in a proven fruit district. A good neighbor of mine wants to borrow $1,000 at 8% on property worth five times that sum. I would like to place him in contact with a person willing to loan that amount on good security. C. M. PAINE, De Beque, Colo.

BANKERS TO THE PEOPLE—
YOU CAN borrow money of us in small sums as well as large. Men and Women employed—Business Men, too—we will give you the fairest rate in Chicago. LADIES of reputable family may easily borrow on their own name and promise. We will give any new patron the same consideration we have given a host of honorable borrowers of quick and emergency money in our eleven years of the people's banking business, which has culminated in our now occupying new quarters, not only the most commodious but considerately convenient for those desiring to transact a personal business. Close to State-st. stores—heart of business district. We have no "insurance" or "mercantile connection" or other device or deceit. But straightforward and courteously we offer our services and just terms to any honorable person, with or without security. Tel. Central 7054, or call, private offices [also ladies' room], in connection, with banking room, at Seventh Floor, 122 Monroe-st., cor. Clark. WEST & COMPANY.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands, or incomes from other sources], who want large or small sums, confidentially, with or without security. My location and my being connected with a large mercantile house [Dun's and Bradstreet's show its standing] assures a privacy that is not possible to those who deal with brokers doing business in downtown office buildings, where money lenders congregate. The methods of some dealers never change, and high rates for money are demanded by the professional lender. Those paying high rates, I urge to consult with me. My average rate, all charges included, is never more than 1, 2, or 3 per cent monthly, depending on risk and amount loaned. No insurance or other device to swell interest charges. Ladies' waiting rooms. Ask for WILLCOX, care Englewood Company, 538-540 East 63d-st., cor. Greenwood-av. Tel. Hyde Park 4383.

LOANS ON PERSONAL INCOMES.
LANDLORDS and others who have rents coming in, WOMEN, married or single, of good families with regular allowances, and HIGH CLASS SALARIED PEOPLE can get MONEY QUICKLY in LARGE or SMALL AMOUNTS from us ON THEIR OWN NAMES, without any one outside our office knowing of deal. LOWEST TERMS; private waiting and "talk" rooms; no embarrassing inquiries; no insurance or other schemes to swell cost to borrower. We do a STRAIGHT, LEGITIMATE LOAN BUSINESS, on terms and in a manner that makes it an object for the better class of borrowers to deal with us.

NEW PIANOS TO RENT FROM $4 UPWARD.
LYON & HEALY,
WABASH-AV. AND ADAMS-ST.

GOOD PIANO LOGIC.
You cannot get a steam heated flat for $10 per month; neither can you get a GOOD PIANO for $95. We sell GOOD PIANOS at GOOD PIANO prices, $250 and up, and when you buy one you get our guaranty with it, which stands for TONE, QUALITY and ACTION, the 3 essential points that make a piano last a lifetime.
It's far better to buy a slightly used piano of STANDARD make than to buy a cheap "so-called" new piano.

Here are a few used pianos that we have taken in exchange for new CABLE NELSONS which are real bargains:

1 used $300 Stratford	$170
1 used W. W. Kimball	80
1 used D. H. Baldwin	118
1 slightly used Lakeside, wal. case	185

Sold on easy payments.
Before selecting elsewhere come and investigate these pianos. We are sure you will be convinced of the superior value of pianos we are offering.

MARSHALL FIELD AND COMPANY

Announcing the Readiness of Our Summer Furniture Displays.

A charming reproduction of Italian gardens gives an ideal setting to this exhibit extending along the entire window frontage of the south room on the eighth floor.

The foliage treatment, softened by the filtered light through the shaded canvas, gives a realistic effect to the pictured distances, producing a pleasing appearance of the woods in early Spring before the flowers burst forth and before the heat of the Summer sun has taken from the leaves the fresh green tints and bronzed the landscape.

As one enters the section the view of the exterior to the far south leads the eye beyond a gleaming fountain, down a winding shaded road and loses the vision in the fleecy radiance of the early morning light.

Along the inner court an equally fascinating interior treatment presents a bolder scene. Stately columns capped by tropical plants convey to the sense a studied effort to combine nature and architecture in the formation of agreeable surroundings in which to live.

Between these two pleasing vistas is grouped the most artistic, most varied collection of Summer Furniture we have ever shown.

All of the popular lines of past years are attractively arranged and include Fibre Furniture Reed furniture, Arts and Crafts Furniture, Maple Frame Furniture and the beautiful Willow Hand Wrought Furniture in many artistic shapes and finishes, a number of them having cushions covered with appropriate cretonnes. The line of rugged old Hickory Furniture is deserving of particular mention. It is better made, there are more pieces offered, and its popularity should be greater than ever. Also a very complete line of inexpensive Lawn Furniture.

In addition to these staple lines there have been secured for exclusive showing here notably distinctive pieces in the following makes: Indian Splint Furniture, Lish Furniture and French Enameled Cane Furniture.

Indian Splint is more than a name. It signifies the old Indian method of pounding the wood to toughen it and tearing the long tough splints of oak, ash and hickory from the tree with the grain—these are pliant as leather and have almost the strength and endurance of iron.

Lish Furniture is the most refined and dainty of all the goods made in rush. It weaves as closely as a cloth, and is shaped into very attractive designs. Its approval is assured. In finish the weave is a natural tan in tone, which contrasts harmoniously with the reed frames, which may be had in all desirable finishes.

French Enameled Cane Furniture is most artistic in design and is equally appropriate for boudoir or parlor. It should particularly appeal, on account of its cheerfulness of coloring, for the furnishing of morning rooms, sun parlors and reception rooms. The colors are the various shades of green, red, blue and white.

The location of the Summer Furniture Section is on the Eighth Floor, South Room, State Street Building. It is a restful and delightful spot in which to spend a leisure hour.

Spring Street Frocks

Most women appreciate the exclusiveness of a Matthews Frock. For that very reason we jealously guard against making a fabric that has any possibility of being found in any other salesroom.

Exclusive in Weave and Style

When we import a fabric it is distinctly understood that that material will be confined to us. Therefore, with the material guaranteed, and making, as we do, those frocks for our clientele, you are assured from the dual standpoint of pattern and style something on which there is no possibility of seeing cheaper replicas.

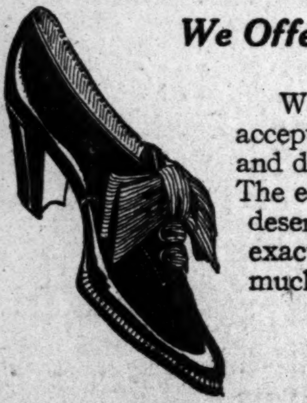
New Spring Models in

WOMEN'S LOW SHOES

All the newest ideas in women's approved footwear for spring are represented in our "Opening display." Particularly featured are the new bronze calf, bronze kid, black suede, buckskin and all the staple patent, tan and kid leathers. New eclipse ties, pumps and two and three eyelet sailor ties which are made over the newest lasts with Cuban heels.



We Offer an Interesting Special in Women's Spring Footwear

We illustrate two spring models of accepted merit—low shoes made in patent and dull calf leathers, with Cuban heels. The eclipse tie and two-eyelet Christy are deserving of unusual popularity among exacting dressers. These values are very much out of the ordinary—pair,
